who bac hot roles in who had not rose in Market the Mob." Tequila some "Dangerous Listions" for whose debut album "Tag". the first ever to top all back pop. 2duit and black dat & phen Hawking 46 a physical en three years to he safe, nosed with Lou Gehry, the years ago, who hit he ke, charts with "A Bird Hee. Time," and Mike Tran h. Robin Givens, 24 when he weight manual difficulty is nated the standard dent of Tyson defended in boune and Givens started in the "Head of the Class"

Andrew Lloyd Weller 2 of "Cate" "Phantom of the feand Emilian with the even toppigh it desait & four manias. "Aspens of y has sold 20001 I millioning tickets in London and thisthan the production come: more than "Phantom" all: comparable period Fines all seats are sold for the late months often the short before opening worker answer. Michael Sell 26 vho For London production di "Phantom and "Les Mee has been project for the me

THE EXECUTIVE H STRONS 57 FONT STREE # ENGLISH EDNEON SWIZE שנה לא שנה לא היים ל היים לא היים ל "我们的护助 inigence of m med LABLE nunc vollen med. Normal med fabet

SIPE seed appears in the seed of the seed e gradu rezil ilder فيته فيهوبن وبروائخ 5 - 5 S - K ACC COMM LOW COST FUE Byers or from Fee ACCESS VOTIE

का डर्डा रोजा का डर्डा सर्वेदाह 1CES estri verticos (1) verticos (1) verticos (2) verticos (2) F231 521.707 andre am .T FREE War to the Series 20 TO 18 VICES Second row by phone and Harris Son American Son America

And the second s

4.000 M 100

PAGE I

FOR HOE

AUS RALLA

NEW FEALERS

____ 1 26 HOURS LIGHTS CLASSIFE SA 37 * . 190 - 0 € 190 - 0 € uickly and Easily in #

ERALD TRIBUNE 5 miles 4.00 miles () 20 % () 20068. () The Environment Market Care attent

Server in the se MIRICA 45-E' 54 T-E' 2 8733 8785 8 1 (6) (6) 10 (6) 10 (6) 10 (6) 9.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000

Burney And State of the Control of t - Zx: 4 THE المرابع المرابع

The Global Newspaper

No. 32,917

Published With The New York Times and The Washington Post

PARIS, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1988

ESTABLISHED 1887

A crater where houses used to stand marks the jet's path as it fell in fragments on Lockerbie, Scotland, killing people in cars and homes.

U.S. Weighs Strike on Libyan Complex

By Lou Cannon and David Ottaway Washington Post Service

WASHINGTON --- The Reagan cerned" about a huge chemical weapons factory in Libya and has not ruled out using military force against it, President Ronald Reagan's spokesman said Thursday.

However, a senior administration official familiar with the issue said that military action was one of several options that had been discussed within the government and with U.S. allies, but that such action was "not under active consid-

"The president was quite clear that military action is an option," the president's spokesman, Marim Fitzwater said. "We're not ruling it out." He made his comments in answer to reporters' questions

Kiosk

Court Assails

McCarren Act

LOS ANGELES (NYT) -

A judge ruled Thursday that key sections of the McCarren-

Walter Act, which allows de-portation of foreigners for advocating world communism,

The decision by Judge Stephen Wilson of U.S. District Court came in the case of eight

Palestinian immigrants ordered deported for allegedly supporting Palestinian terrorist organizations. The ruling was hailed by civil rights

The judge also struck down a new law that permitted the denial of U.S. visitor visas to members of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

are unconstitutional.

enormous quantities of chemical installation was under consider-ation, the spokesman said, "I'm not saying it's our intention." He add-ded, "We will not rule out options." Mr. Reagan said in the television interview that the United States was "discussing" with its allies the possibility of taking military action to destroy the Libyan plant, but that no decision had been reached. The comments were broadcast Wednesday in excerpts from an ABC interview with the president that was scheduled to be aired Thursday night.

Officials said the discussions about comments Mr. Reagan had with the allies were held in the been talked about, according to made in a television interview. context of preparing for a Jan. 7-11 these sources, is to use cruise mis-The United States "is extremely conference of more than 100 na-siles fired from planes or ships off concerned about production facilitions in Paris that will consider the coast of Libya rather than risk ties in Libya," Mr. Fitzwater said, ways of enforcing the 1925 Geneva the loss of aircraft or the possible which we believe can produce convention outlawing poison gas and other chemical weapons. "The thrust of our consultations Asked if a U.S. strike against the is to establish what we know about this plant and to raise the issue as a menace to world peace and to make this a major item of consideration at the Jan. 7 conference," a senior official said. "It's also true that we are not ruling out a military option, but the thrust is the international conference."

Congressional and U.S. intellitence sources have said that the United States has taken aerial photos of the chemical weapons facility. These sources said the complex is now heavily defended by Sovietmade surface-to-air missiles. One military option that has capture of pilots by the Libyans.

ber Arab League on Thursday warned the United States not to launch a military attack on Libya, Agence France-Presse reported committed an act of aggression against an Arab state, a full member of the United Nations and sevthe Arab League."

The statement said that "the United States itself possesses the largest stock of chemical arms in details of the six felony counts that bond department.

See GAS, Page 6

But with this climactic moment in the scandal, which first surfaced two and a half years ago with Mr.

which has fended off close government scrutiny for decades by con- good by notifying people." Also not known is how close the tending that it could police itself,

See WARNING, Page 5

Anti-Terror Unit Investigates Bomb Link in Pan Am Crash

By Craig R. Whitney

New York Times Service LONDON - The Pan American World Airways plane that crashed in Scotland blew apart 31,000 feet in the air, scattering wreckage in a wide are up to 80 miles from the area of the main impact, the authorities said Thurs-

An official with the British Airline Pilots Association said he believed that a terrorist bomb was responsible for the crash.

A pro-Iranian group called news gencies in London on Thursday to claim that it caused the crash in revenge for the U.S. military's shooting down of an Iranian airliner in the Gulf in July. The chief of Scotland Yard's anti-terrorist squad was assigned to head the London end of the task force investigating the cause of Britain's worst air disaster, which killed all 259 people aboard the plane and at least 22 on the ground. Experts at the scene found the flight data recorder and the cockpit voice recorder of the plane on Thursday. But the British transport the aircraft disintegrate.

Authorities would not give credence to the pro-Iranian group's officials claim, but on Dec. 13, the Federal Mr. C Aviation Administration notified American embassies in Europe that an unidentified caller had warned on Dec. 5 that "there would be a bombing attempt against a Pan American aircraft flying from Frankfurt to the United States."

The plane, a 747, was on the London-to-New York leg of Pan American's Flight 103, which originated in Frankfurt with a smaller 727 jet. Baggage and passengers from the 727 were transferred to the larger plane at Heathrow Airport in London late Wednesday

The U.S. ambassador to Britain, Charles H. Price 2d. said Thursday at the crash site that the fact that the plane had split into several sections "would indicate a mid-air explosion." "Whether that turns out to be the determine," he said.

is a matter for the authorities to nad not led the pilot to select a northerly route that took it over Scotland according to air traffic control center had no indication of any Scotland, according to air traffic

Mr. Channon, speaking Thursday afternoon in Parliament, said: "Shortly after seven o'clock, when the aircraft was 20 miles northwest of Carlisle and two minutes after the last radio contact, the controller at Prestwick observed the disappearance from his screen of the secondary surveillance radar response, which identifies the aircraft. The primary radar return from the aircraft then split into several returns around the last known position."

The chief UN officer for Namibia. Bernt Carlsson, was killed en route to a UN ceremony. Page 5.

This meant that something had cut off the power supply to one of the 747's transponders, which send flight identification data to the fact after appropriate investigation ground when air controllers request it, and that at the same instant, radar screens tracking the plane's The plane would have gone course showed that the aircraft other aircraft in the vicinity at the

He said that the main wreckage from the aircraft had come down in a swath 10 miles (16 kilometers) long. Parts of the aircraft destroyed houses and a gas station in the Scottish border village of Locker-bie and cars on the A74 highway to Glasgow that goes through it. Bernt Carlsson, a United Nations official from Sweden, was among the victims aboard the [Ronald I. Spiers, a U.S. undersecretary of state, said in a television interview with Cable News Network that four U.S. embassy personnel were known to have been aboard Flight 103, Reuters reported from Washington. [The Justice Department said one of its officials was also among the passengers. Mr. Spiers said that had intended to be on the flight but had been delayed in Nicosia. John Boyd, the chief constable of the Dumfries and Galloway police. See CRASH, Page 5

U.S. Alerted Diplomats to Threat

By Don Oberdorfer

Washington Past Service
WASHINGTON — The State Department said Thursday that a very specific tip about the possible bombing of a Pan American jetliner en route from Frankfurt to the United States was received by the U.S. Embassy in Helsinki on Dec.

A State Department spokeswoman, Phyllis E. Oakley, said that the anonymous caller in Helsinki identified the likely suspects as being connected with the breakaway Palestinian terrorist group led by Abu Nidal

An official said that the Finnish authorities had dismissed the tip as the work of a crank,

But Mrs. Oakley said the U.S. government had taken the tip seriously enough to alert the Federal Aviation Administration and U.S. embassies and regional security officers in Europe and other areas.

She said that the warning was posted on the bulletin board in the U.S. embassy in Moscow, but did not know if it had been posted elsewhere. She said that it was up to [The secretariat of the 21-mem- each embassy to decide how the warning would be handled. [The Pan Am Flight 103 on Thursday was delayed an hour and a half by a bornb alert. Reuters from Tunis. The secretariat said reported from London. A Heath-Washington should resist "the row Airport spokesman said said temptation to repeat the error it the 747 was partly evacuated be-committed in April 1986, when it cause of an unattended suitcase near the Pan Am check-in counter, but that the bag was later claimed.]

Asked about U.S. government eral regional organizations, notably responsibility to notify the public of tips, Mrs. Oakley said, "Our focus has been on alerting those peo-ple who can do something about the threat." She explained that this meant air carriers and airport security officers, as well as embassies.

President-elect George Bush, asked about the State Department statement to U.S. embassies, cited his experience as a director of the Central Intelligence Agency and said that most threats "never mate-rialize," The Associated Press reported from Washington.

["It can be a crackpot phone call. can be a real warning: what you've got to do is evaluate that intelligence," Mr. Bush said. "I think you have to look at it on a case-by-case basis."

But if there was hard evidence that a specific flight was going to be threatened or that the threat could not be contained, he said, "clearly you would want to serve the public [A Pan Am spokeswoman in

Catherine Crossland, a Syracuse University cheerleader, weeping at a pre-game observance in Syracuse, New York, for 38 university students returning on the jet from a European study program.

Chaos Descends on a Village

A Quiet Evening Turned Into a Hellish Nightmare

By Edward Cody

LOCKERBIE, Scotland - Ronald Miller and his wife, Jane, were watching television Wednesday night when an explosion roared with such rage that the concussion sent him plunging head first into the screen.

Mr. Miller, 64, a retired plasterer, had been propelled from the beginnings of a tranquil Scottish evening directly into a nightmare.

A Boeing 747 jumbo jet en route from London to New York had disintegrated over Lockerbic, spewing fiery pieces of metal and chunks of aircraft onto the village and dumping bodies across the adjoining countryside.

A large piece of wing hurtled to ground next to the Millers' modest row house, in which they had intended to live out retirement peacefully. The wing, carrying a nearly full load of fuel, exploded on impact, setting fire to the Miller home and about eight others along the A-74 highway running by Lockerbie.

"All our possessions, gone," said Mr. Miller, the skin ripped from his balding head where it had crashed into the television screen.

A half-dozen vehicles traveling the highway nearby were transformed into skeletons, charred in their tracks by fire from the sky. Metal shards littered the neighborhood, and gnarled remains of the exploded wing lodged at a grotesque angle in a dirt bank. Nearby, a crater 30 feet (9 meters) deep marked the site of the explosion.

About 300 feet west of Mr. Miller's street, after the blast, a Lockerbie man ran outside to find that the body of a small boy had landed on his roof, neighbors said. The experience so shocked him that he was hospitalized under sedation, they add-

Ruth Studholme, 41, a supermarket clerk, said her 10-year-old son Steven was terrorized by the blast and refused to leave their home during the night and through Thursday. "He went all white, and he's still white today," she said.

Parts of the crumbled aircraft had just smashed into Teller Hill, directly above the Studholme

Below, a mangled jet engine, still smoking, had dug about 6 feet into the soft ground of a farm-yard. Its cowling lay about 90 feet farther on, splayed like a drying orange peel.

The wing debris and a section comprising the nose cone and part of the first-class cabin were the only substantial chunks of the plane to fall intact, officials in Lockerbie said. The nose cone, lying forlornly on its left side in the mud, fell about 4 miles east of the wing. Remaining parts fell in small fireballs and strips of metal.

Remembering that her sister-in-law had just left to walk the family dog, Mrs. Studholme struck out See VILLAGE, Page 5

The Louvre's Murillo: A Murky Scandal the Kandice Bar in the port area of the

By Barry James nal Rerald Tribune

PARIS - From a gilded frame on the wall of the Louvre, the portrait of Inigo Melchor Fernandez de Velasco looks down with a slight pout. The venerable Andahusian gentleman is at the center of a spreading criminal investigation in which both the Louvre's curator of paintings and one of France's leading trial lawyers have been charged with receiving stolen property.

Don Inigo is the subject of "El Hombre Sevillano," which was painted by Bartolomé Estebao Murillo in the 17th century and sold to the Louvre in 1985 by a former nightclub owner who allegedly had stolen it. Pierre Resemberg, the curator who acquired the painting for the museum, is accused of receiving property knowing or in a position to know it had been stolen. Mr. Rosenberg is an internationally known art historian and one of the 13 senior "inspectors" who oversee French museums.

The lawyer is Paul Lombard, the darling of Marseille society, a nationally known author and a candidate for membership among the immortals of the Académie Française. He arranged the sale, and his indictment this week accuses him not only of receiving stolen property but of committing fraud. He was released on bail of 1 million francs ($165,000) on his own recognizance and forbidden to see other accused persons or wit-nard, the Murillo portrait is part of a priceless art collection that belonged to Suzanne de la a year after the Louvre acquired the painting. In June, Mr. Bernard jailed Joëlle Pesnel, the heiress's companion during the last two years of her life, on charges of sequestering and criminally neglecting Mrs. Canson and of seizing her inheritance. Mrs. Pesnel has retained Jacques Vergès, the defender of Klaus Barbie, the Nazi war criminal, as her yer, Robert Boissonnet, who is said to have introduced Mrs. Pesnel to the heiress. Mr. Bernard alleges the lawyer conspired in the sequestration of the old woman, who willed everything to Mrs. Pesnel a few months before she died Mediterranean city of Toulon, offered the painting for sale through Christie's of London at the beginning of 1985. The asking price was 10 million francs.

Christie's was concerned about the lack of documents authenticating its background. Christie's also was worried that the painting had been illegally exported and that the French government in this case would assert its right to buy.

Mr. Bernard says Mrs. Pesnel turned to Mr. Lombard, who negotiated the sale to the Louvre at a knocked-down price of 5 million francs, for which he charged a fee of 400,000 francs and expenses of 100,000 francs. Once the sale was finally agreed to in October 1985, Mrs. Pesnel managed to obtain a letter of confirmation from Jack Lang, the minister of culture, which she then used to raise bank

It was not until the following month, how-ever, according to Mr. Bernard, that she was able to produce proof of ownership. She produced three wills freshly notarized in Switzerland, which indicated she had inherited the painting from her grandmother in

Military Puts Its Stamp On Armenian Capital

By Bill Keller New York Times Service

YEREVAN, U.S.S.R. - At Yerevan University and at the Polytechnical Institute, where passions have run high during this year of Armenian self-assertion, soldiers with automatic rifles take attendance each morning.

Army tanks and armored personnel carriers straddle entrances to city squares that earlier this year teemed with tens of thousands of demonstrators. After midnight, soldiers stop any car not bearing a pass from the Ministry of Defense. In the last week and a half, the authorities have methodically arrested many nationalist leaders, inchiding a member of the Armenian legislature, and others have gone into hiding, emerging occasionally to give defiant interviews to Westem reporters.

The authorities do not call it menia has all the outward markings of a city under military rule.

The Soviet press briefly reported the imposition of military discipline after ethnic unrest broke out in the city last month. But the opening of Armenia to crowds of outsiders, both Soviet and foreign, in the relief effort mounted since the devastating earthquake on Dec. 7 has brought home the sense of occupation in a way that sketchy official reports have not. For many of the visiting relief workers, journalists, doctors and diplomats, the state of siege is a visible admission of defeat for President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, who has professed the goal of liberalizing Soviet society.

"This is glasnost and democracy?" a Moscow psychologist murmured the other day, as the taxi carrying him to a children's hospi-tal pulled alongside a towering

See YEREVAN, Page 6

General News Ednard Shevardnadze held out the possibility of a unilateral Soviet withdrawal from Cam Ranh Bay, Vietnam. Page 2. Eight leading U.S. arms makers face criminal prosecution for illegal possession of government documents. Page 3.

Business/Finance France's CGE and Britain's General Electric will set up a $7 billion power engineering group. Page 11. The EC's executive agreed to community-wide corporate takeover rules. Page 13.

Dow Close The Dollar Down Pound 1.7985 4.28 Pound 1.7985 Yen 124.65 FF 6.054

Drexel: A Blow to Wall Street

By James Sterngold

New York Times Service NEW YORK - On May 22, 1985, a 96-word, poorly typed letter from Caracas, Venezuela, arrived at the headquarters of Merrill Lynch & Co. in New York, charging that some brokers were trading with inside information.

That anonymous message may have done more to alter the U.S. financial system than any legislation or stock market crash. In the hands of a zealous prosecutor, that slip of paper uncovered a Wall Street scandal that rocked the financial industry, beginning a trail that led first to free-lance in-vine, then to more systematic criminals, such as Ivan F. Boesky and Martin A. Siegel.

The latest to fall is the powerful firm of Drexei Burnham Lambert Inc., a global behemoth 28.3 percent-owned by Groupe Bruxelles Lambert. The firm's television ads close with the line: "Innovative thinking is not just good for busi-ness, but for everyone."

side traders such as Dennis B. Le-

The investigation led to the uncovering of pervasive patterns of abusive and manipulative techniques that allowed securities firms and some individuals to profit from corporate takeovers and stock trad-

More important, it alerted the insular, clublike financial world to the fact that it was subject to the same rules as everyone else, and not just its own unwritten code. That message was driven home Wednesday with the indictment of

Paul A. Bilzerian, a stock speculator and chairman of Singer Co.,

and the opening of the stock fraud trial against James T. Sherwin, the vice chairman of GAF Corp. The scandal has thus tainted not just individuals, but a way of doing

Little is known yet about the head of Drexel's high-yield junk

Drexel has agreed in principle to The prosecutor on the Drexel case is a crasader against Wall Street wrongdoing. Page 11. plead guilty to except that they include admissions of mail fraud, wire fraud and securities fraud.

government may be to indicting Michael R. Milken, the powerful Levine's dramatic, late-night arrest - a direct result of the letter from Caracas — a number of troubling questions will have to be answered. • Is the securities industry,

See DREXEL, Page 13

According to the evidence amassed by the investigating magistrate, Jean-Pierre Ber-Lombardière de Canson, an eccentric heiress who died at age 76 in September 1986, almost

Mr. Bernard also jailed Mrs. Canson's law-

Mrs. Pesnel, 48, the former proprietor of martial law, but the capital of Ar-

See LOUVRE, Page 6

Soviets May Unilaterally Quit Asia Base, Shevardnadze Says

By Seth Mydans

New York Times Service MANILA - Eduard A. Shevardnadze has held out the possibility of a unilateral withdrawal at some time in the future from the Soviet military base at Cam Ranh Bay in Vietnam, the Philippine for-cign minister, Raul Manglapus, said Thursday.

At the end of Mr. Shevardnadze's 24-hour visit here, Mr. Manglapus said that the Soviet foreign minister had said that Moscow hoped to strengthen relations with the Philippines without harming Manila's longstanding ties with the United States.

Mr. Shevardnadze, the highestranking Soviet official to visit Manile since the two countries established diplomatic relations in 1976, bases in the Philippines, Subic Bay announced the formation of a committee to boost bilateral trade and indicated that Moscow would not aid the Communist insurgency in

His visit, part of an Asia tour, appeared to extend the Soviet Union's attempts to improve ties with nations in the region. Moscow has worked to promote a Cambodian settlement and has made overtures to China and Japan, among other nations in the region.

In September, the Soviet leader, Mikhail S. Gorbachev, offered to halt Soviet use of ship repair and refuelling facilities in Vietnam if the United States pulled out of its Philippine bases.

down of the number of troops and tanks to be withdrawn from Warsaw Pact countries, but said that those that remained would be reorganized into purely defensive units.

been stationed in Czechoslovakia viet military leaders had opposed the reductions. "It is natural to suppose that there were some doubts

Soviet officials have denied that the resignation this month of the Sergei F. Akhromeyev, was connected with the issue. Health was given as the reason. Marshal Akh-romeyev was replaced by Colonel

General Mikhail A. Moiseyev.

palance of forces," he said.

Spring" movement.

Some 80,000 Soviet troops have

Kremlin Denies Cuts Will Spare New Arms

two-year period. General Lebedev gave no break-MOSCOW - The Soviet Union intends to scrap some of its most up-to-date tanks and other advanced equipment in reducing its forces in Eastern Europe, a Soviet general said Thursday.

Major General Yuri Lebedev, deputy chief of the Armed Forces General Staff directorate, said at a news conference, "We have heard allegations that we were trying to in 1968 to crush the "Prague withdraw old tanks and I can say nothing of the kind is the case.

"We will pull out our most upto-date equipment and front-line gary.
General Lebedev denied that So-

Referring to the announcement by President Mikhail S. Gorbachev that 50,000 Soviet troops and six tank divisions would be pulled out of East Germany, Czechoslovakia and Hungary, General Lebedev said that these forces would not be redeployed elsewhere.

"All materials withdrawn from the Warsaw Pact allies will be destroyed at special sites," he said. Last week, the U.S. ambassador to NATO. Alton Keel, said that the impact of the Soviet force cuts would depend on how many frontline tanks were withdrawn.

General Lebedev said that foreign observers would be invited to watch the destruction of military hardware. He said that some equipment, such as cranes and trailers, would be retained for use in the civilian sector.

Under Mr. Gorbachev's proposals, announced to the United Nations General Assembly on Dec. 7, the Soviet armed forces are to be

Send detailed resume

for free evaluation. PACIFIC WESTERN UNIVERSITY

DEGREE

UNIVERSITY

BACHELOR'S . MASTER'S . DOCTORATE

600 N. Sepulveda Bivd., Los Angeles, Colifornia, 90049, Dept. 23, U.S.A.

Naval Station and Clark Air Base, Mr. Manglapus said Thursday, "Mr. Shevardnadze stressed that the Soviet Union was not seeking to negotiate with us on the bases."

"He recognized," Mr. Manglapus said, "that there are important political and economic factors involved in the United States presence here.

"He thought that at some stage in the future, without waiting for any mutuality of withdrawal, the Soviet Union, in conjunction with their Vietnamese friends, may unilaterally withdraw from Cam Ranh

Subic Bay and Clark Air Base are the largest American overseas military facilities and are key to the U.S. military posture in the Pacific and Indian Oceans. Washington, in a response to Mr. Gorbachev's proposal for a mutual withdrawals, had said that the Cam Ranh port was not equivalent to the two Philippines bases.

The lease on the U.S. bases expires in 1991, and negotiations on its possible extension are expected to begin next year.

The Philippine government has refused to commit itself on whether it will allow the bases to remain. Despite some vocal opposition to the bases, recent public-opinion surveys have shown broad public sentiment for their retention since Warsaw Pact forces invaded At a luncheon attended by President Corazon C. Aquino, Mr. Shevardnadze said, "We have absolutely no intention of driving a wedge between the Philippines and its to distinct of the property East Germany has 380,000 Soviet troops on its territory, including Il tank divisions, and an estimated its traditional allies." 65,000 troops are stationed in Hun-

Philippine officials said Moscow was seeking to boost trade and joint ventures with the Philippines and to gain fishing rights and land-ing rights for the Soviet airline among individual personnel, not all "We view Mr. Shevardnadze's of whom were aware of the true visit to this part of the world as a strangulation borders of 1967." signal that Soviet Russia will now assume her place among us as an Asian country," Mrs. Aquino said armed forces chief of staff, Marshai at the luncheon.

She said that Mr. Shevardnadze had assured her that Moscow would never interfere in Philippine

Soviet Official Urges Wider Religious Rights

By David Remnick Washington Past Service

MOSCOW - The top Soviet administrator of religious institutions has called for a radical transformation of state policy on religion, including new laws allowing churches, mosques and synagogues to set up their own schools.

Konstantin M. Kharchev, chairman of the government's Council of Religious Affairs, said that the Soviet Constitution should be changed "to give equal rights to atheists and believers to express their views."

In an interview with the weekly magazine Ogonyok, he also said that the present rules on freedom of conscience had "no real backup."

The comments by Mr. Kharchev are the clearest indication yet that President Mikhail S. Gorbachev intends to match his increasingly liberal statements on religious affairs with changes to improve life for the more than 50 million religious believers in the Soviet Union. Mr. Kharchev, whose council has advisory power over all statechurch relations, criticized the government for taking too long in establishing a new, more liberal law on freedom of conscience.

"Consultations have been held with the representatives of practically all religious denominations," he said. "However, the discussion of the proposals, in my opinion, has been going on for too long."

Mr. Kharchev said that the strict anti-religious legislation of 1929 was "typically Stalinist" and had set the stage for decades of repres-

ing such classes have often been arrested and given heavy jail terms. The KGB has long kept close watch on all religious institutions, making

"Religious education is and must onvale allair of the same time, why shouldn't parents be allowed to bring their children to a church, mosque or synagogue if they want to teach them about Christianity, Islam or Judaism, or invite a priest or theologian to their homes?

Mr. Kharchev criticized Communist Party officials for failing to return churches, mosques and synagogues to believers.

The local authorities answer no, it will be a museum or a cafe, a concert hall or an archive," he said.
"The logic is often as follows: better to let the building fall apart than return it to believers. I am convinced we need a completely different approach. Religious structures must not be used for other purposes if there are objections from believers."

In the future, Mr. Kharchev said. religious organizations should not be made to register with the state. He said that the Soviet legislature scheduled to be elected next spring would deal with church-state relations in consultation with legislators who were themselves religious sion under Stalin, Nikita S. Khru-shchev and Leonid I. Brezhnev. Religious centers in the Soviet Union are not allowed to hold organized religious classes. Religious leaders caught teaching or organiz-it extremely difficult for churchmen to hold secret classes. uals," Mr. Kharchev said. "Yet at Jerusalem.

At 28 members, the new cabinet is Israel's largest ever and has been expanded from 25 in order to accommodate political demands. But its lineup is almost identical to that of the previous cabinet except that Mr. Shamir's main political rival, Shimon Peres, leader of the Labor party, is taking over the Finance

Shamir Presents New Unity Cabinet 'Strong Enough' to Resist Pressures

We don't believe in encouraging

David Levy and Ariel Sharon, hoped to gain the foreign affairs and defense portfolios respectively, remained instead in their current terrorist organizations because en-means encouraging terrorism."

By Glenn Frankel Washington Post Service

JERUSALEM — Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir on Thursday presented to the Knesset a new government of national unity that he said would be strong enough to resist international pressure to force Israel to withdraw to "the

"The need of the hour," Mr. Shamir told the parliament, was a broad-based coalition of his own rightist Likud group and the leftof-center Labor Party to combat what he called "the propaganda and political attack of the terror organizations and their friends and supporters."

He vowed that Israel would never retreat from the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip and would never allow a Palestinian state to be created there.

The prime minister pleaded with the 1.7 million Palestinians of the occupied territories to cease their yearlong uprising and enter into negotiations with Israel for political autonomy. "Don't listen to the advice of inciters, who only know how to cause suffering and who cannot heal and solve your problems," Mr. Shamir said.

Rather than offer a new peace initiative, Mr. Shamir invoked the Camp David accords as the only established road to peace. He also vowed to build new Jewish settlements in the occupied territories

After the speech, and a six-hour opening debate, the Knesset approved the new government by 84 to 19 with 3 abstentions. The new cabinet was sworn in and later presented to President Chaim Herzog, 38 days after Mr. Herzog gave Mr. Shamir the mandate to form a new

Mr. Shamir's main political ally, Moshe Arens, is the new foreign minister. Mr. Arens, the former ambassador to the United States, whose foreign policy views move along the same hard line as Mr. Shamir's, also sits in a four-member policy-making group that in-cludes Mr. Shamir, Mr. Peres and Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin.

In his first pronouncement as any Arab solidarity action."

foreign minister, Mr. Arens repeat- ronment and Ehnd Olmert, who ed Israel's condemnation of last will be responsible for Arab affairs. week's American decision to open a The only new Laborite is expected dialogue with the Palestine Liberathe list at the last minute when both tion Organization. He told the Israeli radio the organization was sides realized there was no female "responsible for some of the worst atmoities that we have seen in the Mr. Peres said the government world since World War IL," adding, would urgently seek electoral change to change the unwieldy sys-tem under which 15 parties qualicouraging terrorist organizations fied for Knesset seats. Senior Likud ministers who had

We have learned the hard way that we are victims of an impossible electoral system," Mr. Peres told reporters. "It makes our lives complicated, diminishes our prestige, forces us to maneuver right and posts. Mr. Levy is deputy prime minister and housing minister; Mr. Israel's problems, he said, exist Sharon, minister of trade and in-"not because we are such terrible people, it's because we have such a New Likud faces in the cabinet terrible system." He added, "We include three members of the par- have to make the Israeli democracy ty's younger generation: Dan Meridor at justice, Ronnie Milo at envidisasters have killed tens of thousands of people in the south and forced

Syrian Overture Is Seen Toward Egypt and Iraq

DAMASCUS - President Hafez Assad of Syria has opened the with the Saudi newspaper Asharq door to re-establishing ties with al-Awsat, which was published in two of Syria's bitter foes, Egypt Cairo Wednesday by the state-run spokesman.

President Hosni Mubarak was quoted Wednesday as saving he had invited Mr. Assad to visit Egypt in an attempt to improve relations. Mr. Assad, during a meeting with a delegation from the Federation of Arab Lawyers, said "cooperation between Syria and Egypt on a national basis has always been favored by both countries and would benefit the Arab nation," Jibran Kourich, the spokesman, said.

In a rare gesture of conciliation toward Cairo, Mr. Assad emphasized the importance of Egypt's role in the Arab world and praised the sacrifices of its people in the Arab struggle against Israel. The Syrian news agency quoted the president as saying that the restoration of ties required Syria and Egypt to undertake certain responsibilities. He did not elaborate. Mr. Kourieh said Mr. Assad also told the lawyers — including the chairman of the Egyptian bar association - that although past attempts at Syrian-Iraqi reconciliation did not work, "Syria supports tion to Mr. Assad in an interview turned down the idea. Political observers, speaking on condition of anonymity, said Mr. Assad's statements were a new overture to two longstanding foes. Egypt and Syria have been at Egyptian president, flew to Jerusalem in 1977, an event that culminated in Egypt's peace treaty with Israel in 1979. Arab leaders have been trying to organize a summit meeting of the 20-member Arab League, which has not met in regular session since 1982 because of rifts between member governments. Saudi Arabia, the scheduled venue for a summit meeting, has indicated it wants Egypt to attend. The fend between Syria and Iraq, one of the most bitter in the Arab world, was rekindled after the Aug. 20 cease-fire in the Iran-Iraq war. Mr. Assad allied himself with Iran against Arab Iraq.

Syria and Iraq are ruled by rival wings of the Ba'ath Arab Socialist

WORLD BRIEFS

Algeria Votes in Test of New Policies

ALGIERS (Reuters) - Algerians turned out Thursday to re-elect President Chadli Benjedid in a poil seen as a public verdict on political reforms launched after riots in October. Colonel Benjedid, 59, is guaranteed election to a third term after being chosen as sole candidate of the National Liberation Front, the only official political party. He is hoping to equal the 95.4 per cent backing he received in January 1984 at the start of his second five-year term.

Michigan

Mican

With the lack of competition, interest has focused on the turnout and the size of the "yes" vote in a poll portrayed by the press as a referendum on Colonel Benjedid's political liberalization program.

U.S.-Soviet Nicaragua Deal Possible

WASHINGTON (LAT) — The Soviet Union has indicated that it might be willing to reduce or halt its military aid to Nicaragna if the United States stopped its military assistance to the contra rebels, according to the marker of the House live Wright ing to the speaker of the House, Jim Wright.

Mr. Wright, Democrat of Texas, said Wednesday that he was told recently by Soviet Ambassador Yuri V. Dubinin that President Mikhail S.

Gorbachev might go along with such a plan. The speaker, an ardent opponent of additional arms for the contras, quoted the secretary of state-designate, James A. Baker 3d, as saying that President-elect George Bush wanted to work out a new Central American policy so that the White House and Congress could walk "hand in hand"

Israeli Soldier Dies of Bomb Wounds

JERUSALEM (AP) — A soldier who was critically injured when he tried to rescue a woman from a burning bus in a West Bank firebomb attack died Thursday in a London hospital, a military spokesman said. Also Thursday, troops shot and wounded 13 Palestinians as sporadic protests continued in the occupied territories, Arab hospital officials and

The soldier's death raised to 14 the number of Israelis killed in the yearlong Palestinian revolt against occupation of the West Bank and Gaza Strip. At least 333 Palestinians also have died. The soldier, David Deloroza, 19, was transferred to a London hospital for transplants to replace his heart and lungs, which were severely damaged from smoke inhalation during the attack Oct. 31 near the city of Jencho.

Czech Diplomat Disappears in India

NEW DELHI (NYT) — Indian police have launched a nationwide search for a senior Czechoslovak diplomat here who disappeared recently and there is speculation that he has defected to the West.

"Everything is under investigation and we are trying to find him," said a spokesman for the Czechoslovak Embassy on Thursday. The police said that the missing man, Vlastimil Ludvik, 38, a first secretary at the embassy, was last seen Dec. 16 as he drove out of the mission, saying he was going to visit a friend. The police said descriptions of the man had been flashed to surports and police officials across the country.

Mr. Ludvik would be the third person from a Soviet bloc nation to defect in India in the last three years. In 1985, a Russian diplomat established contact with American officials and flew out of India, later surfacing in the United States. Last year, a Soviet scholar bolted a Russian tour group in the Indian capital and took refuge at the Australian

Sudan Coalition Is Close to Collapse

KHARTOUM, Sudan (Reuters) - Sudan's coalition government was close to collapse on Thursday over how to end five years of civil war in the

The Democratic Unionist Party, the second largest coalition partner in the government of Prime Minister Sadek Mahdi, said it was quitting the coalition in a dispute over a peace plan backed by Mr. Mahdi. The party had offered a competing plan, which was rejected by the legislature.

The Sudan People's Liberation Army has been fighting government forces in the south since 1983. The war, a famine and several other natural

Gandhi Signs Aviation Pact in China

BELIING (Renters) — Prime Minister Li Peng and visiting Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi of India signed a civil aviation agreement and two other accords Thursday during a meeting that the two said marked a new beginning in Chinese-Indian relations.

The accords were agreements on direct air links between Beijing and New Delhi, a joint committee on science and technology, and a program for exchanges of students, artists and films.

Indian officials said the two sides also agreed to form a senior-level Mubarak also said he earlier of-fered to go to Syria, but Mr. Assad by an Indian leader in 34 years.

TRAVEL UPDATE

Egypt and Syria have been at odds since Anwar Sadat, the late South Korea to Lift All Travel Curbs

SEOUL (AP) - South Korea will lift all restrictions on overseas travel as of Jan. 1, allowing South Koreans to travel abroad regardless of age, the Foreign Ministry said. Ministry officials said Wednesday that the action will abolish the current minimum age of 30 years for overseas trips. See The Figure 1

The age limit was lowered from 40 to 30 years early this year.

All South Koreans wishing to go abroad will be issued passports good for three years, they said. More than one million South Koreans are expected to travel overseas next year, they added. Travel had been restricted in the past to save foreign currency. The government began easing restrictions last year as the nation's current account surplus grew. This year's surplus is expected to reach $14 billion. Restrictions on travel to Eastern bloc countries are also to be relaxed.

Visitors to Hungary, the only Communist country to recognize Seoul, will no longer need to apply for permission but should inform authorities.

Credit card pay phones have recently been installed at Singapore's Changi Airport so that passengers can make direct dial calls to other countries. The special phones will accept major credit cards and charges are debited to the holder's account. (IEIT) Transport ministers from Sierra Leone, Liberia and Guinea meeting in

Conakry, Guinea, signed a document Thursday providing for the creation of a regional airline, Air Mano, to begin operations June 1. (AFP)

Départment des Mines et Energie Government of Republic of Zaire

PETROLEUM EXPLORATION CENTRAL BASIN ZAIRE - CALL FOR BIDS

Applications are now being invited from oil companies for exploration licences in the Central Basin of Zaire. The bidding period opens on 20th December 1988 and closes 31st March 1989.

Reports and Data Packages are available for evaluation. For information on this or the conditions and terms of bidding please contact:

Henley-on-Thames, Oxon RG9 4PS, UK Telephone (0491) 575989 Telex 848776 ECL UK G

Exploration Consultants Ltd. Highlands Farm, Greys Road,

Miss Janet James

Fax (0491) 576557

South Africa Signs UN Accord for Namibian Independence SWAPO, the South-West Africa the government there made peace when Namibia is to hold its first African troops withdraw and a ci-People's Organization, which has vilian government is organized. UNITED NATIONS, New the last year led to the accords, free elections for a national assemfought a low-level guerrilla war last colony in Africa, which will become the black-ruled nation of posted in bordering Angola.

transition to independence for South-West Africa to begin April 1. The pact calls for 3,000 Cuban Foreign Minister R.F. Botha signed the pact at UN headquarters along with the foreign ministers of troops to leave Angola by April 1,

Cuba and Angola, who piedged to and for all of them to be gone by send home 50,000 Cuban troops July I, 1991. Half of the 50,000

York — South Africa signed an which were witnessed by Secretary accord Thursday granting independence to South-West Africa, the tary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar and other diplomats. The agreement is for a one-year

SANDEMAN FOUNDERS RESERVE PORT.

NO LONGER RESERVED FOR THE ENGLISH.

Foreign Ministers Isidoro Malmierca of Cuba and Afonso Van Dunem of Angola also signed an agreement under which 70 UN ban withdrawal from Angola.

eacekeepers will monitor the Cu-A Security Council plan for Namibia's independence calls for about 2,000 civilian administrators July 1, 1991. Half of the 50,000 and military police to back about soldiers are to pull out by Nov. 1, 7,500 UN peacekeepers as South

South Africa has ruled the territory of South-West Africa, which now has a population of 1.2 million, for 73 years since capturing it from Germany during World War I. In 1920, the League of Nations granted South Africa a mandate to administer Namibia. The United Cuba, Angola and the UN do not officially recognize any linkage between the two accords and have always insisted on Namibia's independence as a matter of principle, without any preconditions.

South Africa, however, insisted age a centerpiece of the U.S. government's southern Africa policy.

mibia for more than 20 years, was not part of the accords, but has said it will honor a cease-fire. The National Union for the Total Independence of Angola, the rebel group battling the Marxist Nations revoked that mandate in government of Angola was also

Harry's New York Bar @

A chilled bottle of Harry's Bar Champagne to go

Just tell the taxi driver "sank 100 doc 1100"

We wish U a Happy '89. 5, rue Daunou, Paris

Earlier, Paul Lewis of The New York Times reported from The Uniton the Cuban withdrawal. Chester ed Nations: A. Crocker, the U.S. assistant secretary of state for African affairs, who mediated the talks, made link-excluded from the accords, which the participants had agreed would not cover internal affairs. ■ U.S. States Conditions against South African forces in Na-

Saying there can be "no military solution" to the Angolan civil war, Mr. Crocker indicated that the United States would not agree to normal relations with Angola until with its guerrilla opponents. Mr. Crocker said he could make "no prediction" as to when the United States would recognize An-

Samuel Control of Br

TO BELLEVILLE STATEMENT

THE CHARLES

Six are street.

The state of the s

Z - 25 200

2 11 2 17 lkg

STATE SCORE

12 12 TOLDER

anger.

E au ine fan

ರ್ಷ ಪರ್ಷಣಿ ೧೫.

W. B. 182 2-2-

THE LADOR

The Park

Ser of

The same

Secretary American

The same of

Mr. Rody

gola's Marxist government and stop blocking its membership of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund. But he said: "At the same time, it is also true that we look to the Angolans to make peace with each other. That's another very important issue. We trust they will do so. They are saying they intend to do so. So we will look at that with Mamail great interest." Deputy Foreign Minister Venan-cio de Moura said the government of President José Eduardo dos Santos would approve an amnesty next month pardoning any leader of supporter of Jonas Savimbr's UN-ITA movement who wants to

The only exception to the annesty, he said, would be Mr. Savinbi

Mr. Crocker again stated the Reagan administration's determination to continue siding the UN-ITA forces until a negotiated peace is reached in Angola. "Our attitude is unchanged," Crocker said. "We are not signing anything. We have no intention of disengaging from the Angolan situ-ation when the others are buying large amounts of hardware.

eal Possible nion has indicated that it ry aid to Nicarague if the o the contra rebels, accord

adnesday that he was told in that President Mikhais ional arms for the contra A. Baker 3d, as saying that out a new Central American could walk "hand in hand"

Somb Wounds is critically injured when ke is in a West Bank firebond a military spokesman sid i 13 Palestinians as sporair s, Arab hospital officials ad aber of Israelis killed in the trion of the West Bank and ave died. The soldier, David n hospital for transplants if verely damaged from snoke the city of Jericho.

pears in India have launched a nationwisk

iere who disappeared recent ed to the West. e are trying to find him," said on Thursday. The police said

38, a first secretary at the out of the mission, saying he i descriptions of the man ha Is across the country. from a Soviet bloc nation a In 1985, a Russian diploma Is and flew out of India late ar, a Soviet scholar boken ed took refuge at the Australia

se to Collapse 🕴 ian's coalition governments end five years of civil warute cond largest coalition panara Mahdi, said it was quiting it acked by Mr. Mahdi. The part s rejected by the legislature has been fighting government farnine and several other name [people in the south and fore

n Pact in China

ser Li Peng and vising Prime civil aviation agreement and two e that the two said marked ans at air links between Beijing #

e and technology, and a progra ilms. order over which they daniels ence to the visit, the first to Can

JPDATE

All Travel Curbs

t all restrictions on oversess in o travel abroad regardles de officials said Wednesday that is nage of 30 years for oversess up 30 years early this year. road will be issued passports at a one million South Koreans E ar, they added. Travel had in currency. The government he on's current account surplus gr h $14 billion oc countries are also to be refer dist country to recognize Scoal in but should inform authorite intly been installed at Singap an make direct dial calls to the cept major credit cards and de one, Liberta and Guinea mene, it Thursday providing for the to begin operations lime l. Ale

ndence

the government there make with its guerrile opponent Mr. Crocker said he could no prediction 35 to the United States would recognize gola's Martist government stop glocking its membridg the World Bank and the high tional Monetary Fund. But he said. "At the same is also true that we look it.

Angoldan to make peace unit other. That's another tells and exact we trust they side They are saving they intended to the will look at the saving they intended to the saving they intended to the saving they intended to the saving the savin Deput Foreign Ministric great mierest.

of President Jose Eduardisks to would approve in substitution with pareoning any last surproved of Jones South 1TA movement who was charge when The only exception to the state of the state

Mr. Crocker again, de Reagan administration, de Reagan administration de Reagan accommune aiding de Reagan de Constitute au de Reagan de Constitute au de Reagan de Constitute au de Reagan de Reaga reached in Angela

"Our amude is make

Crocker and We have no make anything We have no make area and any anything is area and anything anything is dura when the other was hinge amounts of hadran

Bureau Chiet, es Ltd, Rachum Hor outh P.O. 7,7 JP.

Anti-Abortionists Opposed Sullivan

WASHINGTON - Presidentelect George Bush on Thursday named a medical school president, Dr. Louis W. Sullivan, as head of the Department of Health and Human Services, the first cabinet appointment of a black in the incom-

In addition, Mr. Bush made William Reilly, a conservationist, his surprising choice to head the Envi-ronmental Protection Agency.

The expected nomination of Dr.

Sullivan had been opposed by antiabortion groups after an interview last weekend in which he said he believed it was a woman's right to decide whether to have an abor-

In a second surprise, Mr. Bush named Representative Manuel Lujan Jr., Republican of New Mexico, who is retining from Congress, to head the Interior Department. The department manages millions of acres of federal lands, Mr. Bush appointed Edwin J. Derwinski, a State Department official and former congressman, to lead the newly created Veterans' Affairs Department, which becomes a cabinetlevel agency in March.
In addition, he appointed Samuel K. Skinner, Chicago transit official and former federal prosecutor, to run the Transportation Depart-

The appointment of four new cabinet officers — the Environmental Protection Agency is an independent agency — left only 2 of 12 slots unfilled for the administration, which takes office on Jan. 20.

Mr. Bush said he expected to name leaders of the Departments said in congressional testimony of Labor and Energy soon. The that the companies were Boeing, leading candidate for the Labor Department is Patricia Diaz Denthe Amecon Division of Litton Systems, McDonnell Dougias, Northrop, TRW Inc., Sanders Assonis, a member of the Federal Communications Commission. ciates, General Dynamics and Martin Marietta.

The 55-year-old physician and head of the School of Medicine at Morehouse College in Atlanta touched off a furor among antiabortionists last weekend, when he told a newspaper that he supported a woman's right to an abortion. Mr. Bush made no mention of the ensuing controversy when he announced the appointment of the first black named to the cabinet. But Dr. Sullivan read a state-consin, and Charles E. Grassley, ment that said he was opposed to Republican of Iowa, Mr. Donnelly and other witnesses described what abortion except in the case of rape, incest and a threat to the life of the a congressional staff report called a mother. He said he was opposed to federal funding for abortions except in the case of a threat to the life of the mother, and emphasized that he and the president-elect agreed completely on the subject.

The storm over Dr. Sullivan's said 15 other companies, including Raytheon, Eaton and United Technologies, had obtained secret docu- government planning and budgetabortion views presented the Bush has faced thus far in filling his but that those were isolated cases of minimal importance and had The outerv arose after Dr. Sullithus been closed.

van said in an interview in Sunday's Atlanta Journal and Constitution that he privately supported a woman's right to choose abortion though he opposed federal funding

Under sharp criticism from the Republican right, Dr. Sullivan later said those remarks did not correctly reflect his views. He assured conservative laurmakers that he should servative lawmakers that he shared the anti-abortion views expressed by Mr. Bush during the campaign and also that he favored a proposed "human life amendment" to the Constitution

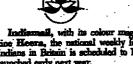

Mr. Bush, who campaigned as an advocate of tougher environmental saleguards, said his new administrator at the Environmental Protection Agency had a "mission of tremendous importance." Mr. Reilly understands not only the overwhelming domestic imperatives" of the environment, but also the need for international cooperation" on the issue, the president-

Mr. Reilly pledged a "new and constructive course" on environ-mental problems at home and around the world. Mr. Reilly, a head of the Conservation Foundation and the World Wildlife Fund, said he believed he was the first head of such an organization chosen to run the agency.

The president-elect selected Carla T. Hills, a Washington lawyer, to be his special trade representative. Mr. Bush indicated she would have the same cabinet-level privileges enjoyed by the current holder of that job, Clayton K. Yentter, whom he picked to be his agriculture sec-

Indiamail

and Heers will also quired with facilities to supply with good photographs of social and other events in Paris, Geneva, Frankfurt, are eight as we understand it, are under investigation by Defense Criminal Investigative Service for possible criminal prosecution."

The criminal investigative service is

Mr. Donnelly cited a Pentagon memorandum written May 29 last year saying that an inquiry arose from a court case in which the defendant, a consultant, had argued that many secret Pentagon planning and budgeting documents had been obtained by companies throughout the arms industry. The eight companies were named in

The accusations Wednesday

were separate from an ongoing Justice Department inquiry into possiarms makers in which inside information was said to have been used to gain unfair competitive advantage in weapons sales.

Richard F. Kaufman, the general counsel of the Joint Economic Committee, who led the staff inqui-ry, presented a report saying that secret documents had been "surreptitiously obtained by private

Pentagon and sold to defense contractors for use in preparing bids

Mr. Donnelly said that a common form of "bootlegging" docu-ments was for technicians to accu-form of bootlegging," he said, "is the obtaining of classified internal

In other instances, he said, "contractor employees may obtain these documents outside of regular chan-short-term interest rates will be

Both factors would lower the deficit if they followed the adminis-increases when growth is rapid, be-slow. Lower interest rates mean that the Treasury must pay less to

The new budget calls for spending $1.15 trillion, 4.7 percent more

The president's budget — for the fiscal year year 1990, which begins on Oct. 1 — will be something of an orphan. He is scheduled to submit President-elect George Bush, in de-carry the national debt.

than many economists expect.

ble improprieties by consultants to

U.S. Arms Makers Face Secrets Charges

In one case, he said, "an army officer allegedly gave a document to a contractor employee to secure

The Defense Investigative Service and the Defense Criminal Investigative Service joined forces to inquire into that allegation, he said.

We found no indication," he said,

"that any defense contractor had a policy to obtain unauthorized clas-

"We did find, however, instances where individual employees ob- court case.

future employment."

sified documents."

Huseyin Yildirim, a Turk living in Florida, after his arrest on espionage charges.

By Richard Halloran

tor of a Defense Department investigative agency has testified that eight of the nation's leading arms makers face possible criminal pros-ecution for illegal possession of se-

The planning and budget docu-

The official, John F. Donnelly,

In other testimony Wednesday, a senior official in the Pentagon Inspector General's office, Donald Mancuso, said the trafficking in secret documents was "insidious," corrupted the procurement process, undermined public confidence and presented a serious risk

"black market" in classified docutestified. "These companies, there company."

budget of his administration, President Ronald Reagan will propose billion, the lowest since 1982, with-

The plan, officials say, will call povernment assets.

many economists.

nding cuts and substantial sales

The projected deficit is nearly $70 billion lower than this year's figure and well within the $100 billion goal set by Congress in the law

mistic assumptions than those of

For next year the administration private economists in the newsletter Blue Chip Indicators.

incine the federal deficit to $92.5

In a hearing before Senators William Proximire, Democrat of Wis- consultants from sources in the

Mr. Donnelly, who is director of mulate their own personal library the Defense Investigative Service, of classified information. "Another

"There were several companies nels from someone in the governwhere it was more extensive," he ment or in the employ of another

Deficit Without Raising Tax

WASHINGTON — In the last about 2 percent lower than they are noticet of his administration. Presi-for another round of domestic cause businesses and workers earn spending cuts and substantial sales more than when the economy is requiring a balanced budget by than this year, with revenue of 1993. But it is based on more opti- $1.056 trillion, 8.4 percent more.

predicts economic growth at the robust pace of 3.5 percent, more than a percentage point faster than the prediction of a consensus of 51 orphan. He is scheduled to submit it to Congress on Jan. 9 and to retire to California 11 days later.

But it is noteworthy, because to national security.

ments were used to prepare bids for government contracts, government

cret government documents.

officials said.

New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — The direc-

U.S. Says Spy Caused 'Massive' Damage

and Molly Moore

WASHINGTON — The army intelligence analyst arrested this week on espionage charges was apprehended after allegedly telling an FBI undercover agent that he had been passing classified information to Soviet and East German agents for the last six years.

A Turk living in Florida, Huseyin Yildirim, who the authorities say acted as the army analyst's gobetween with the East Germans, also was arrested. A law enforcement official said the spy operation resulted in a "massive hemorrhage" of "sensi-tive national security information." The operation appeared to have seriously damaged electronic spying efforts in Europe, U.S. officials said, but the extent of the damage was still being assessed.

The arrested analyst, Warrant Officer James W. Hall 3d, enlisted in the army in September 1976 and has served most of his time working for the Army Security Agency. The agency gathers, deciphers and analyzes electronic data and voice signals coming from hostile powers.

The army agency, along with similar groups in the navy and air force, works closely with the National Security Agency in collecting tained unauthorized classified doc-thus exposing the secret documents to people not entitled to see them.

According to an affidavit filed in U.S. District Court in Savannah, Georgia, Mr. Hall met Tuesday night with the Federal Bureau of Investigation agent in a motel near Savannah. The affidavit said that Mr. Hall "boasted of the important signal intelligence information that he had passed and admitted his motivation to be greed."

Mr. Hall, 30, told the FBI agent, who was posing as a Soviet opera-tive, that be "had been passing highly sensitive signal intelligence documents" to the Soviet Union and East Germany since late 1982. the affidavit said.

Mr. Hall was arrested at the motel early Wednesday after the meeting, which lasted more than two hours and which sources said was secretly tape-recorded. Sources said that after his arrest,

Mr. Hall began cooperating with officials in the investigation. Army officials suspect that Mr. Hall began dealing with the East Germans after he was assigned to an intelligence station in Berlin in 1981. He spent most of his 12-year military career in West Germany as a specialist operating intellige equipment and analyzing data from eavesdropping satellites. Mr. Hall was promoted recently to warrant officer from staff sergeant and was assigned in July as a traffic analyst technician to an army intelligence center at Fort Stewart, Georgia. In that position, he was responsible for operating and maintaining equipment and supervising teams of technicians nments." he said. In some cases, he involved in highly specialized intelligence activities said, those employees did not fol-low proper security procedures,

Army officials began their investigation last summer after being

The memorandum citing the South Africa Blast Injures 10 eight companies under investiga-tion said the inquiry had started in JOHANNESBURG - A grenade flung from a moving vehicle January 1986, but many details Wednesday night in Nyanga, a were deleted from the document, black township 15 kilometers (9 miles) southeast of Cape Town, either to avoid violating the privacy of people who have not been indict-ed or to avoid damaging a potential wounded 10 police officers and electronic intelligence, officials tipped off that Mr. Hall was living said. "well above the lifestyle he would be able to enjoy with his salary in the army," a Pentagon official said.

Mr. Hall's annual salary from the army is approximately $20,200.
A law enforcement official said he believed that Mr. Hall has been paid "tens of thousands of dollars" for information over the years. A person familiar with the case said investigators conducted lance on Mr. Hall's office at Fort Stewart and saw him putting docu-ments into a case that had a hidden

According to the affidavit, Mr. Hall told the FBI agent that the Turk, Mr. Yildirim, 60, helped him copy and ferry documents to the East Germans.

Mr. Yildirim, who lives in Belleair Beach, Florida, was arrested and charged with conspiring with closed-circuit television surveil- Mr. Hall and to commit espionage.

That's right. BASF invests about DM 8 million every day in R&D quite impressive for a century-old company known mainly for its strength in basic chemicals.

A Tradition of Innovation

The BASF Group - among the world's blue-chip chemical companies with sales of DM 40 billion - is firmly committed to helping secure its future performance by investing substantially in research and new product development.

Typical examples of recent innovations at BASF are in the field of plastics. One of the world's largest producers of plastics, BASF has introduced a special polymer that is expected to revolutionize the entire battery industry. In the automotive sector, modern engineering plastics are being developed to replace metal parts. And other plastics from BASF will replace metals, glass, and ceramics in many industries around the world.

BASF Group Research and Development in DM billion 1.8 R&D investment R&D Expenditure

R & D a Top Priority

In 1988 alone, BASF is investing over DM 2 billion in R&D in a broad spectrum of specialized areas. Some 12,000 employees are working in BASF research laboratories, and the Group has about 6,700 patents in West Germany and 35,000 in other countries.

Successful innovation is just one cornerstone of BASF's consistent performance over the years. Others include the Group's strong and growing proportion of higher value added products, its extensive range of products, its broad geographical spread, its strategic long-term investments, and its solid financial base.

All of these factors combine to make BASF a company well worth watching in the future. For over a century, BASF has maintained its blue-chip status, and intends to keep it.

BASF Aktiengesellschaft D-6700 Ludwigshafen West Germany

The Blue-Chip Innovators

This 'New Look' at Debt

President-elect Bush says it is time to markets has added substantially to the U.S. take "a whole new look" at the Third trade deficit Lost exports to Latin America World's $1.3 trillion debt. Indeed, and past alone are estimated to have cost some time. Flexibility from the incoming administration is welcome. President Reagan's kets will not revive until their economies get hands-off policy has hurt debtor nations and America's vital interests as well.

The World Bank reports that interest payments forced a net outflow of $43 billion from debtor countries this year alone; an analysis by the Council on Foreign Relations calls it "a massive, perverse redistribution of income" from the poor to the rich.

With the industrial world enjoying solid prosperity and the major banks in better shape than when the debt crisis erupted six years ago, the poor are getting poorer and increasingly restive. According to the World Bank, per capita income in many Latin an countries is lower than 10 years ago. In Africa, it is 25 percent lower. Compassion and leadership require addressing the whole problem; U.S. self-interest requires special attention to Latin America.

Democracies have replaced dictatorships in Brazil, Argentina and elsewhere. But national elections are coming up for seven Latin debtors in the next two years, and populist candidates tempt voters with prom-ises of radical action to end the debt squeeze. It is urgent that Washington help promptly.

Mexico, its election past but its future uncertain, also warrants special concern.

Economic self-interest is equally strong; the Third World buys more than a third of America's exports. The weakening of those 340,000 American jobs. Third World marrelief from heavy debt service burdens.

Mr. Bush concedes that "we've got enormous problems, particularly in our own hemisphere." Yet already his "whole new look" seems cramped. He indicated that he opposes forgiving debt outright, and also rejects proposals for debt to be taken over at a discount by an international body like the World Bank, using public funds. His advisers reportedly lean toward revising bank regulations and tax law, to permit banks to be more lenient on outstar debts and more generous with new loans.

With James Baker as his secretary of state, Mr. Bush would hardly admit that the Reagan administration's "Baker plan" failed. That initiative, launched three years ago when Mr. Baker was treasury secretary, sought to promote growth in debtor countries that agreed to structural reforms. But it depended on large new credits from banks and international agencies, credits that never materialized. The problem is more acute than ever.

A far-reaching new governmental approach, committing real money and forgiving some debt in selected cases, would show that the rich finally see what they have done to the poor - as well as to themselves and intend to correct it.

— THE NEW YORK TIMES.

If Not Reagan, Who?

Ronald Reagan came to office saying that he could too raise military spending, cut taxes and balance the budget in four years. The money would come from two sources: the economic growth that the tax cuts would engender, which in turn would produce extra revenue; and the heavy layers of fat that conservative lore said was just waiting to be stripped from domestic spending. America has had both the growth and much more of the cutting than is generally acknowledged. The U.S. economy is now in its sixth year of recovery from an initial deep recession, the longest such peacetime expansion (as the Reagan people are themselves fond of saying in a slightly different context) in the 150 years for which there are records. By now the knife has also been applied to just about every major area of domestic spending, including the powerful entitlement programs that certain critics wrongly claim have been exempt. Social Security was worked over in 1983, Medicare the same year, civil service and military retirement in 1986. Subsidized housing, the fastest-growing welfare program of the 1970s, was put on hold: the revenue-sharing and public-sector jobs programs were both abolished; federal sewage treatment grants are to be phased out; federal grants of all kinds have fallen from about a fourth to about a sixth of state and local government revenue — and the budget deficit is still $150 billion a year.

It is not the president's "iron triangle" that has kept it there. The original idea was wrong. In the end not even he could come up with enough spending cuts to support the caricature of the federal government which his policy was based. The proof is in the record. If Ronald Reagan cannot make

What me country has now is a leaner government, an accomplishment for which Mr. Reagan deserves much greater credit than his fiscal record and accustomed rhetoric allow him to accept. But the country also finally has a level of services which it is unwilling either to pay for or to cut. To some extent the social compact has been broken; the budget deficit reflects that. Mr. Reagan more than doubled the national debt. To finance both the spending and taxes he indulgently proposed, the government had to borrow about $1.5 trillion, much of it from foreigners. That cannot go on. George Bush and the next Congress must restore not just a fiscal but a social balance. The party is over. And if spending cannot be cut much -it can be cut some, but some must also be increased — that means more taxes.

How to get there? It will be hard after the election. The Democrats want to make Mr. Bush admit he needs the tax increase he said in the campaign he would not seek. That is understandable enough — up to a point. Then they need to help him reach the necessary compromise, as his own record in government and the appointments he has made suggest he will do. Will gimmicks be required? A trust fund, perhaps: no tax increase except that the funds go into a separate fund for reduction of the deficit. The purists say it is phony, which in one sense it is: All federal funds are fungible. But in another sense it is not; appearances are themselves a form of disline. If it takes a trust fund to get the job done, by all means set one up. The country has a desperate problem. Both parties win if the politicians solve it: neither does if they do not.

Teen-Agers on Steroids

on the use of anabolic steroids by teen-agers, particularly young males. In the first national survey of steroid use by American teenagers, Pennsylvania State University has found that nearly 7 percent of the boys had used or were using steroids, often at the age of 15 and even earlier. Nearly half of those who had tried steroids said that they were using more than one type at the same time. Steroids gained attention at the Seoul Olympics. A number of victorious athletes, including the Canadian sprinter Ben Johnson, were forced to give up medals when they tested positive for steroids. WRC television ngton also brought attention to the problem of juveniles on steroids in a series entitled "Well Built Lies." Steroids increase the ability to exercise at intensity levels that the human body ordinarily cannot tolerate, speeding up muscle building and healing. But the list of harmful side effects, especially from prolonged use, continues to grow. These drugs have been linked to heart attacks, heart disease, high blood pressure, testicular atrophy, prostate cancer, sterility, liver cancer, tumor development, kidney disorders and breast cancer. They upset the immune system and can cause profound mood swings and unusually aggressive be-

It is clearly time to focus more attention havior. Withdrawal symptoms include depression, disabling fatigue and even suicid-al tendencies. Among adolescents, steroids can permanently street bone growth and curtail sexual maturation.

Teen-agers who use steroids say they do so to gain an edge in competitive sports or to improve their physical appearance. The temptation is to use the drug even more often to get bigger and stronger, and to keep using it to maintain that strength. Schools, coaches and parents must do more to counsel young people on the harmful effects of such drugs.

But society sends too many mixed signals to impressionable teen-agers. Many professional and adult amateur athletes rely on steroids, and that only encourages younger athletes to do the same. In the National Football League, team coaches and players recently honored two players who had been suspended earlier this season for illegal drug use, by selecting them for the upcoming Pro Bowl. That is the NFL's all-star game, and voting for those two players sends an appalling message to young people. If persuading the young to avoid drugs is the goal, adults must set the tone. So far the efforts have been disappointing.

-THE WASHINGTON POST.

Other Comment

Tokyo Talks: A New Chapter

Japan and the Soviet Union have yet to reconcile their differences on the thorny Northern Territories issue. However, [Eduard] Shevardnadze admitted in a press conference after the talks that both sides had thrashed out their views on the history of those territories since the 19th century. This was a big change for the Soviet Union. In the past, the Soviets consistently refused to admit there was any territorial problem.

insisting it was a resolved and closed case.

The Japan-Soviet talks this time belped open the way for future bilateral negotiations of a continuous nature at various levels. We believe the Japan-Soviet relationship has gained a new momentum for advancement. Mr. Shevardnadze said a "new chapter" has been opened in Japan-Soviet relations. We fully agree. From now on, the question is how "readable" the two countries will make this chapter. - The Asahi Shimbun (Tokyo).

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE

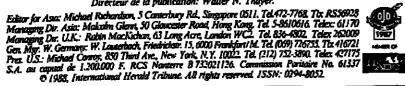

JOHN HAY WHITNEY, Chairman 1958-1982 KATHARINE GRAHAM, WILLIAM S. PALEY, ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER

LEE W. HUEBNER, Publisher JOHN VINOCUR, Exercitive Editor • WALTER WELLS, News Editor • SAMUEL ABT, KATHERINE KNORR and CHARLES MITCHELMORE, Deputy Editors • CARL GEWIRTZ, Associate Editor • ROBERT J. DONAHUE, Editor of the Editorial Pages • JAMES R. CRATE, Businessi Financial Editor

RUBER 1 J. DUNASTUE, Latter of the Lattern Pages • JAMES R. CRATE, Business/Financial Latter RENÉ BONDY, Deputy Publisher • ALAIN LECOUR and RICHARD H. MORGAN, Associate Publishers • FRANÇOIS DESMAISONS, Coculation Director • ROLF D. KRANEPUHL, Advertising Sales Director • KOURDT HOWELL, Director, Information Systems

International Herald Tribune, 181 Avertising Charles-de-Gaulle, 92200 Neutilly-sur-Scinc, France, Tel.: (1) 46.37.93.00. Telex: Advertising, 613595; Circulation, 612832; Editorial, 612718; Production, 630698.

Directeur de la publication: Walter N. Thayer.

OPINION

Swords to Plowshares: It's Not That Easy

By Bernard D. Nossiter

L ONDON — Among the astonishments of Mikhail Gorbachev's United Nations speech was also allowed to the control of the control ing of capitalism's soft underbelly. The Soviet leader implicitly questioned whether the U.S. economy can prosper without arms spending Mr. Gorbachev's predecessors taunting capitalism for an alleged dependence on arms spending to maintain jobs and output. But Mr. Gorbachev is in no position to do would have taken a harder line, that. He is desperately trying to turn the Soviet structure into something resembling the West, away from a command economy and toward a market-style economy.

could also trigger a process in which arms-related resources are applied increasingly to civilian production.

The main issue is how to ease the pain of transition. The International Labor Organization has done extensive research on the social and economic implications of disarmament

our findings show no serious impact on the economy or on employment.

The world today spends an estimated $120 billion a year on defense.

From 1976 to 1986, arms production alone accounted for an average of 6.5

percent of worldwide GNP (rising from $350 billion in 1976 to $810 billion in 1986). A 20 percent reduction would release sufficient resources to revive the global economy.

And as Lord Philip Noel-Baker, the 1959 Nobel Peace Prize winner, once pointed out, only a few hundred million dollars a year could belp wipe out illiteracy worldwide or eradicate such diseases as malaria, trachoma, leprosy and yaws.

But disarmament, to be socially painless, must be carefully planned and implemented. More than 50 million people are associated with the defense industry worldwide.

He proposed that each nation publish plans describing how its missiles can be transformed into computers, how weapons production lines will turn out civilian products. This has considerable surface appeal. If governments make clear there can he a civilian demand for Lockheed products, Lockheed's pressure for new military contracts should ease.

Unfortunately, Lockheed will remain unconvinced. In the first Nixon term, with the end of the Vietnam But anyone seriously concerned with reducing the global level of arms outlays must address the link war in sight, there was much talk of the substantial dividends that citizens would receive from war produc-between weapons and jobs. At the United Nations, Mr. Gorbachev did just this, and with some subtlety. military budgets remained high.

One trouble is that the big war contractors - General Dynar Martin Marietta, Lockheed and the rest — are unfit for civilian markets. With some justice, they believe they cannot convert. They have lived too long in a world where all costs, plus a profit, are paid by a single, unde-manding customer, the Pentagon.

This environment does not breed tough, efficient competitors. Rather, as Seymour Melman of Columbia University has been arming for years, it turns engineers and scientists inside out. They seek to maximize rather that min nize costs. This yields more profit for their employer. And it pleases their customer be-cause the higher the cost of any project, the greater the number of generals and admirals who will run it. Nor does the Pentagon care much about what comes off the assembly

ine. Even before Mr. Gorbache the generals knew no war is possible between superpowers, and that complex weapons systems are costly and unreliable. So the Pentagon fakes tests to win approval of shoddy tanks, unflyable planes and oth-er pieces of electronic junk. It is easy to construct an input-output model demonstrating that acrospace managers and workers can build homes, hospitals, parks or a cleaner environment. There is no inevitable link between arms and jobs; demand can be created for peaceful spending. But Congress is reluctant to vote for civilian projects, especially those that might compete with private industry.

With Thanks

For the Faith

She Instilled

By James C. Thomson Jr.

BOSTON — Fifty years ago this month, the Swedish Academy shocked the American literary establishment by awarding the Nobel Prize for Literature to Pearl S. Buck. The Nobel Committee not only had passed over such candidates as Theodore Dreiser and Sherwood Ander-son; it had given this exalted accolade to a former missionary and a woman, As Robert Frost remarked,

"If she can get it, anybody can."
In China, where Pearl Buck had lived for most of her 46 years, the response among Chinese intellectuals was cool for a different reason. By what right could a white-faced female win fame for writing about life in China when no Chinese writer had

Nonetheless, Pearl Buck commanded the loyalty of millions of readers during her prolific four de-cades as a writer. She provided vivid images of China and the Chinese that persist to this day. Largely because of her, generations of Americans have viewed the Chinese people with affection and respect regardless of the shifting political climate.

live with her classic, "The Good Earth" (1931). But as Harold Isaacs revealed in his study, "Scratches on Our Minds," American elites of the 1950s—opinion-makers he had inter-

1950s — opinion-makers he had interviewed in government, the press, business and the universities — were profoundly and positively affected by the Chinese depicted by Pearl Buck. Miraculously, such favorable images survived the dark decades of the Korean War, the Vietnam War and Macism.

The Chinese continue to be ran-kled by the old issue of unfairness.

This year, happily, the Nobel Committee has announced that it is adding to its jury at least one scholar who can read Chinese; from now on, Chinese writers will have a chance.

But Pearl Buck's problems in China

also stem from her stance toward the Chinese revolution. Reared in the twieventually soomed both the seedy corruption of the Chiang Kai-shek dicta-torship and the totalitarian barbarities of Mao. She refused to visit Taiwan and warmly applanded President

Richard Nixon's rapprochement with the People's Republic in 1972. Yet her application for a visa to return to her

China home was angrily rejected that spring, and within a year she had died.

Through decades of ideological fa-naticism, she held herself aloof from politics. Her yearning, one seases, was for the stability and scremity of Chinese peasant life in the good phases of the Confucian Empire, but from her writings about ugliness and injustice it is clear she knew such times were gone.

Still she was sustained by faith in the

It is alleged, with some truth, that she never again wrote anything as brilliant as the twin biographies of her parents, "Fighting Angel" and "The Exile," and "The Good Earth." It is also argued that she wrote too much works of fiction and nonfiction. Yet,

Royalties from a mass readership also meant she could pay the institutional bills for her retarded child, for her dozen adopted and foster children, for the often shaky publishing house of her second husband, and especially for her pioneering charitable enterprises.

woman before her time. As John Hersey wrote at the time of her death, "She anticipated nearly every single one of the recent 'discoveries' of the women's liberation movement." Appalled by the condition of blacks in 1930s America, she built close ties with women in Harlem and pioneered with Elemor Roosevelt in promoting the cause of civil rights. She was an early advocate of the control of nucle-

Pearl Buck was in several senses a she wrote primarily as a secular missionary, using her Nobel status to preach as wide a public as possible.

triumph of the Chinese spirit.

light of the Confucian Empire, she

The American public first fell in ever received a Nobel Prize?

Congress is usually amenable to approving weapons. That is why America overcame the recessions of 1958, 1961 and 1982 largely with expanded arms outlays. The United States is thus unlikely to accept Mr. Gorbachev's proposal for a conversion model. Capitalist prosperity need not rest on a weap-ons base; but it is simpler to do what has always been done. Of course, any scheme proposed by Soviet leaders must be treated with suspicion by the weapons-making communities. But Mr. Gorbaev's probing is instructive. Despite his overwhelming troubles at home, he and his advisers have the wit to raise important issues that Western policymakers would prefer to lorget

Mr. Nossiter, a longtime foreign correspondent for The Washington Post who later covered the United Nations for The New York Times now writes a column from London

Disarmament: How to Ease the Pain of Conversion

By Francis Blanchard

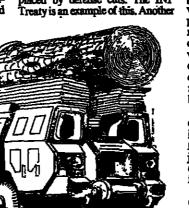

GENEVA — Mikhail Gorba-chev's announcement of uni-lateral cuts in Soviet forces has given a boost to the disarmament process. This could have far-reaching repershould be linked to a structural adinstment program to ensure that those displaced by closure of arms cussions. Much has been said about how disarmament could help reduce the U.S. budget deficit and spur ecofactories or demobilization of nomic development in the Soviet standing armies could be produc-Union. But a superpower détente tively employed elsewhere. and commitment to dissumament

The tentative findings of ILO research leave little room for pessimism on this count. Disarmament is, in effect, a form of structural change; it can be planned, and its negative effects can be offset. How would disarmament affect development? Our research shows that if funds were used to increase concessional aid flows instead of military spending, employment would

The writer is director general of the International Labor Office in Geneva. Any contraction of the industry benefit overall. Incomes and employment rates would rise in the developing countries, thereby benefiting the export sectors (particularly manufac-turing) in the wealthy countries. Of course, no one would sugg that disamnament should be held back because no other use could be found for arms plants or because workers could not find comparable employment. But the conversion problem must be tackled seriously. One way would be to target disarmament on the most capital-intensive military production units, where the fewest workers would be displaced by defense cuts. The INF Treaty is an example of this. Another terms of reduced budgets rather than the abolition of particular weapons systems, is to cut primarily those activities using skills and occupations in great demand elsewhere in the economy, or to make cuts in regions with low unemployment.

Enterprises should be encour aged to diversify production in advance of disarmament measures Any enterprise that switches too suddenly from military to civilianrelated production is likely to face a jolt from the stiff competition of civilian markets. It would be wrong to exaggerate these difficulties. Even in manufacturing, much defense-related production and employment is with subcontractors; not all are dependent on defense orders. In nonmanufacturing sectors, such as construction and transportation, which account for nearly half the civilian employment dependent on defense spending, the conversion to nonmilitary applications will be relatively painless.

Where conversion to production of other goods and services proves impossible, a program of loans on favorable terms and retraining and job-seeking assistance to the work-ers and small-scale employers af-fected by defense cuts would help. The economic and social conse quences of disarmament are highly debatable. But one thing is clear: In the long run, disarmament will promote economic and social progress. International Herald Tribune.

spirit. Each side has made the other a tomed visitor, peace a stranger.

Fears and suspicions have already been voiced. Some Israeli leaders vow "never" to talk with the PLO.

Some Arabs scorn the prospect of

It is not enough to rely on formal and official dialogue among leaders. Citizen action has brought us the first fragile sprigs of peace. The nonviolent protest and suffering of young Pagestricker in the Month Pagestricker.

tinians in the West Bank and Gaza

Strip provided the seed from which the PLO's recent initiative grew. American Jewish leaders helped germinate

Now we need a broader dialogue to the administration's respon peace for the pride of conquest.

mon. Conflict has become an accus-

No Bells This Year in Bethlehem, but Hope for Peace visions of peace. The core problem is one of fear. Forty years of conflict have charred not only the land but the

C HICAGO — This holiday season, in a silent witness to the need for peace, the bells in Bethlehem will not ring. No peace in Bethlehem but, for the first time in years, there is hope. In agreeing to engage in "substantive discussions" with the Palestine Liberation Organization, the Reagan administration has taken a courageous step. It was a necessary response to the PLO's bold step of recognizing Israel's right to exist, embracing Security Council Resolutions 242 and 338 and renouncing terrorism.

Since my first visit to the Middle East in 1979, I have urged the Pales-tinian leadership to take this step, while I have worked and prayed for an end to the U.S. government's "no talk" policy. It was clear then that peace could come only from agreement among adversaries. It was also clear that, as a superpower with im-portant interests in the Middle East, if

WASHINGTON — A new face now appears on the world scene, and for Israel, not a moment too soon.

For 50 demeaning days following an indecisive election, the politician of Israel's major parties sought to buy the support of the small religious par-ties with concessions to orthodoxy.

That invited a brief "tyranny of the minority," dismaying most Israelis and offending Jews around the world.

Then came a dash of cold water.

When the United States agreed to accent the PLO's verbal assurances and to explore mediation, Israel could no longer afford political paralysis at bome, estranged supporters abroad and a government that could fall at the

Give credit to Prime Minister Yitz-

Over the protests of purists in both parties, these men put partiotism first and organized a coalition that freezes out religious parties and presents a more united front to the world.

First order of business is electoral reform — changing the system to pre-vent future domination by any minority. A four-minister commission is being appointed to recommend to the Shamir pledges that the next election in 1992 will be under the new rules.

Equally important is the emer-sence of a man of the future in the leadership quartet. He is Moshe Arens, 63, a hard-liner who has served both as defense minister and ambassador to the United States, now thrust forward as foreign minister, the all-important portfolio this year.

I like this guy.

et a more stable democracy; Mr.

hak Shamir of Likud and to Labor's

Shimon Peres and Yitzhak Rabin.

whim of one rabbi in Brooklyn.

we could not act, we could not help. With this step, the United States is now able to engage in dialogue with all of the parties necessary to a settlement in the Middle East. And only Arrerica is in a position to do for Israelis and Palestinians what they cannot do for themselves — pry them apart from their death grip, calm their fears and guarantee their mutual security as we work together toward a just solution.
The administration must urge the Palestinians to remain true to their commitment to seek peace through negotiations. At the same time, I urge Secretary of State George Shultz to engage Israel's leaders in a new dialogue for peace. Now is the moment for Israeli leaders to affirm their com-mitment to Resolutions 242 and 338, to demonstrate their desire for a

By William Safire

Born in Lithuania, he came to the United States at the age of 14, served as a sergeant in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in World War II, went to Palestine to fight in the Irgun at the birth of Israel, and later finished his education at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as Strong-minded rather than phony-tough, "Misha" Arens shows a greater understanding of American culture and free enterprise than any Israeli leader since Golda Meir.

has moved over to the Finance Ministry (lest we forget, he helped bring Israel back from a Weimar-style inflation), but can be expected to pop off with dovish foreign policy proposals. For one example, Mr. Peres (who dutifully says he opposes direct talks with the Palestine Liberation Organization) has just proposed "the hold-ing of free and secret political elec-tions for the West Bank and Gaza in an atmosphere of tranquillity and, on our part, total noninterference" ("For

Free and Peaceful Elections in the Ter-

Sounds great, but no Palestinian

The Peres plan is a fig leaf to make possible direct dealing with Mr. Arafat, who would choose the Palestinian candidates. What, Mr. Arens will be asked, would be wrong with that? Do you not have to negotiate will place its national security in the

What is wrong is this: No nation

peace with your enemies?

who wants to live will oppose the ritories," IHT, Dec. 22).

PLO in the territories.

He will need that now. Mr. Peres an aeronautical engineer.

we could not talk, we could not act. If peaceful settlement of the conflict and . to indicate recognition of the Palestin-ian claim for self-determination. The formula for a peace settlement has long been clear. It would have to include mutual recognition for mutual security, land for peace and international guarantees to ensure the peace. Self-determination for the Palestmians and security for Israel have always been two sides of the same coin. The prospect of peace in the Middle East is compelling. With peace, and freed from the burden of occupation and war, Israelis and Palestinians could build vibrant centers of trade and culture. With peace, the money spent on weapons of death could be invested in communities of life. But, as Anwar Sadat said before the Knesset, any settlement will depend on more than logical formulas and stage war of extermination.

Dowings by LONIDEZE, CAT Synficate

Arab world is no chimera. Sandi Ara-bia proudly subsidizes the intifada violence. Syria, with scandalous technical help from West European companies, is trying to fit poison-gas war-heads onto its Soviet missiles. Libya is investing heavily in the sort of chemical weapon the Iraqis used so

John Tower should begin working

No wonder the Israelis do not trust Yasser Arafat and his backers

That was the genius of the Camp David approach: building Israeli trust gradually, as Palestinian autonomy

In time, in stages designed to dem-onstrate peaceful intent, a way can be found to live side by side.

George Bush need join no international stampede. The way to induce Israeli risk-taking is not for America to pressure its ally, but for Arab nations to recognize and directly reassure their neighbor. We should not expect Foreign Minister Arens to come up with a

The New York Times

sensible démarche right away.

Give the man a month.

grows over a few years of cohabitation to negotiations about sovereignty.

with Israel on a joint surgical strike in effectively to slaughter Kurds.

the cause of nonproliferation.

or his competitors.

fertilize the ground for peace. Charches, universities, cities and citizen groups can act to expand the exchange between Israelis and Palestinians, between Jews and Arabs, in America and Here's Moshe Arens, None Too Soon broad. The exchange of deaths must be surpassed by an exchange of views. Citizen dialogue can help.

A new olive branch has been raised. Its tender aboots must be hands of its sworn enemies. Too many PLO terrorcrats make no secret of their goal: the taking of the West Bank as the first stage in a twonourished. Peace is not the work of a few - it is a calling for all who are inspired by its promise. Let us act Isn't it a bit much to ask Israel to now so that some day soon the bells bet its survival on the possibility that will ring again in Bethlehem, so that peace will heal the land. the extreme faction — with its talent for assassination — will be forever repressed by new "moderates"? The threat to Israelis from the ar weapons. In the late 1940s she finally wrote publicly about her retarded daughter, breaking a national taboo and inspiring the Kennedy family and others to do the same. She brought the American conscience to bear on the plight of the outcast offspring of U.S. icemen and Asian women. The greatest debt to Pearl Buck is owed by Americans and Chinese; for creating an apparently unshakable.

The writer, president of the National Rainbow Coalition, contributed this to The New York Times.

American faith in the Chinese people.

As both nations approach the centernial of her birth in 1992, she deserves

The writer, a professor of history and journalism at Boston University and far-mer curator of the Nieman Fellowships at Harvard, is a specialist in American-East Asian relations. He contributed this to The Washington Post. 100.75 AND 50 YEARS AGO

1888: Haitian Rebellion

NEW YORK --- A steamer which has arrived bringing the latest informa-tion from Haiti reports that at the battle of Mirabalair recently the rebels defeated the government troops, with heavy loss of life. Mr. Cavalho, the nephew of the leader Hippolyte, has arrived in New York. He states that the government will be unable to maintain their position. Despatches from Washington report that Secretary Bayard told the agent from Haiti that he would recognize neither faction there until the people had declared themselves.

1913: Mexican Holiday

MEXICO CITY - A Presidential decree issued this afternoon [Dec. 21] makes every day, including today, until the end of the year, a legal holiday. This action has been taken to check a run on the banks. With the of the other financial houses have taken advantage of the decree. These banks are being guarded by a strong force of police. The rebels are pressing close around Tampico, and a formal attack is expected soon.

1938: Germans Protest WASHINGTON - An official German protest at the bitter attack on the Hitler regime by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, today [Dec. 22] was rejected with a blunt statement by the State Department that the opinions expressed by Mr. Ickes were shared by an overwhelming majority of the American people. In flatly rejecting the protest by Dr. Hans Thomsen, German Charge d'Aftary of State, declared that as long as newspapers in the Third Reich contimed to vilify American politicians, Germany could not expect retaila-tory attacks to cease. Mr. Welles exception of the Bank of London and termed the German note of protest.

Mexico and the Central Bank, none "ill graced" and having no propriety.

صكذامت الأصل

As Robert Frost remains and a case get it, anybody can be a common of her 46 years a canonic case among Chinese intellegal of for a different reason i ght could a white-faced lend age for writing about like in when no Chinese wifer he when he chinese wifer he ceived a Nobel Prize? sotheless, Pearl Buck to d the loyalty of milli s during her profife for a se a writer. She provided in sof China and the Chines in to this day. Largely because enerations of Americans in i the Chinese people with the and respect regardless of g political chimate. American public first id; with her classic. The Goy (1931). But as Harold is ed in his study, "Scratches a Vinds." American elites of & opinion-makers he had me d in government, the press he and the universities — was a ily and positively affected by ase depacted by Pearl Buck & rosty, such favorable images the dark decades of the kon the Victnam War and Main e Chinese continue to be a by the old issue of unfaine year, happily, the Nobel Care has announced that it is all) its jury at least one scholar ead Chinese; from now on () writers will have a chance it Pearl Buck's problems in (be stem from her stance toward ese revolution. Reared in the pi of the Confucian Empire & tually scomed both the seeing on of the Chiang Kai-shelds inp and the totalitarian barbara warmly applauded Preside ard Nixon's rapprochemes People's Republic in 1972. Yels ication for a visa to return to na home was angrily recentle ng, and within a year she halfel hrough decades of ideologicals cism, she held herself alon in sics. Her yearning, one sease, we the stability and screnity of Cipeasant life in the good place Confucian Empire, but he he ings about ugliness and sparet car she knew such times warps , she was sustained by fath it mph of the Chinese spirit is alleged, with some mil is never again wrote anythings it as the twin biographics dis ents, "Fighting Angel" and "k le," and "The Good Earth h argued that she wrote too E a "serious" artist: more that i iks of fiction and nonfiction is wrote primarily as a scotter nary, using her Nobel state ch as wide a public as post yaines from a mass readerships ant she could pay the institute is for her retarded child, for k ren adopted and foster children often shaky publishing host second husband, and especials pioneering charitable enters Pearl Buck was in several ser man before her time. As John ! wrote at the time of her is he anticipated nearly every s of the recent 'discoveries' d' anen's liberation movement lled by the condition of blats 30s America, she built dos s th women in Harlem and page th Fleamor Roosevelt in prome a cause of civil rights. She sail rly advocate of the control of weapons. In the late 1940s ship wrote publicly about her rust ughter, breaking a national in d inspiring the Kennedy fame hers to do the same. She brough merican conscience to bear of ight of the outcast offspring of processes and Asian women The greatest debt to Pead but wed by Americans and China eating an apparently median s both nations approach the off all of her birth in 1992 she less ans Pacific celebration.

The writer, a professor of history narnalism at Boston University's er curation of the Nieman Felius Harvard, is a specialist in And ass Anan relations. He counts is to The Washington Post the other (mancial house) ken advantage of the decree ince of police. The rebels at pre-E close around Tampico, and a al attack is expected soon 938: Germans Proles ASHINGTON — As officially ar protest at the bitter attacked and protest at the bitter attack established to be secretary of the inter regime by Secretary of the inter regime by Secretary to the secretary of the secretary of the State Department by the state rily of the American people is hornsen. German Charge set hornsen. German Underset in Summer Welles. Underset in of State declared has a decla erman) could not exper we in attacks to case. Mr. reserved the German note of property of the Comman not of property of the Comman not property. and having go prop

YEARS AGO

CRASH: Jet Disintegrated in Air

said Thursday night that 13 adults and 4 children in Lockerbie were missing and unaccounted for, and that the police had been unable to tell how many people died in the wreckage of five burned-out vehicles on the highway.

A spokesman for the police in the English county of Northumberland, south and east of the border, said that U.S. mail bags, letters, clothing, and personal effects from the plane had been found 80 miles from Lockerbie.

People from remote farms have been ringing up since early morning saying they have found items," he said. "It is possible they were carried such distances by the Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, who also went to the crash scene, said she would not speculate about whether a bomb had caused the plane to explode.

They are looking for evidence and I really think it must wait until they have found the evidence and then pronounce," she said.
The technical secretary of the British Airline Pilots Association, an fundamentalist Moslem group Freddie Yetman, said that only sabotage or structural failure could have destroyed the plane at 31,000 feet (9,500 meters). He added, "It seems to me that the possibility of structural failure is almost too re-

Commander George Churchill-Coleman, the anti-terforist chief called into the case, said that the authorities had been aware of the Federal Aviation Administration notice and had taken it seriously.

The Palestine Liberation Organization papers of Fireness committees

zation warned Effropean countries early this month that extremists who oppose the PLO's opening of a dialogue with the United States might begin terior attacks to dis-

Anonymous called to The Asso-ciated Press and United Press International news agenties in London said Thursday that a group called Guardians of the Islamic Revolution were responsible for the disaster. They said they they were retaliating for the shooting were retalisting for the shooting down of an Iranian Airbus by the U.S. Navy cruiser Vincennes in That incident, in which 290 passengers and crew on the civilian airliner died, happened because the ship mistakenly identified it as an attacking combat plane. Guardians of the Islamic Revolution is believed to be a pro-Iranibased in Lebanon. In July 1987, the group claimed responsibility for a car bombing in London that wounded Amirhus sein Amir-Parviz, chairman of the National Movement for Iranian WARNING: U.S. Alerted Envoys

(Continued from page 1) New York said that the airline had received a memorandum from the Federal Aviation Administration about the threat. The spokeswoman, Pam Hanlon, quoted the docu-ment as saying that the information it contained was "solely for the use of U.S. carriers and airport security personnel" and could not be disseminated further "without the specific approval of the director of civil aviation security."] Mrs. Oakley said that embassies were routinely notified because these tips might fit in with other information they might already have. She said that the regional security officer in Frankfurt gave the information to airport security and Pan Am security officials, and added that it was not up to the State Department "to dictate airport security."

"We receive dozens of these kinds of threats and the United States has to evaluate each one of them," she said. "In this instance even though it was an unverified threat, we took action." Mrs. Oakley insisted that it was premature to say definitely that the canse of the crash was a bomb or sabotage, aithough she said that this was "certainly a possibility." She announced that the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Transport Safety Board had sent representatives to investigate the crash along with teams from Pan Am and Boeing, the mak-Mrs. Oakley noted that a group calling itself Guardians of the Islamic Revolution had claimed responsibility for the crash in a telehone call in London. She said that a similarly named group had claimed responsibility for incidents last year, including attacks on Iranians in London opposed to Aya-tollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the Iraman leader. But she said there was no evidence that they were involved in the Pan Am crash.

Fitzwater Warns on Blame The White House spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater, was unable Thursday to answer a barrage of questions about why government employees were advised of the threat but the public was not. He cautioned against assigning blame. In terms of notifying the general public, I wouldn't try to pin responsibility," Mr. Fitzwater said. There are any number of people who are responsible. At this point the focus is on the crash." He indicated that there would be a review of the rules. A Pan Am employee at the airline's office in the embassy in Moscow, Enku Kebede, said the threat apparently was delivered to U.S. officials in Germany and was investigated by the West German se-

She said that she learned of the Liberation Organization had also threat from the memo in the em- denied involvement. (AP, UPI) bassy, not from Pan Am, and that more than a dozen customers had changed their flight plans. In Helsinki, the Foreign Minis try said that the Israeli and U.S. embassies had received several threats from an Arab resident this year, most recently on Dec. 5.

"In the investigation so far, no direct connection has been found between the Arab living in Finland and the air accident in question," the statement said. It said that "the suspected phone caller" had not left Finland since making his last threatening telephone call.

In Frankfurt, an airport security chief said that officials stepped up security at Pan Am after receiving threats against the carrier earlier this month

Other U.S. sources said that the Federal Aviation Administration told Pan Am early this month that the airline might be the target of a terrorist bombing on a flight from Frankfurt.

The Pan Am flight that crashed Wednesday in Scotland, killing all people aboard, originated in Frankfurt with a Boeing 727. Passengers were transferred to a 747 at Heathrow Airport in London.
At the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, a Dec. 13 circular from William C. Kelly, the administrative counselor, was posted on bulletin boards. It read, referring to the embassy: Post has been notified by the Federal Aviation Administration that on Dec. 5, 1988, an unidentified individual telephoned a U.S. diplomatic facility in Europe and stated that sometime within the next two weeks there would be a bombing attempt against a Pan American aircraft flying from Frankfurt to the United States. "The FAA reports that the reliability of the information cannot ssed at this point, but the appropriate police authorities have been notified and are pursuing the matter. Pan Am has also been noti-

In view of the lack of confirmation of this information, post leaves to the discretion of individual travelers any decisions on altering per sonal travel plans or changing to another American carrier."

Definis Harter, spokesman for the State Department task force assigned to deal with the crash, said that similar notices had been sent to all U.S. missions. But he said that such notices were routinely sent to U.S. embassies when threats were finde against American tar-gets, and a warning of that nature would not have been viewed as anything unusual." Mr. Fitzwater stressed that the United States had no evidence or information that sabotage caused the explosion aboard the plane. He noted that Prime Minister Mir Hussein Moussavi of Iran had categorically denied involvement in the crash, and that the Palestine

The Worst Air Disasters

The worst commercial airline disasters, before the crash Wednesday of a Pan American World Airways Boeing 747 in Scotland with 258 people abourd:
March 27, 1977: 583 killed in a runway collision of two Boeing 747s, operated by Pan American and KLM, on Tenerife in the Canary Islands. Aug. 12, 1985: 520 of 524 people aboard killed when a Japan Air Lines Boeing 747 crashed into a mountain on a domestic flight.

March 3, 1974: All 346 aboard killed when a Turkish Airlines DC-10 crashed in a forest 26 miles (42 kilometers) northeast of Paris after takeoff from Orly Airport.

June 23, 1985: All 329 aboard killed when an Air-India Boeing 747 crashed off the coast of Ireland, apparently after an explosion.

Ang. 19, 1980: All 301 aboard killed when a Saudi Arabian Airlines L-1011 Lockheed TriStar jet caught fire shortly before takeoff at the airport in Riyadh.

July 3, 1988: All 290 aboard killed when an Iran Air A300 Airbus was shot down over the Gulf by the U.S. cruiser Vincennes after being mistaken for an attacking plane.

May 25, 1979: All 273 aboard and 2 persons on the ground killed when an American Airlines DC-10 crashed on takeoff from O'Hare International Airport in Chicago.

Sept. 1, 1983: All 269 aboard killed when a Korean Air 747 was shot down by a Soviet fighter after flying through Soviet airspace near Sakhalin Island.

Nov. 28, 1979: All 257 aboard killed when an Air New Zealand DC-10 en route from Auckland struck Mount Erebus in Antarctica.

Dec. 12, 1985: All 256 killed when an chartered Arrow Air DC-8 carrying members of the 101st Airborne Division crashed on takeoff at Gander, Newfoundland.

Jan. 1, 1978: Ali 213 aboard killed when an Air-India 747 en route to Dubai exploded and crashed into the sea after takeoff from Policemen examining the nose of the jet four miles from Lockerbie, Scotland. Pieces fell up to 80 miles from the main point of impact.

P. Klein G. Kosmowski M. Kulukundis

R. Leckburs

M. Luerbke

L Mareck

A History Of Trouble On the 747

The Pan Am 747 that crashed Wednesday in Scot-land was the 15th oldest model delivered by Boeing Co. and had a history of trouble that included cracks and corrosion, U.S. records show.

The troubles are cited in service reports filed to the Federal Aviation Administration by Pan American World Airways. A computer study of seven years of these reports showed that, since 1980, the plane had experienced at least 24 mechanical difficulties severe enough to warrant official no-

A Boeing spokesman said that the plane was taken out of service from April 11 to Sept. 27, 1987, when it underwent substantial modifications. He said the modification "invalidates" the prior difficulty reports, because any structural deficiencies would have been repaired at that time.

The aircraft was put into the "civil reserve air fleet," an air force program that modifies civilian jetliners for future use in war or national emergency. It was disassembled and structural parts were reinforced. For example, floor beams were strengthened to allow cargo to be carried.

The spokesman said that the plane's usage over the years has not been above average. He said that it had flown an estimated 72,000 hours and made about 16,500 "cycles," a cycle being a takeoff and land-

The largest number of difficulty reports occurred last year, while the aircraft was out of service for modifications. They numbered 11. Six reported corrosion and cracks.

VILLAGE: A Hellish Night

(Continued from page 1) to find her. After a few minutes' search, she found her sister-in-law crouched beside a neighborhood church, nursing an injured ankie and seeking refuge from the falling

Lockerbie, with 2 500 residents. has been so quiet that people here have almost forgotten the last big disaster to strike their town. That was on May 14, 1883, when, according to a historical sketch by Thomas Henderson, 13 persons were killed and 13 injured by a "railway smash" at Lockerbie sta-

The people of Lockerbic seemed unlikely to forget the latest disas-ter. Chief Constable John Boyd said 13 adults and four children had been reported missing and were still unaccounted for after a day of searching in several of the hardest-hit areas.

Mr. Boyd said he was unsure whether all of the highway travelers had been accounted for. A rescue official explained that most bodies recovered so far have not been identified, which has left open the question of whether they came fall-ing from the sky or were killed on the ground.

The police posted a list of Lockerbie residents who have moved into new lodging, hoping to reas-sure relatives. But the list carried no explanation, and some elderly men and women strained to understand whether the names were those of victims or those of suri-

Syracuse Mourns Hundreds clustered around the chapel at Syracuse University after learning that 38 students were aboard Flight 103. Many listened to prayers, and many uttered the refrain, "It can't be true," The Associated Press reported for Syracused Press reported sociated Press reported from Syracuse. New York.

"It still hasn't really hit," said Chris Healy, a junior from Seaford. He said one of his friends was among the students booked on the List of Victims in Pan American Airliner Tragedy

(no oddress furnished). Michigan.

NEW YORK -Pan Am issued a list Thursday of the names of the 16 crew aboard Flight 103:

COCKPIT CREW Capt. Jim MacQuarrie, 55 Exeter. N.H. 1st Officer Ray Wagner, 52 Pennington, N.J. Fil. Eng. Jerry Avritt, 46 Westminster, Cal. Nurphy. 51 Wickehom, England Veliminavich, 15 Heston. England FLIGHT ATTENDANTS Siv Engatrom, 51 Elizabem Avayne, 44
Noelle Berli, 41
Elike Kuhne, 43
Nieves Larrocoechec
Paul Garrett, 41
Myriz Royal, 30
Slocie Franklin, 25 tria Skabo, 38 Likabeth Macala

J. Ahern S. Aicher J. Akerstrom R. Alexander T. Ammermon M. Apfelbourn R. Aszelsky W. Aikinson C. Beccolchi Horry Belniprid S. Rozelovi

A. Berkley J. Bernstein M. Bernstein x-Steve Berrell 5. Bhatia x-Kenneth John Hamburg, N.Y.

Landon.
New Jersey.
New Jersey.
Perinsylvania. T. Burmon M. Buser W. Buser S. Butter W. Cedmon H. Coffaron (no oddress furnished) (no oddress furnished) V. Conody G. Capasso x-Tirnothy Co Bernt Cortsson R. Cowley F. Civilia x-Theodora Coh Sweden New York

x-Treadord Cat x-Eric Coker x-Jason Coker x-Gary Calasan Bridget Concor Thomas Cancar T. Carner x-Scott Corv W. Coursey P. Coyle J. Cummock Old Lyme, Conn pton, Conn. New York.

LL DIAH Londo ie, nj

2 Bomb Scares Disrupt Flights Of U.K. Airline

ROME — A British Airways TriStar triple jet with 242 passen-gers and 13 crew aboard made an unscheduled landing at Rome's Leonardo Da Vinci airport Thursday after receiving a warning there was a bomb aboard the plane. In London, a bomb scare delayed another British Airways flight at Heathrow Airport. That plane, a Boeing 747, took off five hours late for the United States. Flight controllers in Rome said the warning that led to the landing there had been received by British Airways in London and radioed to the pilot of the plane, which was en route to London from Kuwait. The departure of Flight 279 from London to Chicago was delayed after "B-B" was found written in lipstick on a toilet mirror, a passenger, Elaine Katz, said. She said that the 280 passengers disembarked and stood on the runway as baggage was unloaded. Passengers were asked to identify their luggage and it was reloaded. (UPI, Reuters)

Utics, N.Y. Joseph K. Miller, 56 J. Mitchell Frankfurt New York (no oddress turnished), (no oddress turnished), (no oddress turnished) (Rochest K. Noonan D. O'Connor (no address turnished). (no address turnished). (no address turnished). New York. (no address turnished). United Kingdom. Rochester, N.Y. New York. s-Koren Hunt, 2

(no oddress furnished). (no oddress furnished). (no oddress furnished). Hodley, Moss. len Island, N.Y. Brooklyn, N.Y.

D. Trimmersmiti x-Alexia Tsairis, Barry Valentino, Oxford, England Che, Oble, Ohle, Ohle, Ohle, Ohle, Ohle, Ohle, Lendon, New York, Derlington, N.J. Otney, Md. (no address furnished).

(no oddress furnished).
United Kingdom.
(no oddress furnished).
(no oddress furnished).

- Bernt Carlsson, a pa

tions authority over Namibia is not recognized by South Africa, he is in practice the chief UN officer in charge of development programs intended to prepare Namibia for

Mr. Carlsson, 51, a Swedish diplomat, had been in London for a meeting with nongovernmental

Bernt Carlsson

ing gate at Heathrow Airport be-fore the flight to New York. From 1983 to 1985 Mr. Carlsson served as a Swedish ambassador at large and special emissary to the Middle East and Africa. He was general secretary of the Socialist nternational, the world federation parties, from 1976 to 1983. He also served as international secretary of the Swedish Social Democratic Party and as undersecretary of state for Nordic affairs in the Swedish Foreign Ministry.

of socialist and social democratic

John Mulroy, 59, An AP Executive

NEW YORK (AP) - John Mulroy, director of international communications for The Associated Press, died along with five family members in the Pan Am crash. Mr. Mulroy, 59, joined the AP in August 1984 after 25 years with Pan Am, where he had been director of communications. A native of County Mayo, Ireland, he main-

Michael Bernstein, 36, U.S. Justice Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Justice Department employee, Michael Bernstein, was killed in the Pan Am crash. Mr. Bernstein, 36, worked in the Office of Special Investigations, the department's Nazi-hunting unit. He had been in Austria negotiating a treaty that would allow some former Nazis in the United States to be returned to that country.

A U.S. A-10 Crashes in U.K.

The Associated Press OVER, England - A U.S. Air Force pilot ejected safely from an A-10 jet fighter Thursday before it crashed. It was the second crash of an A-10 in Europe in two weeks.

PARIS - LONDON - NEW YORK MONTE-CARLO - GENEVA - MILAN AND ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY CARTIER STORES IN MAJOR CITIES WORLDWIDE

EUROPEAN TOPICS

Christmas in Sicily: A Political Crib

On Christmas Day throughout Italy, families go strolling to admire the traditional Christmas crèches displayed in churches and public squares. This time, those visiting the creche at the Roman Catholic archbishop's palace in Palermo may be in for a shock, for it depicts the political and social symbols of Sicily's poverty and

The little wooden, ivory and about smoking in the workclay figures that make up the place display were assembled by Cardinal Salvatore Pappalardo, the archbishop of Palermo, who heads the church in Sicily and is an outspoken enemy of the Mafia. The most imposing figurine is that of Polypherms, Sicily's mythical Cyclops who threw boulders at Ulysses and his companions. He represents violence. There is a crying woman kneeling on a tomb, symbolizing women whose sons, brothers or husbands have been slain in Mafia vendettas. Away from the main group stands a lonely tion's broadcasts. carabiniere, a paramilitary po-liceman. "He tries to bring some order but he doesn't succeed," Cardinal Pappalardo

A large snail symbolizes the slow pace at which regional and local authorities deals with the island's problems. Next to it, a statuette of the Madonna, "to give us the courage and strength to go forward."

Around Europe

Prisoners in the northern Dutch town of Veenhuizen will make steel cell doors as part of a program aimed at teaching con-victs a profession. Under the project, the first of its kind in the Netherlands, 20 volunteers are learning steel construction techniques at the workshop of Esserheem prison. The twoyear courses in welding, lathing and milling cost an annual 3,000 guilders ($1,500) per inare Asians or Latin Americans convicted of drug smuggling. They are the most motivated of all, a prison spokesman said, because the training may help them find work once they go

The European Commission has proposed a ban on smoking in public places throughout the EC's 12 member states. The commission called Wednesday for a ban on smoking in schools, hospitals, theaters, musenms, sports arenas, trains, buses and terminals. Bars and restaurants were not included, but the commission said member states would be "free to include them." The proposal provides for employers and employees to decide jointly Czechoslovakia has halted electronic januaring of Radio Free Europe, according to a spokesman for the U.S.-financed radio station, which is based in Munich. The station broadcasts programs in Czech and Slovak 20 hours a day. The jamming was stopped last week for the first time since 1951, when the radio started to beam its broadcasts to Eastern Europe. Bulgaria now remains the only East European country that still interferes with the sta-it will be illegal in Britain to dance after midnight in public places on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve because both days fall on a Saturday, John N. Spencer, a chief legal adviser to magistrates in England and Wales, reports in The Times of London. Under the 1870 Sunday Observance Act, it is a criminal offense to keep premises open for public entertainment and for an admittance fee "upon any part of the Lord's Day." There are some excep-tions to the law, including spe-cial permits for nightclubs to stay open until 2 or 3 A.M., but there is no general exemption for public dancing. There is a case for "mild reform," Mr. Spencer said, because it seems slightly unfair that a seedy nightclub may stay open but the local village hall must close."

Sytske Looijen

Alliance of Guerrillas Seems Unready to Lead A Postwar Afghanistan

By Henry Kamm New York Times Service

PESHAWAR, Pakistan --- Less than two months before the last Soviet soldier is to leave Afghanistan, the Afghan guerrilla alliance is displaying as much indecision as the government of Major General Najib, which the Soviet withdrawal is thought to doom.

The United States and Pakistan have channeled billions of dollars in arms and equipment to fighters across the border through the alliance, which Washington and Is-lamabad hope will form Afghanistan's first post-Communist government. But officials of the group's seven parties, military commanders and diplomats in Islam-abad and Peshawar — the alliance's base - say the group is not ready to provide the national leadership it is likely to be asked to give.

"The alliance as a cohesive body is not at all in a position to go and do that," a senior official of a party in the alliance said. "We did not even reach a consensus on meeting with the Soviets, which is a very basic thing."

The first high-level meetings between alliance leaders and Soviet representatives were held in Taif, Saudi Arabia, from Dec. 3 to 5. The talks were to begin laying the groundwork for a political settle-ment before Feb. 15, the date Moscow is to complete its military withdrawal under accords signed in Geneva last April.

The two alliance leaders who met with Yuli M. Vorontsov, a first deputy foreign minister and the Soviet ambassador to Kabul, were Burhanuddin Rabbani of the Jamiat-i Islami group, who is nearing the end of his three-month term as chairman, and Sibghatullah Mujaddidi of the Afghan National Liberation Front, who is to take over the chairmanship

Both sides described the meeting as satisfactory and agreed to continue the sessions soon. Alliance officials and diplomats say they expect the next round of talks to open this month in Islamabad.

Swiss Withdraw Envoys in Lebanon on Wednesday night with his wife, that the embassy would remain

> Mr. Pache said the Swiss government had received a warning through diplomatic channels that all Swiss nationals were in danger. prompted a suspension of activities by the International Committee of the Red Cross in Lebanon this appealed to all Swiss nationals to leave in February, and renewed the call Dec. 2 after a letter was received from Peter Winkler, a Red Cross worker who was then held

Mr. Winkler referred in his letter s by his captors that the Swiss government free Hussein Mohammed Hariri, a Lebanese awaiting trial in Switzerland on charges of hijacking.

The negotiations are viewed as a significant Soviet concession and a major opportunity for the alliance. But almost no word on the substance of the talks appears to have reached the alliance from its representatives, and no joint planning of negotiating strategy is under way.

Even more significant, in the view of alliance officials and military commanders, is the absence of coordinated military and political planning for the period of transition facing the nation, when only Afghans will be confronting each other on the military and political battlegrounds.

The overriding question is the future of Kabul. The capital is the country's only major population center that has survived nine years of war largely intact. It is a place of refuge for an estimated 1.5 million people displaced by the war, who have swollen the city's population

The alliance faces the vital questions of whether to negotiate with the Soviets for a peaceful transfer of power, as Moscow proposes; to wait for the Najib government to collapse after the Soviet troops have gone; to attack Kabul outright; or to combine political and military pressures after Feb. 15.

The seven parties' military commanders consider Kabul the war's surpreme prize. Yet any move to seize the city is thought to carry, as an immediate consequence, a cutoff of essential Soviet supplies. Military and political representatives of the alliance said that the parties and commanders had reached no agreement on these questions, and that no top-level discussions were taking place.

A military leader, discussing Kabul residents' fears of a full-scale war in the city, said: "If I was a citizen of Kabul, I would worry as much as they do. I would worry even more. We want the regime and the Soviets to go. But how should we kick the regime out and save the people? Should we destroy the city, as the Soviets do? I don't want to make war against my own people. And there is the danger of famine."

He said that he and other commanders would try to work out a plan of their own if the political leaders did not reach crucial decisions within three weeks.

"The alliance as a whole does not have a common platform from where we can start toward an administration," a political official said. "I'm afraid we don't even have enough qualified people to fill a single ministry. It's that acute."

■ Guerrillas to Confer

Afghan guerrilla groups will meet in Iran to discuss strategy for a new round of talks with Moscow, Reuters reported from Islamabad.

A rebel spokesman said that Mr. Rabbani, the alliance chairman, would lead a delegation to meet representatives of eight guerrilla groups based in Iran. "An agenda fering to buy it. and date for the next round of talks with the Russians will be an- Lombard was fully aware of the office. An Antibes dealer came forspokesman said.

REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE

GERMANY

ITALY

MONACO

MONTE CARLO

Herald Eribune

ARMENIA: Troops Give Yerevan the Look of a City Under Military Rule session of the Nagorno-Karabakh Autonomous Region, an enclave in Azerbaijan with an Armenian majority, has become the Kremlin's most intractable domestic political

(Continued from page 1)

tank. His face and tone of voice

Military officials at the army headquarters, which overlooks Ye-revan from a hill in the north of the city, said they did not know when prises are working at 100 percent, when all the students are showing up for classes, when it is felt that the safety of Soviet citizens in Yerevan is secure, then this will end," said Colonel Mikhail M. Sorokin, a member of the Yerevan army com-

The Soviet authorities describe the state of emergency as regrettably necessary to contain nationalist passions that raged out of control, claiming scores of lives in the

Mr. Bernard alleges that an inventory of paintings accompanying the wills was typed on a machine found

Two reputable sources in Switzerland had earlier written to Christie's when they saw the sale catalogue, pointing out that, to the best of their knowledge, the Murillo painting still belonged to Mrs. Canson, whom they knew personally and who was by then reported-ly emaciated and senile. Mr. Bernard alleges Mr. Lombard was aware of this.

In addition, French customs officials filed two reports, saying the pictures belonged to Mrs. Canson

and had been illegally exported, but these either did not reach the right desks or if they did, they were ignored, according to investigators.

They say Mr. Rosenberg was aware the painting had not been bequeathed to Mrs. Pesnel's grandmother in 1979 because he twice wrote to Mrs. Canson in 1981 of-

Mr. Bernard alleges that Mr.

in Mr. Lombard's office.

mand staff.

and Azerbaijan.

"When all the industrial enter-the troops would be withdrawn.

registered shock and dismay.

What began with street demonstrations and petitions grew into widespread civil disobedience as the Kremlin refused to comply with Armenian demands, Meanwhile, the dispute fed a volatile historically rooted bitterness between the dominantly Moslem Azerbaijanis.

Mr. Gorbachev initially responded with appeals for calm and compromise, but his patience wore thin as the Armenians kept up a campaign of public protest and maneuvers in the largely sympathetic Armenian legislature. Armenians generally believe that Mr. Gorbachev seized on the earthquake as a pretext to begin a concerted assault neighboring republics of Armenia Since February, the dispute between the two republics over pos- on nationalist organizers.

of documentary evidence.

facturing fortune.

in good faith. A painting by Francesco Guardi was found with a dealer in Paris, who said he had paid 15,000 france for it.

REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE

SWITZERLAND

SCHOENRIED/GSTAAD

Yerevan writers union building and Armenians had tried to disrupt relief efforts by organizing de

Soviet troops in riot gear stand guard in Yerevan, where security has been stepped up to discourage actions by Armenian nationalists.

Friends and relatives of the arrested men deny the charges, contending that the committee was simply trying to organize its own, alternative reher effort because 50 many Armenians did not trust Moscow to deliver donated goods.

strations and spreading rumors.

Demonstrators demanding the release of the nationalist leaders clashed with the police in the streets of Yerevan the next day.

Mr. Gorbachev, who had flown to the region to inspect the quake damage, furiously denounced the protest leaders for failing to set two-way exodus of refugees.

On Dec. 10, police raided the aside their political campaign at a time of tragedy.
With public attention focused on with public attention focused on the earthquake, the arrests have continued. Seven of the 11 committee the members are in custodia. bers and friends predict will be extended as long as it suits official

> The mood in Yerevan has changed markedly since September, when the authorities briefly lifted a ban on travel to the republic by foreign reporters.

The virtually nonstop, open-air political discussions that raged out-side the city's neoclassical opera. house have ended. The square beside the opera house is now ringed by tanks and troops, who wear bui-. letproof vests at nightfall.

And throughout Armenia, bitterness toward Azerbaijan is unabated, maintained by a continuing Murillo's painting of a Spanish gentleman is at issue.

BERN — Switzerland has with-drawn its diplomats from Lebanon delegates from the international Mr. Pache said the Swiss s because of threats against them, a Committee of the Red Cross.

Foreign Ministry spokesman said

"We pulled the ambassador out because the situation is really diffi-The last to go was Ambassador cult and dangerous," said the It was the same warning that Dino Sciolli, who sailed for Cyprus spokesman, Michel Pache. He said prompted a suspension of activities

GAS: U.S. Weighs Action on Libya tined for the manufacture of aerial

(Continued from page 1) the world, not to mention dozens of factories that produce such weap-

According to U.S. intelligence David Brinkley.

David Brinkley.

When Mr. Brinkley asked whethsources, the chemical factory is part of a larger complex located 56 er any military action had been kilometers (35 miles) southwest of discussed with the allies, Mr. Rea-Tripoli in a chain of low-lying hills. gan said that "we are discussing The complex, built with the help of private firms from a number of completely so that there there is no European countries, includes a mo-talworks plant built by Japan Steel chemical weapons factory, "and Works that is believed to be des- one of tremendous size."

bombs and canisters.

Mr. Reagan made his comme in a taped interview with ABCs with them and we want to pin down

The Swiss government, he said,

Mr. Winkler was released last

REAL ESTATE INVESTMENTS

FLORIDA LAND

also knew Mrs. Pesnel had offered

Reaching More Than a Third of a Million Readers

REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE

MONACO

MONTE CARLO

INTERNATIONAL REAL ESTATE MARKETPLACE

お客様が最高の条件でパリ生活を始められるよう、 高級不動産に関するすべての業務をお任せください。 ―マンション・邸宅・シャトー、住宅・オフィスの セレクション。 ~不動産閉発プロジェクト、ジョイントベンチャーの オーガナイズ。 - 行政・法律・税制、その他技術上のアシスタンス。 - 改築・インテリアデザイン。 - お手持ちのあらゆる不動産の管理。 GROUPE PIERRE BATON 21-23, avenue Paul-Doumer, 75116 Pans Tél.(1) 47.04.55.55 Téléfax, 45.53.00.93

FRANCE

UNITED KINGDOM

会社創立1953年

= LUXURY = FURNISHED PROPERTIES Beautiful newly refurnished 3 bed/2 both mews house with garage for sale £275,000 OR rent £575.00 per week. Long let. Also: luxury 1 and 2 bedroomed flats to let. Mayfair and Hyde Park for company Landon 935 7024. Fax: 935 0852.

Renting out your HOLIDAY HOME? The AA can help For only £28.75 we will put your property on our new computerised AA EUROPEAN PROPERTY REGISTER for the whole of 1989. To find out more, phone 021 501 7805, U.K.

SPAIN

日本人スタッフがお迎えします。

- MADRID -

VISO: FOR SALE Chamming luxury. 3 bed. 2 beam. Apartment ground floor Sur-rounded by garden. 150 s.gm. + garage + swimming pool. Price 62,000,000 Pits.
MORALE.Ma. VILLA POR SALE 650 so.m.
5 bed 4 beth. Service quarters on 2 000
s.gm. grounds laway smartness including.
disconfecule 4 swimming pool. Pros.
150,000,000 - Pits.
150,000,000 - Pits.

CHAMBERI: TO LET. New returbshed flat in period building, 3 bed, 3 bath. Price. 250,000 - Plass month. Jones Lang Wootton VELAZILIEZ, 85, 7° 20008 MADRID TEL: 522 52 85 FAX: 522 78 24 TX, 43283 JLW M

LONDON RESIDENTIAL LETTING AGENTS

KENWOODS

FURNISHED APTS/HOUSES LONDON/SUBURBS SHORT/LONG LETS TEL: (1) 402 2271 TLX: 25271; FAX: 01 262 3750 23 SPRING ST, LONDON W2 1JA

A RECOGNIZAÇÃO DE COMO DE COMPANSA DE COMP

APARTMENT BURDING for sole in Frozidiert. 6 opportments and shops, excellent condains etc., excellent pub-fic treesport, 4 mis, to inner city, it a sound envestment for US$1,700,000. Mr Kassler, P O Box 60 04 33, D-6000 Frozidium/Moin 60 Orlando 275 acres, Proposed in trial, int'l cirport area. $15,000/acre.
 OTHER PROPERTIES AVAILABLE ITALIAN RIVIERA SAN REMO (25 miles from Monte Corlo) Contact: D. Nickels Realtor 100 Percent Real Estate, Inc. 1810 Lee Road, Orlando, Pl. 32810 USA Tel: 407-299-8100 In fine neighborhood, broutful oper-ment chost 90 sam. Iving spote, 50 cous entry, 2 long bedroom, both room, Iving room, equipped tricken plu odjouent supporte storage room, 4 doo-wolf-weathobs in private dressing area wolf/wordrobe in private dessing area, large terrace, economic certail gas beding, beasened calker, portice, chourt 00 sp.m. of private largely powed frost yard with variety of tree. Owner teasonarily here, a US resident, Price USS200,000 firm Rephy to: D 7977/46, Formo Posta, San Remo Centro. REAL ESTATE FOR SALE FRENCH PROVINCES MARINA BAJE DÉS ANGES NECE FLORENCE
Downtown class to Forts Vecchio, negotiment 140 sq.m. aporteent in hypcar Florentine poloco. Furnished with elegant entiques and all sorts of comfort. US$ 520,000. Contact. International Hernál Tribune, Box 135, via Cassala 6, 20122 Milana. Tels (59-2) 837 5134. 18th Floor Afaktivænt 190 sq.m. + 150 sq.m. terrace assignous decoration, superb view furnished, Tel: Paris (1) 47 61 02 10 FRENCH REVIERA, 10 mire Nice ci-port, splendid posoromic see 8 more-ten view or climat 2 dones prise land, 5000 sp.ft estate, independent studio, guest house. F6_550,000. FRANCE FROMOTION 9: 97 46 50 Fredorigue JACKSON PROVENCE Old and modern houses LANGLOYS realize 13520 LES BALK Tel: 76 60 94 31. Fax 76 90 71 71. for sole, 360 sq.m., 2 living rooms, claing room, office, 3 befrooms, 3 bothwooms, fully equipped lichnes, wooden floor, 2 callors, 4 storage callors, 2 porting goods.

PARCHAMIC VIEW HALANDER, ATHENS: Luxury Trade Center, area 4850 sq.m., 70 shops of the highest standards, roof garden, puncreased lift. Bandy to caccapy. Sole costs societe assumme which may be acquired in tend. Contact. Michael K. Asservaries SA, 31 Kiffsatos Ave., At-hers 115-23. Tel: 646/9328/9, The 21-0428 MKA GR For further details please contact: A.G.E.D.I. 26 bis, 8d Princese Charlotte MC 98000 MCNACO Tell 93:506600 Toles 479417 MC Fax 93:50 19 42 GREAT BRITAIN

RREATHTAKINGLY RECENTLY refurbished elegant mewn boxes in central London W8 crec. Emy occess to Healthrow Airport, 3 double bedrooms, 2 bailmonns, one en sulla, spocous 31 foot drawing care cincumproom, one chostrooms, fully fitted littchen and the value is £425,000. Contact: MAtclanny, 7 Leadures Gerdens Mews, London W8. Tol. 01-370(2)9 or write ofth: Malcrey, HT Box 1466, Singspore 9029 MONTE CARLO Between the Caseno and the secchaming ald building enterly renewed with class by Italian designers: 5 floors, 800 sq.m. Would be ideal for presigous offices, i.e. private banks, itserants companies et:
English regi estate apportunity in Meste Carlo. For all details and brockers please call
Mil. LEION, SOLE AGENT
PARK AGENCE RNIERNATIONAL
LE Park Polices
Tel: 93 25 15 00
Free 93 25 35 33 FOR REAL ESTATE INVESTMENTS, near London City Airport. Tel: London 01-252-1235.

MONTE CARLO
Beautiful 10 sp.m. opartment in a high class building very close to the Cosino Place and Gardens. Air conditioning, large living room + 1 bedroom + 1 tr
buths + furnished lottchan + terrace with see view + caller and porting space. F4,000,000
EXCULSIVITY
PARK AGENCE INTERNATIONAL Le Park Palace
12, 53 25 15 00
Fore 93 25 35 33 PARIS & SUBURBS OWNER SELLS in the heart of 6th, nea Luxembourg courdens, charming Luxembourg gordens, charming gorthmeri, dout 75 sq.m., enterting fitted, very colet, on private planted costyard gorden, F3,000,000. Visit by apparatment [1] 43 29 52 58. SPAIN COSTA DEL SOL, mique property with view on see & Suerta Nevocta, 8 bedrooss, 8 boths, 2 swimming pools, fronton teems etc. Top keep Moorth style, Ideal for formity or legit dose beeness head a certain or legit dose beeness head a certain or more pools. For information call or write owner, D. H. 1623 Polic de Caballos, Carro del Toril, Torremolinos, Mologo, Spain (34-23) 38 46 27.

LA MANGA Golf, soling, best beaches. Penthouses with Institution. SZ 38 46 27.

LA MANGA - Golf, miles, best bacches. Pertitosus with fontestic terreces, openiments/villes in prima lecetions. Good financing, Alto Casta Del Soi. Property international, PO Box 25/6, 5022 Berger, Novey, Tel. 475 201972 or Spoin 968-564959

A SECTION OF THE CONTRACT OF THE PRIMARY OF THE PR CENTER OF MONTE CARLO MAGNIFICENT
SPLIT-LEVEL APARTMENT ALBSR. 3-bed house, sec-mountai views, pool, stables, paddock. Sharin £125,000. Tel: Alicante Spain: 88 74 3 MARBELLA. LUNGEY villa, 6 beds, boths, pool, $295,000. Quick sale. Co Helland x31-70-240650. SWITZERLAND

PRIME PROPERTY IN SWITZERIAND'S SIRRIGIT
LAKE LIGAND
Waterfront property in MORCOTE-7 mals from Ligano, Lourry oportments and lower houses with postatorist view of late and incursions. 2.5 rooms, fullyopplionced incident bothrooms and latchese, large samy letroons induoparting, howele assumming pool and sathropical wegetation. Privalle bertis, SER 480,000 - SER 790,000.

180,000 soft subtropical weterfront SR 480,000 - SR 770,000.

180,000 - sq.ft subtropical waterfront property in MEBS. - 3 miles from Lugane, Lusury opentment 1400 sq.ft, and 441 sq.ft, pursy terrors, possonant, wiw of ledus & mountains, Indoor parting, heated swimming pool. Principle herits, 5750,000, Low down poyment, Attractive Swiss mortgages. Approved for sole to foreigners.

SMERAID HOME LTD.

VIA POCCOBELLI 25
CH-68 15 MEBS (LIGANO)
Tel: CH-91-684523
Fox: CH-91-6847344

Wanderful enspailed view on the Gatood Valley Magnificant appartment 123 squ. + 40 sq.m. balanny large living with freplace, driving area, fully lucerously equipped histores, 1 violar's WC Connected with 2 further bachoose and bathrooms 40 sq.m. 3 garages, calors Only for Swies distants or realdent parmit C Str. 1,290,000 Tel: 41-22-34 12 20 Face 41-22-34 12 20 LAKE OF GENEVA Non-Swiss con elso purchose 1936 monsion, mony rooms, 8 boths, 13,000 scns. gorden lon French side of Lobal, Reply Bos 043, Herold Tribuna, 97521 Naully Cadox, France. ARTZONA - 80 ACRES Owner Insti-dution. Renchland growing area. No credit required. Take over bolance also $18,000.00. Just $300.00 down 8, mo. Box $457, Scottadole, AZ 82271 USA RESIDENTIAL FABULOUS TRUMP TOWER Catch a condo in the sky. Fobsices chy views from high floor, mortise boths, state-of-the-ort hickes, 2 bedroom, 2
boths, diving area oil in mint condition, Priced for immediate sole, owner relocation.

Joan Weltz 212-891-7095/734-6567 DOUGLAS ELLIMAN Machattan-Studio-East 76th Street between Vork Ave, & East Best. L. shaped studio/alcove, separete latehet/dressing area, caston doest, brend few corpet & window treatment. Excellent condition, air conditioning, documen busing, $125,020. Cell Depts 212-273-6944, Evenings. 212-279-5985 USA WASHINGTON, DC fully famished I bedroom lusery aportment located in exclusive area of Arlinghas, overlooking Washington Marsumett, near Natural Arport, No charge Amenhos including spe, earries room, 24 hrs security, cancerge, rivois theoler, U.S. $95,000. Cell 305-074-3311.

WISCONSIN. 5UPERB LODGE Wisconsin. SUPERB LODGE-MANSION, Modern commodites, 40 ocres mendous, river, neor 400 ocres state lands, sparts area, sli lennis. Very private. Owner financing, Call France, 7028/BP7 or neyby Box Cy45, 811, 92521 Neutly Cades, France. new York City Suburbs. From volu-oble housing Information. Pichnes, prices, descriptions. Community high-lights, lifetyles. First Rocky Group. 451 Main 92. Armonik, NY 10504 USA; Tek 914-273-2100

4½ Room

AMTIGUA 12 stores beach land next to Boyol Antiguan Casino hotel. Approv-als/permits for hotel/condo develop-ment. Fax Conada 514-843-4783 REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE BELGIUM UXURY RUBNISHED VILLA. Neor Artwerp. On 8,000 sq.m. Hechel pool & source. Tel. 32-3-235666 pm, Sun-Thers. For: 32-32337014 citrs. Konig GERMANY BEAUSTRUI. 5-ROOM operiment, 250 so.m., fully femished in most representative 1900 holding in Munich, to sublet in 1989 for 6 - 12 months, DMS-500 /excels, Reply to Box 0408, III.H.T., Friedrichstr. 15, 6000 fronkfunt/Moin or 8x 5216/3/ ROS D GREAT BRITAIN

REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE

WEST INDIES

MAYFAIR 2 BEDS $400 PER WEEK
Vorious lunury flots, interior designed, bors, hitchess, fully serviced, TV, long/ short lets. Exallent value.
PARK LANE ESTATES London 629 0763 PAIR LANE STATES London 629 0763

LIDOURY EXECUTIVE APARTMENTS.

Krightshridge / Chelses. Fully serviced. All modern conveniences.

Health data Ministers stey 22 days.
Front $180/wk. NGH Apartments. 1st

John House. Score Ang. London Swign House.

Gos 5W2 97 5891105. The 255817 G.

LONDON LIXXURY operiments of centred cracs, scalaring Moyleir + Knightshridge. Ministers with 180 to 180

Georgian Townhouse, mniques, journal, maid, 190 mg/sty £550 weekly, Tel London 235 1233.

REAL ESTATE REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE TO RENT/SHARE GREAT BRITAIN LONDON HOUDAY STUDIOS & Apartments 1-8 weeks from £125 week. Tel 01 482 2009 tiz 923/53 70s EAST MAGNIFICENT RIVER VIEWS. HOLLAND We wish you all a NERRY CHRISTIMAS and a VERY GOOD NEW YEAR DUTCH HOUSING CENTRE BY """ Delance rearticks """" Valeriustr. 174, 1075 GH Anglerdus Tel: 31.20.664.4444, Face 664.5354 Begant descretation on high near in-altro hearinst, centrally of-conditioned rental building. Southern exposure from floor-to-calling window walls. 27-th living room, finding mortiol & consultation walls, in. Gloss-enclosed rooting, pool overal-tals. NO FEE. Rent stabilized. $2,210, Coll Mrs. Hasseand of 212,349-7123. ITALY ROME - APARTMENTS/VELAS rent or tole in the best drees. Gunesi Real Estate. Tel: 06 - 318690 or 312336. PARIS AREA FURNISHED

BOCA RATON, FLORIDA On the Beach. Townhouse, 3 bedrooms, 2, boths, pool. Sundeck. New designer. furniture and oppliances. Secondal $5700/month. Acoud. $6200/month., Bosenthal Rhy, Inc. 407-241-0568. in Ports. By day or more
With all possible hotel services looseleaning, room service_sit Studio up to 5 rooms, NEW YORK CITY Fied-o-terre/office to show $1,000 per receit. Fox, copier, word processer, phones. Tel: (203) 485-1240 USA, 9-5. FLATOTEL TOWER on the Ever Seine, right baside the Still Towns.
FLATOTE EXPO a few meters from the exhibition center Porte de Verseille
For more information
Call 45 77 05 55 REAL ESTATE

WANTED/EXCHANGE WILL EXCHANGE SPECTACULAR HOME in Los Altos Hills, Colifornio. July, 1989. 25 yerd Institled pool, hot-but, cold plangs, sounts, exercise-room, guest/staff quorien, stoff included, 1-12 cores, negorillarest views of hills and bay, 35-miles south of Son Francisco - for some little of exempelations and inferences. J. Covers, photos and inferences. J. Covers, 27635 Red Rock Rd. Los Altos Hills, CA 94022 Will trade opertment in Houston, Toxon, USA for small treshold stone traces, USA for small treshold stone traces near sea in Provence, France, Houston opertment is familiate to the highest standard and location, 2 bads, 2 balts, swimming pool, Particulars PJ Bruns, CO: 1 Lang More House, 4 Corners, RAF BFPO 52, Gibralto,

MANHATTAN

45.62.30.00 FAX 42.89.21.54 A NEW WAY OF STAYING IN PARIS THE CLARIDGE RESIDENCE FOR 1 WEEK OR MORE FOR 1 WEEK OR MORE high class studio, 2 or 3-room oportunets. FULLY EQUIPPED IMMEDIATE RESERVATIONS.
Tel: 43 59 67 97

Embassy Service

YOUR REAL ESTATE

AGENT IN PARIS

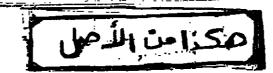

NOTRE DAME

New on Seine, 3/4 room ducter + parking, F13,000. Embassy 45 62 30 00 Tet: UK 402 6165.

MAYS RISHTAL PROPRETES In UK.
Offices in SW Lendon, Surrey, Sensor and aportments in output Paris, and Systems. Tel: 037284-3811, telen.
8953112.

MAYFAIR- Near the Ritz respected.
MAYFAIR- Townshouse, mitigates, 184 3 3 44 80. PARIS AREA UNFURNISHED HUNTINGDON HOUSE, bearford serviced apparaments from 1 to 4 bed-rooses in Central Landon Teb (1-373 4525, Telen: 25293, Fax: 01-473 6576.

Reaching More Than a I hird of a Million Readersin 164 Countries Around the World.

er Military Rule

their political campaign at of tragedy.

th public attention focused a sarthquake, the artests be much. Seven of the 11 comments of the 12 comments are in custody.

nembers are in custody, some ay sentences that family no tanks and troops, who was

s toward Azerbaijan is make maintained by a coming o-way exodus of refugees woof vests at nightfall and throughout Armenia gentieman is at issue.

ī

TOTAL BEST

NISHEO

WER

ervice

STATE

ARIS 00 ; 54

the High

ESDENCE

FOREST STATOMS

AME

UDIOS & TOTAL

REAL ESTATE

TO RENT/SHE

MAGNIFICENT RIVER

Federal Control of the Control of th

REAL ESTAIL WANTED EXCHAN

and friends predict nded as long as it suits off he mood in Yerevan h aged markedly since some when the authorities bid d a ban on travel to the rout y foreign reporters. he virtually nonstop, open incal discussions that randa, the city's neoclassical on se have ended. The squark the opera house is now included.

International Herald Tribune

Photo by Tim Page of wounded U.S. soldiers being evacuated from a landing zone in Vietnam.

CRITICS' CHOICE

LONDON

Modern Italian Art "Italian Art in the 20th Century" is the third in the Royal Academy of Arts se-ries examining achievements in paint-ing and sculpture since 1900. It will focus on the most important movements and on the most important movements and on the work of some 45 artists, beginning with Futurism and Metaphysical Paint-ing, both originating before World War I (Boccioni, Balla, Carrà, Russolo, Severmi, De Chirico), and range to the important movements of recent years, Arte Povera (Merz, Kounellis) and Tran-savanguardia (Cucchi, Clemente). Also included is work by Amedeo Modigliani, usually seen within a French context, Helmut Newton Retrospective ■ The National Portrait Gallery is giving the first major museum retrospective in England of the work of the photographer Helmut Newton. The exhibition of 115 photographs, many of them in large format, concentrates on portraits, many of the subjects from the worlds of film, photography, fashion, art and the jet set acting out exaggerated images of themselves. To Feb. 16.

but here as part of the development of

New Year at Covent Garden ■ Comedy is the seasonal line at the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, with a re-vival of John Copley's 1982 production of Handel's "Semele," conducted by Sir Charles Mackerras (Dec. 22, 28, 30, Jan. 3, 7), while Jan. 9 brings the premiere of a new production of Johann Strauss's "Die Fledermaus," staged by John Cox and designed by Julia Tre-velyan Oman. Adam Fischer conducts a cast headed by Lillian Watson, Carol Vaness, Claire Powell, Dennis O'Neill, Thomas Allen and Alan Opie. (Also on Jan. 11, 13, 16, 19, 21 and 24.

BELJING

Nudes Make a Comeback More than 7,000 people, art lovers or merely curious, streamed through the BOCA RATON ROBAL decr. service 1 lord service 200 service SC 300 service 200 SC 300 servi downtown China Art Gallery on the opening day Thursday of an exhibition devoted to a kind of painting once banned by Communist authorities as deca-dent. The 120 oils in the show all depict nudes in styles ranging from portraits to abstracts. Officials of the gallery said they expected a total of 150,000 visitors in the show's 17-day run, despite a ticket price (about 50 U.S. cents) 10 times higher than usual for Beijing art shows. At the opening Ying Rnocheng, vice minister of culture and the country's best known film actor, said: "I hope it will break new ground in familiarizing people with this type of art work and in this way raise their artistic sensibilities." Nudes fell into disfavor after the Communist takeover in 1949 and were banned entirely during the 1966-1976 Cultural Revolution. Art academies were not allowed to use nude models until 1978.

UNICEF

· Haydn Recording In addition to its familiar Christmas cards, the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund has for the Reaching Viore La last decade issued an annual recording for which the artists donate their services. This year's recording on compact disc only, is of three Haydn concertos performed by the Italian violinist Andrea Cappelletti and the Scottish Chamber Orchestra conducted by James Blair. The Readers record is available from the Italian 101 Counti UNICEF Committee, 1 Via Vittorio Hugo, and other Italian UNICEF offices, for 24,000 lire ($18.50), and is being distributed commercially in England. the Work

Tim Page, From Lenses to Words

by Warren Getler

TIM Page has an interminable case of wanderlust. It often gets him into trouble. In April 1969, with U.S. troops patrolling the Vietnamese-Cambodian border, it nearly cost the British photographer his life.

Desperate to stay close to the action, Page jumped off a U.S. Marine Corps helicopter into a hot landing zone and then — 30 steps out — had the misfortune of strayriped open his skull.

Page was declared dead on arrival. Ironically, it was the same status assigned to him nine years earlier in England after he flew headlong off his motorcycle. He fooled the medical profession on both occasions.

"Three times the accompanying nurse had to thump my heart back to the go mode," at the field hospital in Long Binh, South Vietnam, writes Page, "44, in his autobiography, "Page After Page," released last mostly hy Siderick & London; in London ich by Sicrwick & Jackson in London "Most of my life, until fairly recently, has been nothing other than a series of reactions to disasters, to accidents," Page said in a recent interview. Horst Faas, a senior London-based photo editor for The Associated Press who worked with Page in Vietnam, says that his former employee is "one of the luckiest people to be alive today."

"There came to be a saying among the press — don't got out with Tim Page, he attracts trouble," Faas says. "One time, Tim went out on a river patrol boat. Nothing ever used to happen on the [American]
PTs, but Page's boat got shot up by the American Air Force and he was badly

The incident is recalled in the autobiography: "Something had hit us, and hard. Probably a plane. I fell out of bed and grabbed a camera. The first run had raked the deck, cooking off the gas and ammo. On the second pass from the second bird, everyone on the deck fighting the blaze had

"I must have got off a half dozen frames in the eerie flare-lit light before the next jet came in. It was death winking you directly

T his side in his studio is a scruffy A medical bag, the same sack that Page carried in Vietnam. Next youth whose sojourn to the East in the early into my soul. It was a re-greening.

Photographer Tim Page in his English cottage.

pressed guilt for having left behind for so long the parents who adopted him. In that ise, it is more than another personalized Vietnam book — it is a story of recovery.

Page, in his final chapter, describes how in recent years he's attempted to beat back "the old labels —freak, cripple, junkie, war photographer; boring labels," by getting back into photography. He has succeeded in landing contracts with book publishers and training magnitudes. and travel magazines: photographing wild, but this time, serene landscapes.

In 1984, Page published a book on Sri Lanka—one of his favorite haunts—with the British publisher Thames and Hudson, and he is currently working on a photojour-nal that examines world Buddhism. "Coming off the mountain" in the old repetient, gauze and antibiotics as he and a journalist friend make their way for a travel magazine assignment to the Darien Gap, an inhospitable track of rain forest in Cohumbia near the Panamanian booder.

Coming off the mountain "Page After Page" about Sri Lanka, "was an exorcism, a slice of Kerouac's Dharma Burns. I had a supreme feeling of getting solid carrier. humbia near the Panamanian border.

On the surface, "Page After Page" is the for a dozen years. Problems were dissolving travelogue of an innocent, experimental on contact. Serenity seeped from the island

1960s amounted to a full-course immersion in sex, drugs, rock 'n' roll and war — a true
"gonzo" experience.
On a deeper level, it's the story of a man writing the autobiography, his first fullwho only recently has come to grips with the length written work, was a yearlong strug-chaos of his past, including physical and gle. It was "like a daily visit to the shrink emotional scars from the war, a dissolved and the dentist simultaneously — with all marriage, borderline destitution and supwould sit here with physical pains in my body from writer's block. There were times during the scribbling that I'd say to friends that I'd rather go back to Nam and go through all the pain of the war again."

Faas says that Page — as a young photographer in Vietnam — was "almost overbearingly funny, constantly throwing parties." His knack was "not losing his nerve" under fire, Faas says. "It wasn't so much the quality of his pictures, but his doing the light thing at the stable tent. I think the contract the parties of the stable tent. right thing at the right time. I think he since has developed as a photographer."

For Page, photography produces a far more definitive — and thus satisfying — result than writing prose about himself. "Unlike, when I make a frame and should the frame be good — there is a Zen flow to it, you know you are going to hit the target
—I got absolutely no kick out of achieving my writing quotient for the day," says Page with the '60s-speak that peppers both his speech and his writing.

PAGE'S previous books — including "NAM," a compilation of his Vietnam war photos; "Sri Lanka," and "Ten Years After/Vietnam Today"—are essentially photojournals with limited text. "Page After Page," with about 40 photos, is a 240-page book that Page wrote in long

But the long sedentary spells notwith-standing, it's clear that the book had a cathartic role for Page. The photographer was hospitalized five times during the Viet-nam War, the last in April 1969 when he was evacuated for good from the conflict after suffering the near fatal head wound from the land-mine explosion.

That injury left Page with less than full control of his left leg — and generated periodic visits to the neurosurgeon and a lot of bitterness, the latter having apparently faded in recent years.

faded in recent years.

It all started 23 years ago, when Page's bug to travel landed him in Indochina and ultimately in the middle of the incipient Vietnam War. Page, who was supposed to be on his way overland from England to Australia, never made it to the beaches of

Instead, he spent a cumulative three and a half years in Vietnam, earning a reputation as a zanny and fearless member of the bao chi, or foreign press corps. By simply being in the region — as a forestry hand in Laos — and with camera at hand. Page became a local-hire combat photographer for various U.S. media.

His first stint was as a stringer for United Press International in Laos, covering the civil war there, and then as a full time photographer in Vietnam for UPI and later as free-lance photographer for Time-Life.
"I arrived in Saigon from Laos on 2 Feb. 1965, a green, hippy kid with a borrowed Nikon and two lenses in a cardboard leatherette bag," he writes.

The faded telex from UPI announcing his first Vietnam assignment hangs in a frame in Page's bathroom. The UPI had fired Page in August 1965 on grounds, as he writes, of "not going into the field enough, ruining cameras in the field and smoking dope in the office."

Stung deeply by the first comment, Page quickly pledged to take on as many on-site battle assignments as possible and, within weeks, he caught in graphic detail a U.S. military unit pinned down in an ambush. He soon landed a free-lance spot with

"I was naive. Maybe that was the forte of my Vietnam pictures," says Page in his cluttered studio, one shelf filled with books about the war and adorned with models of warplanes built by Vietnamese children from scrap metal.

"I didn't understand photography back then," he says of his "surreal" Vietnam years. "I was thrown into the deep end of the pool. I didn't know what to expect. The heavies in the business there treated me like a young-brother kid photographer — they were supportive, it was a real break." Those friendships, many of which have lasted through the years, have helped Page through his deepest lows.

Page today has no interest in going back to war zones, for fear of being badly maimed. "I can see the future now. I've got a wife. I've got a mortgage." He is, he says, a very happy man.

Raï: Arabs Reach Out With Music

□Wall Street 'Rocky'

□New York by Moses

□ Erick Hawkins Dancers

North Africans Blend Tradition, Pop Styles

by Mike Zwerin

ARIS — A sort of Arab blues combining traditional North African structures and modes with rock, funk and reggae, rai — which means "opinion" or "point of view" — is the latest rage in what has come to be called "World Music" or "World Beat."

Raī stars are mostly Algerian and named Cheb. Cheb Khaled, Cheb Kader, Cheb Houari, Cheb Hasni, Cheb Mami — Cheb means young, "kid," as opposed to sheikh, the chief, venerable. It implies tough, like a prizefighter nicknamed Kid. The music is reaching out of the Paris immigrant community into the European market. Cheb Dean, named after James, recorded a raī version of James Brown's "Sex Machine" in Paris. The current West German top 10 includes the Malian Paris. The current West German top 10 includes the Malian Mory Kante and Cheb Kader. Talking Heads hired some rai musicians when they recorded their latest album here.

Akin to flamenco (which has been going through a similar Axin to framenco (which has been going infrongin a similar fusion) and Portuguese fado, raī began as plaintive bedouin story-telling music for weddings and fairs around Oran, Algeria, in the early 20th century. Like jazz in New Orleans and the tango in Buenos Aires, it took root in the bordellos, bars and smoking parlors of a free-wheeling international port. In the 1920s, women of shady reputation began to sing more ribald lyrics rejoicing in the pleasures of the flesh. Now a sort of kitsch hero in her 60s, Cheikha Remitti goes back many sort of kitsch hero in her 60s, Cheikha Remitti goes back many decades. Her stage name is said to have come from her frequent ordering of another drink: "Remettez m'en un . . ."

Flutes and hand drums were gradually replaced by trap drums and horns. Synthesizers and drum machines entered the picture in the 1980s. The lyrics became more universal — alcoholism, sexual frustration, general alienation. Another possible origin of the name is the periodic wail "ah raī," something like "oh yeah."

HILE rejected by the establishment as being vulgar music made by misfits, criminals, alcoholics and sex fiends are became increasingly under the sex many measurements. fiends, rail became increasingly urban and popular in Algeria and neighboring Morocco. Like punk, it minced no words. Cheb Zahouani: "We don't drink, we get drunk/We don't sing, we scream." Cheb Abdelhak: "We made love in a rotten shack." Neither of these examples may seem particularly shocking to anybody who has been pounded by heavy metal, but making love and drinking are not, or were not, open for discussion in a society that is both socialist and Moslem. Seventy percent of the population of Algeria is under 30 years of age and they were all ears.

"Raī exploded like an atom bomb two years ago," says Si Ali Souliman. The first international raf festival took place in 1986 in the Paris suburb of Bobigny. Souliman, who owns a record company and retail store both called "Voix du Globe" and claims to have "run raī in Paris for the last 20 years," estimates there are something like 50,000 raī cassettes a year sold legally in Paris and close to three million pirate copies between here and Alveria. between here and Algeria.

The Algerian government banned the importation of blank cassettes to stop pirating and stymie Iranian-style fundamentalist subversion. It was also aimed at rai. However the Chebs grew larger. Rai was banned from Algerian radio and television until three years ago. The futility and counter-productivity of suppression slowly resulted in increasing official tolerance and the sneaking suspicion that rai might make a healthy cultural export for a country that could use one. Rai presents a different perspective from the current inva-sion of the rest of the world by Black African music, which already spread around the world a century or so ago and became the foundation of Euro-American popular music. The

Continued on page 8

Cheb Kader: Hard-working and on time.

The Joy and Agony of Piano Jury Duty

by Harold C. Schonberg

HERE they sit, the jurors of any international musical competition, wrapped in ineffable dignity, pre-senting an impassive front as talented young musicians play their hearts out. The jurors, like the contestants, have come from all over the world for the occasion. Nearly all of them are veterans of the competition circuit, and they are perfectly aware of their power.

For very talented young pianists, competitions in recent years have been a way of life. Many of them might spend up to 10 years on the competition circuit, hoping that lightning will strike. Barry Douglas, the Irish pianist who won the Tchaikovsky Competition last year, had entered many major competitions in the past, always coming in very high, but never hitting it big. Now he has a real career. Whether or not be can sustain it is up to him.

a competition. But just as there are pianists, violinists, singers and others who are steady performers on the competition circuit, so there is an international cadre of judges who also

Such people as Pierre Colombo (Switzerland), Arie Vardi (Israel), Nicole Henriot-Schweitzer (France), Joan Chissell (England), Lev Vlasenko (Russia), Rex Hoberoft (Australia), Gary Graffman (United States) and, for that matter, the writer of this article, are in constant demand as jurors.

Most of us are busy people. Why do we so often say yes? It's not for any financial reward. Several competitions do pay lavishly for two weeks of work. Others provide only transporta-

One of the hardest jobs of a juror is to face pianists after they are eliminated and tell them why.

Bach prelude and fugue, a Mozart sonata, a required Romantic piece and so on.
Listening to 45 pianists play the same Mozart

On the reverse side of the coin, it is hard to think of a major pianist after Van Cliburn who has not been the gold or silver medal winner in a competition. But just as there are pianists, should have mastered. Thus there has to be a certain pieces forever. You can't hear Chopin's Polonaise-Fantasy 45 times within a week, great as the piece is, and not have permanent scars. Some competitions are more permissive than others in this respect. But if 45 pianists have the choice of, say, any one of the 20 or so Chopin nocturnes, you can bet the farm that at least a dozen will select the D flat.

It's not for the intellectual stimulus of hearing new music. Most competitions stop at Prokofiev and Ravel, but many provide for the semifinal stage a difficult piece specifically composed for the occasion. Almost always these works are eminently forgettable, usually written in some form of postserialism, disliked by the pianists, the jurors and the public.

It's not for the privilege of hearing an undis-covered genius. The judges are all professionals and - word of mouth in our field being what it tion, housing and a small per diem allowance.

It's not for the joy of hearing the great classics, all of which every judge has memorized

Listening to 45 plantists play the same Mozart is — we know who the major entries are going to be. In a competition of 40-plus plantists, if you have four who are really good, who have personality and imagination as well as skill and musicianship, you have a real competition. There always is the tantalizing hope of being in at the launching of a new Emil Gilels, Maurizio Pollini or Vladimir Ashkenazy (all former competition winners). It also has been my experience that judges, no matter how cynical they may pretend to be, no matter how bowed with the weight of years, no matter how springingly young, all have this in common: They are in love with the piano and with the men and recommon they do not be the piano and the piano a with the men and women who play it - or, at least, play it well.

In any case, every juror knows, after the first round, pretty much which ones are going to be in the finals. Unusual talent, as opposed to mere talent (which almost every contestant has), immediately stands out, and we don't make mistakes about that. Last July in Sydney, Albrecht Roeseler (the

Continued on page 9

WEEKEND

Raï

Continued from page 7 new African fusion being created by Yousson N'Dour, Alpha Blondy, Mann Dibango, Salief Ketta and the others is based on a reflection of its own image. With no such universal reference point, Rai can sound opaque (it is sung in Arabic) to Western cars. It is easy to fall in love with the idea of increased communication between cultures, to confuse potential with realization. These sorts of marriages take time. Before buying a pile of rai recordings, remember that there is as much bad rai as anything else. And beware of journalists in search of trends.

Cheb Kader does not agree with

Raï presents a different perspective from the invasion of the rest of the world by Black African music a century or so ago, becoming the foundation of Western pop music.

some French media attempts to tie the recent street violence in Algerian cities to rai: "Journalists just need to make headlines. Rai is personal, not political, it's dance music. Ral is important to Algerian youth culture and there were a lot of kids in the streets, but you can't really call it a 'cry of freedom.'" Cheb Khaled is not so sure: "Rai changed Algeria, but I can't really

Despite the rather confusing similarity of the names of these two rai stars, Chebs Kader and Khaled have different nationalities and personalities and they differ about how far to compromise in order to export their music beyond their own culture. Comparing them helps define the limits of the form. Cheb Khaled (Khaled Hadj-Brahim), the "king of rai," was born in Oran in 1960, and was responsible for making rel a rallying cry in the 1980s. In the beginning he was considered too volatile to be allowed to run around and had trouble getting a passport. He was not allowed on tate television until 1985. Now he is state-subsidized. A Colonel Snoussi, who runs the Riad el-Feth

Cheb Khaled: "King of raī."

Khaled has accused Algerian authorities of co-oping rai: "Five years ago rai was really raw, now it beats about the bush." And he has been accused of being co-opted. An Algerian journalist who asked not to be named made the point that, for example, Khaled never did any army service and that he must owe somebody for this.

HALED still lives in Oran, still the capital of raf, he makes big money, drives expensive cars, spends everything he makes, likes to drink whiskey and sing for the fun of it until dawn. He has cracked up several cars. Worshipped and mobbed wherever he goes in Algeria and Prench Algerian neighborhoods, he is hard to pin down. His respected Parisian publicity woman dropped him last month when he failed to show up for a number of presti-gious television engagements. Cheb Kader (Kouider Morabei) is 21, cute, hard-working, smart, shows up on time everywhere and is available to the press with a ven-geance. Purists find this somehow anti-rai. They consider his music watered-down, like pop as opposed to rock. Contrary to the majority, his material is totally arranged (no improvisation). The tunes are cultural center, a sort of Algerian shorter and sometimes chordal, in Beaubourg Center, arranged to cover the cost of Khaled's latest—and first state-of-the-art—album, "Knitche."

Broadway song form. His band includes two Frenchmen and an Englishman. Born of Algerian parents in Mulhouse, France, Kader has performed in Amsterdam, London and Brussels. He is scheduled to appear on the French Saturday night prime time TV show "Champs Elysées" on Jan. 21 and his first album will be released in

> He has never played in Algeria.
>
> French disc jockeys, particularly in Marseille, have been known to receive threatening telephone calls when they play rai music. Afraid of violence and of losing listeners, rock radio has been afraid to play rai. But FM station NRJ sponsore a Cheb Kader concert in Mulhouse earlier this week, and he feels that chart racism is receding: "There are things I couldn't do last year I can do this year. And things I can't do now I'll be able to do next year."

the United States early next year.

Kader's eyes dart around the room as he speaks. He seems to be trying just a bit too hard to be somebody else's definition of "pre-sentable." He's distracted, you wonder what's on his mind. Cheb Khaled, on the other hand, while not exactly your ideal role-model, is an authentic poète maudit, a kind of doomed poet. "I haven't the slightest idea how many cassettes or concerts I've done," he says. "Raï, it's like an itch."

Recommended recordings: "The World Of Rai" (Buda); "Kntché," Cheb Khaled (Pathé Marconi); "Cheb Kader" (Blue Silver).

Corporate Cinderella on Wall Street

by Alison Leigh Cowan

Wall Street, working women ouflage their feminimity. An impec-can apply garish eye-makeup cably dressed New England sophis-ticate who attended all the right schools, Parker has a class-act boy-swathed in leather mini-skirts — friend (played by Harrison Ford) and yet be virtually invisible to to boot those around them.

the heroine of "Working Girl," a for the pink-collar set, the movie sends its heroine on a giddy ride from the secretarial pool to the loftiest reaches of international deal making.

new comedy. A "Rocky"-like fable for the pink-collar set, the movie sends its heroine on a giddy ride from the secretarial pool to the loftiest reaches of international deal making — and the complex and at times touching role of Tess as played by Melanie Griffith represents the flowering of a collaboration among the actress, Mike Nichols, the film's director, and Kevin

Wade its screenwriter. Commuting from the Staten Island — read wrong — side of New York Harbor, Tess finds her ambitions frustrated and her talents ig-nored by those who have her forever pegged as the lady-in-waiting, but never the lady.

Though Tess gets her degree at night with honors and polishes her speech with coaching, her trusting nature is no match for the smoothtalking Harvard types she com-petes with, and she remains a well-intended misfit who at an exclusive party will offer to buy a round of drinks from an open bar.

Even the deliberate use of the title "Working Girl" rather than the politically safer "Working Woman" illustrates the character's

"She's a prisoner of the cliché," But the film's politics were never intended to eclipse its comic possibilities. In this slightly exaggerated world, the most successful women N Hollywood's latest view of boss, Katharine Parker, best cam-

The Andy Warhol portrait of her Overdressed and underappreci-ated, they are the underclass of town house says it all — Parker is women who keep Wall Street - everything Tess longs to be. And and most corporations, for that Tess takes mental notes when the matter - running smoothly. They steely Parker, played by Sigourney Weaver discusses marriage as if Such is the world of Tess McGill, she were contemplating a well-advised merger:

"We're both in the same city, I've A 'Rocky' -like fable indicated I'm receptive to an offer, and I've cleared the month of June," she sighs. And if the target resists? "That is not a variable," she > EVIN Wade, the 34-yearold writer whose other "urban comedies" include the Off Broadway play "Key Ex-change," has few illusions about whether the story of a secretary whose dreams are realized the day she gets her own secretary is the stuff of high art or serious polemics.

"If 'Citizen Kane' is up here," he says, stretching one hand above his head, "and 'Chinatown' is here," holding another hand firmly at shoulder level, "then we're down here somewhere in South America" he fisisher and auturally his ca," he finishes good-naturedly, his hand wobbling back and forth near Still, the film's backers at 20th Century-Fox must have been banking on the obvious: the universal appeal such a Cinderella would have, especially around Christmas. Early market research, says Doug-Wick, the producer, is showing that the film should appeal to any-one "who has been kicked in the teeth at work."

In the collaboration among Griffith, Wade and Nichols, many of their contributions were designed to make Tess more sympathetic lest moviegoers find her struggle to climb the corporate ladder selfserving and her methods distaste-

That was not easy, given that the original script traces Tess's involvement in insider trading, the same kinds of questionable buying and selling of securities that recently fascinated another filmmaker, Oliver Stone, in "Wall Street."

The resemblance ended there, however. While Stone sought to reconstruct Wall Street faithfully, even at the cost of occasionally

Melanie Griffith

For instance, Nichols had no qualms about Tess's taking revenge upon some two-timing colleagues by typing out an obscene put-down on the overhead ticker. In reality, the electronic information is fed directly from the New York Stock age and can't be intercepted.

"They asked me, and I said technically you can't do that, but it's a cute idea, and America will buy it," says Liam F. Dalton, an investment inker who advised on production.

In the end, the makers of "Working Girl" overhanled the plot even before the other Wall Street film's release. Tess now temporarily as-sumes her boss's identity, only to be accused of stealing the senior woman's ideas. It was felt that the heroine's unwitting participation in a form of illegal trading would turn

By the sixth rewrite, Tess was not unlike her creator, Wade. For instance, Wade hit upon the solution to Trask Industries' takeover woes much the same way Tess discovers the idea in the film - serendipi-

Some business trivia that he gleaned from the financial pages a couple of years ago became the hook for his herome: Trask can elude an unwanted Japanese suitor by acquiring some radio stations, because the federal government bans foreign ownership of radio licenses. "You never know where the hir idea will owner from "Test the big idea will come from," Tess tells a startled colleague at one

The project rattled around the studio for a couple of years until Nichols was shown the script in early 1987 and almost immediately agreed to direct the film.

point

As one of his first tasks, he cast Griffith as the heroine over the protests of 20th Century-Fox executives. The studio was looking for a bigger box-office draw as insurance for the picture's $22 million budget. Cher. Goldie Hawn and even Whoopi Goldberg were names bandied about in the early stages, and Shelley Long was considered more seriously.

But it was Griffith's vulnerability that Nichols and his collaborators thought could be used to soften the character's otherwise simpleminded pursuit of wealth and

"Melanic's gentleness and hu-manity, the way in which she deals with everyone no matter whether they can help her or not; that's very important," says Nichols. In hindsight, it becomes clearer why Nichols prevailed. Indeed, the line between actress and character blurs quite a bit. Tess brings coffee to a fellow secretary who looks like "she needs it," while the real-life Griffith ordered up 50 bottles of champagne to improve the crew's morale toward the end of the shoot.

Similarly, it is Tess's 30th birthday that is the watershed where she realizes she desperately wants to be taken seriously, while the 31-year-old Griffith underwent a similar soul-searching not all that long ago, after a imbulent youth playing inconsequential and often scantily

"About eight years ago, I decided to be serious about acting and wanted to become really good,

NCE the team was assem-bled, they spent three characters, which consisted primarily of treating secretaries to lunch and pumping them for ideas.

Suggestions poured in, such as the note from a Fox employee about the secretarial duty she found most humbling. Her boss, also a woman, lifted her skirts before meetings so her assistant could spray her clothing with anti-static spray. A similar scene was filmed. though ultimately dropped.

Ironically, though the filmmakers happily take on Wall Street's establishment and its hallowed ways; they choose not to rattle Hollywood's preconceptions. Griffith clearly has the starring role, and she alone appears in every scene but two. Yet because she is a relative ingenue, she has third billing behind Ford and Weaver.

"The studio wanted the bigger, stars," says Nichols without apolo-

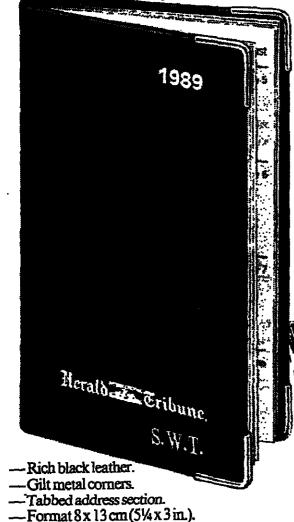

"That's just the way the system works," Wade echoes, And Griffith? "At first, I cared a little bit," she says, though she claims it no longer bothers her. Asked whether his next film night take on Hollywood's establishment, Nichols rhetorically asks,

Do you think anyone would want

Our big success story is our pocket diary: thin, flat and elegant.

Year after year — even at a period when diaries abound — the International Herald Tribune flat, silk-grain leather diary is the hit of the season.

Ingeniously designed to be thinner-than-thin, it still brings you everything... including a built-in note pad with always-available "jotting paper". Plus there are conversion tables of weights, measures and distances, a list of national holidays by country, a wine vintage chart, and many other useful facts. All in this incredibly flat little book that slips easily into a jacket

The perfect gift for almost anyone... including yourself. Please allow 30 days for delivery. --- Personalized with gold initials (up to 3 at no extra This handy Notepaper sheets fit on note pad the back of the diary—a is terrifica. simple pull removes top sheet. Comes with notepaper refills. Herald Eriba

Herald Eribune International Herald Tribune, Karen Diot, Special Projects Division, 181 Avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neurlly Cedex, France.

Payment is by credit card only. All major cards accepted. (Please note that French residents may pay by check in French francs, at the current exchange rate. We regret that checks in other currencies cannot be accepted.) Please charge to my Access Visa Amer Credit card: Eurocard Diners MasterCard credit card:

-Quantity discounts are available.

- Plenty of space for appointments.

Exp. date Card No.

Signature .

INTTIALS up to 3 per diary Please send me _ 1989 IHT Pocket Diaries. Price includes initials, packing and postage in Europe.

U.S. $4 each U.S. $26 cach U.S. $24 cach US $22 cach Address City/Code/Country conservation of paintings.

Eighty masterworks of 20th century art from the Thys sen-Bornamisza collection; from Cubism and Russian constructivism to

BELGIUM

Antwerp

Rubenshuis (tel: 232.01.03). To Jan. 15: Two hundred examples of 17th and 18th century silver from Antwerp, comple-mented by "Silver in Antwerp's Golden Age," 16th century ob-lets d'art, at the Rockoxhuis.

Brussels

Centre culturel de la Communauté française - le Botanique (tel: 217.63.86). To Jan. 1: Contemporary painting by 12 Soviet artists including Bouter, Filatov and Steinberg.

T.E. Lawrence by Augustus John, 1919.

East Berlin
Altes Mu

"four great inventions" - pa-per, printing, gunpowder and the compass – are among the sub- 1891 to the artist's death in jects illustrated in 300 exhibits 1901. from Chinese and Western mu- Tate Gallery (tel: 821.13.13).

CANADA

Toronto Art Gallery of Ontario (tel: 977.04.14). To Jan. 15: "Draw-ings by Hans Holbein the Younger from the court of Henry VIII: 50 drawings from the collection of Her Majesty the Queen, Wind-sor Cestle."

DENMARK Humlebaek

Louisiana Museum (tel: 02.19.07.19). To Jan. 15: Some of Picasso's last works, from the years 1960 to 1973. 55 oils, 22 drawings and 4 sculptures.

ENGLAND

London

Barbican Centre (tel: 638.41.41). To Jan. 15: "Panormania": Several 100-foot-long reconstructed panoramic paint-ings, plus maps, handbills, paintings, photographs and moving panoramas of the 19th century. Dulwich Picture Gallery (tel: 693.80.00). To Dec. 30: Portraits of the Linley family by Thomas Gainsborough, as well as paintings and memorabilia. The show honors the bicentenary of Gainsborough's death. National Gallery (tel: 839.33.21). To Jan. 17: The Gal-

INTERNATIONAL ARTS GUIDE National Portrait Gallery (tel:

ry exhibition in celebration of the lection. Lawrence examines his life and 45.49.48.14). To Jan. 1: The Musées Royaux d'Art et d'Histoire (tel: 230.12.25). To Jan. Royal Academy of Arts (tel: 16: "China, 5000 Years of Invention and Discovery." China's Invention and Discovery." China's Invention and Discovery." Works," 240 prints and posters representing the period from

> To Jan. 8: A retrospective of David Hockney's work includes 100 paintings, 30 photographs, 10 drawings and prints.
> Victoria & Albert Museum (tel: 589.63.71). To Jan. 8: "Avant Premiere," the work of leading

French contemporary furniture

Oxford

Museum of Modern Art (tel: 722.733). To Jan. 15: "The Fallen," pays homage to artists who died during the First World War. Included are works by Geoffrey S. Allfree, Raymond Duchamp-Villon, Henri Gaudier-Brzeska, August Macke, Franz Marc and Vladimir Davidovitch Burlyuk.

FRANCE Paris

Ecole des Beaux-Arts (tel: 42.60.34.57). To Dec. 31: "From Darer to Baselitz": 126 drawings by German artists of the 15th century to the present, on loan from the Hamburg Palais Grand 42.89.54.10). To Jan. 2: "Cara-vaggle and Italian Painting of the Seventeenth Century": 160 works from national collections in France. Gulmet Musée Guimet (tel: 47.23.61.65). To Jan. 30: "The Lost Cities of the Indus": statues, ceramics, gold and copper ob-839.33.21). To Jan. 17: The Gallery's 19 Remorandts are the backhibits found in the last 30 sis of this show documenting the years in Pakistan.

second stop after London for the exhibition of Paul Cézanne's

Marsellle paintings of the 17th century, from provincial museums in France, 75 works are on view,

Museum 2.20.03.81). To Dec. 30: "The World of the Etruscans": some 1,200 objects gathered from East European collections illus- casso museum in Antibes. trate Etruscan art, architecture, UNITED STATES

WEST GERMANY

Berlin Martin-Gropius-Bau (tel: 254.86.302). To Jan. 8: "Stages of Modern Art": a retrospective of German avant garde art, 1910-1969. On view are catalogues, photographs and art works from 20 influential exhibi-

Staatliche Kunsthalle (tel: 261.70.67). To Jan. 4: "From Raffael to Goya": Masterworks from the Collection of the Museo de Arte of Sao Paulo.

Milan

1947: 60 paintings and 100 stained glass window Nuit de drawings and other graphic Noël and liturgical vestments. works are on view.

Campidoglio (tel: 671.02.475).
To Jan. 31: "Roman Glass from the Imperlal Age." 150 glass objects dating from the first to sixth centuries.

Venice

Museum of Modern Art (tel: 863.88.00). To Feb. 5: More than 100 sculptures, paintings and drawings by Alberto Giacometti, illustrating his range and versatility, from Cubism and Surrealism to his signature postwar Museo Correr (tel: 25.625). To Washington 150-painting retrospective National Gallery (tel: marks the 100th anniversary of 737.42.15). To Jan. 23: "The Jan. 15: Giorgio de Chirico; A

NETHERLANDS

Amsterdam

Louvre 1674), contemporary and col-(tel:42.60.39.26). To Jan. 30: laborator of Rembrandt; includ-"Rembrandt et son Ecole": 72 ed are loans from the Museum des 20. Jahrhunderts (tel. 78.25.50). To Jan. 15: (tel. 78.25.50).

> early art work, 1859 to 1872. On Palacio de Velázquez (tej view are 60 paintings and 20 273.62.45). To Jan. 20: The Pavillon des Arts (tel: 1788, is explored in "Charles III 42.33.82.50). To Jan. 15: "Black Photography in America." Included are over 200 images by four photographers.

scientific instruments. Museo del Prado (tel: Centre de la Vieille Charité (tel: 468.09.50). To Jan. 9: "British 91.56.28.38). To Jan. 15: Geno-Painting from Hogarth to ess, Neapolitan and Venetian Turner." On view are 64 works by 22 artists, including Reynolds, Ramsay, Stubbs, Gainsborough, Constable.

EAST GERMANY SWITZERLAND

Martigny

Fondation Pierre Glanadda (tel: 2.39.78). To Jan. 8: "Picasso, linograveur." About 100 Picasso engravings from the Pkg

New York

Metropolitan Museum of Art (tel: 535.77.10). To Jan. 8: Um-berto Boccioni (1882-1916): 110 paintings and drawings, and etchings and sculpture, by one of the leading members of the Futur-To Jan. 8: The first major retrospective in 50 years of the work of Edgar Degas displays 340 works. To Jan. 8: "The Berggruen Klee collection": 91 paintings and watercolors by Paul Klee, spanning the artist's career. Museum of Modern Art (tel: 708.97.50). To Jan. 3: Anselm Kiefer: Epic paintings, sculpture, and artist's books by one of Eu-:

rope's most important contempt Palazzo Reale (tel: 87.19.13). porary artists.
To Jan. 8: Pierre Bonnard, 1867- To Jan. 10: Henry Matisse's

San Francisco Museum of Modern Art (tel:

Shaping of Dalmyo Culture, 1185 to 1868." On view are 456 objects from feudal Japan, among them national treasures never before seen outside the Museum het Rembrandt-huis country. Included are swords, tel: 24.94.86). Drawings and prints by Jan Lievens (1607WEEKEND

ter a turbulent youth player assequential and often see "About eight years ago, late to be serious about active anted to become really be

NCE the team was too bied. they spen to months researching to y of treating secretaries when ad pumping them for ideal Suggestions poured in sai:

he note from a Fox copie bout the secretarial done ound most humbling lie is a woman, lifted her sink than a woman to her sections. ore meerings so her assistant pray her clothing with anne pray. A similar scene was fehough ultimately dropped Ironically, though the line ars happily take on Wall Se sstablishment and its lake ways, they choose not to make vwood's preconceptions (in clearly has the starring me she alone appears in every but two. Yet because she big. tive ingenue, she has third is behind Ford and Weaver,

"The studio wanted the in-stars," says Nichols without That's just the way the sea works." Wade ectos. And Griffith? "At first less hittle bit," she save though claims it no longer bothers in Asked whether his mag might take on Hollyamis lishment. Nicheis rheoicales Do you think anyone walks to see it?"

: 1988 The Ven lin line

1674), contemporary mile laborator of Removement ed are loans hom rstich-kabines in Diss the Nationalmuseum Stort and the British Museum

Madrid

Palacio de Velazquez la 273.62 45). To Jan. 30 to reign of Charles III. 1731 1788, is explored in "Ords and the Enlightment," with ciudes documents, books at ings, sculptures and decer art, cjothing, arms made scientific instruments Musec del Prado 468.09 30 i. To lan 9 39 Painting from Hogam Painting from Hogarit Turner On New are 940 by 22 amers including here. Ramsay Stupps Garsting Constable

Fondation Pierre Gange

(tel: 2.39.75 To lan.8 Fe So incorporar Apost the casso engra. Tas from ser casso museum - anibe

New York Metropolitan Museum di (18: 533 - 7. (1887)8F

ter oa and caward and terot cos to main sies session AS THE ATT STATES

37.5 8.25.5 20019 2.4865 37.5 8.25.5 20019 2.4865 San Francisco
Modern Modern Mes
Modern Modern Mes
Modern Modern Mes
Modern Me

, e 1913°

Washington

They say in Tel Aviv that when Arthur Gallely.

The Uncluttered Dances Of Erick Hawkins

by Anna Kisselgoff

T EW YORK - A mental clearing, refreshing as a spring shower, comes from the best of Erick Hawkins. His dances are the most uncluttered around, and his dancers, this season, have performed with a polished precision that makes it easier than ever to appreciate the clarity of movement so special to Hawkins's choreography.

Too little attention has been paid to the formal underprinnings of Hawkins's work. But in his latest premiere, "Cantilever Two," and a revival, at the Joyce Theatre, of the 1965 "Lords of Persia," we see an other new only an acethetic and before the content of the see and the second or the secon ethic, not only an aesthetic, served by form. Hawkins's early dance background, beginning in the 1930s, when he danced with the American Ballet of George Balanchine and Lincoln Kirstein, as well as with Kirstein's Ballet Caravan, exposed him to a tradition of ballet training that he was later

Nevertheless, he shares with Balanchine the ability to strip the stage image to a plastique of unadorned bodies. Their vocabularies are very different; Hawkins, fol-lowing his career in ballet and in Martha Graham's company, developed his own singular fluid idiom. Balanchine's aesthetic, moreover, is grounded in the musical impulse, while Hawkins comes from the modern-dance generation that often choreographed to no music - because it was decreed that one art form (dance) should not interpret another (music). But the viewer's eye, in both cases, focuses on dancing relieved of extraneous movement or fussiness of dance convention. The mind may be stimulated in such cases, but it also has a rest; the same eye is led to focus on the dancing, not on extraneous elements, despite the possible presence of

Yet, Hawkins is no formalist. Form as such is not his concern, and one hardly sees the essence of dance - steps, movement and combinations thereof -as his overriding interest. The choreography's structure, its relationship to the decor and its juxtaposition to the music, the nature of the dance idiom - these formal concerns are used by Hawkins to convey his view of the world,

The aesthetic serves the ethic, although one could argue that the Hawkins approach to dance is rooted in an ethical premise. In brief, Hawkins wants us to feel

In "Lords of Persia," he offers one of the happiest embodiments of his aesthetic-ethic: an image with the classical attributes of harmony and balance that is nonetheless highly dramatic.

Hawkins's coup de théfitre is to depict a game of polo, a sport supposedly invented in Persia, as nonconfrontational. The four male dancers in Ralph Lee's stylized Persian costumes are not opponents but lofty players in a game where rules count more than rivalry. The fact that the men are masked renders them impersonal, transforming them into ceremonial figures whose individual emotions count least.

This picture of harmony in a competitive encounter is a tour de force, convincing because it is impersonalized and formal-ized. Hawkins has consistently said that his work is not abstract but concrete. We see why in "Lords of Persia." The men (Daniel Tai, Michael Moses, Mark Wisniewski, James Reedy) cantering on imaginary horses and swinging Ralph Dorazio's beautifully honed mallets with elegant sweep, are not abstractions of an idea. They look very real albeit generalized, telling us in metaphoric terms something about an ideal in human relations.

HERE is no such dramatic vignette in another revival, the 1961 "Early Floating" or the premiere, "Cantile-ver Two." Like "Lords of Persia," these works have scores by Lucia Dlugoszewski, whose originality of idiom and musical structure should hardly go unsung. This season, the Erick Hawkins Dance Company honored her through all-Dlugoszewski programs.

"Cantilever Two" uses the music she composed for Hawkins's 1963 work for two men and two women, "Cantilever." The score seems ready-made for the completely new version, now performed by 12 dancers. "Early Floating," too, is a plotless work, for a woman and three men (James Aarons is especially noteworthy) and it may still be heavy going for the uninitiated.
"Cantilever Two" is a reversal of the same approach, a similar glorification of the human body - the dancers are barelegged as usual. Yet, the formal structures are highly complex (playing with dancers in canon and counterpoint to another) and the dynamic range astonishingly varied. Three striking, curved sculptures by Dorazio are suspended in the air, and the dancers' curved forms, in their leaps, attain a sculptural volume of their own. "Cantilever Two" is essentially an ensemble dance; its power comes from the units of men and women who come flying in from opposing wings and the meshed unison passages that evolve into separate rhythmic lines,

The music's dissonance and sliding passages are counterpointed by the activity onstage. The dancers never dance to the music; they encounter it.

1988 The New York Times

Piano Jury Continued from page 7

after the first round wrote on a slip of paper the names of the six pianists we thought would be in the finals. As it turned out, we both had five of the six, and it would have been six out of six had not one of the pianists self-destructed on

So why do we go?

Well, it may be geographical curiosity. Often we are invited to a place we had never visited and always wished to see. It's also a chance to meet colleagues, to make new friends, to share experiences. It presents an opportunity to hear what presumably are among the world's best young pianists.

There are, inevitably, differences of opinion about fine points of technique and interpretation. But when the big talent appears, it is a pleasure to watch judges share the experience. Sidelong glances, a sharp intake of breath, a sudden concentration, a straightening of the back — these are phenomena that occur when a possible competition winner appears.

There are national styles in competitions and none so different as between East and West. Western competitions are strict. Judges and contestants can be disqualified for talking to each other. Judges are even encouraged to refram from talking to each other (but try to stop them!). Any juror who has a pupil in the competition is not allowed to vote on that contestant. Balloting is secret. There is no official discussion about the pianists, not even at the finals. The ballots are tabulated, and that

In Eastern European competitions, however (if the Liszt-Bartok Competition in Budapest in 1986 is any criterion), they order things differently. Balloting is open. Teachers not only are allowed to vote on their pupils; they actually lobby for them. After the evening's sessions, Western jurors watched goggle-eye as the Russian juror walked back to his hotel arm-in-arm with the Russian contestants.

Russian jurors, if they get to know you well enough and know you will not name names, frankly admit that they are there to do what they can for their pianists. In Budapest, one of the Hungarian jurors actually gave lessons to a Hungarian pianist during the competition. He did not try to keep it a secret.

This is not to imply that the competition was rigged. When the jury retired for the final voting session, much unhappiness was ex-pressed at the low strength of the competition, and it was decided not to vote for first prize.

Jurors on the whole are a steady lot. They manage to keep awake (though some older ones can have a hard time). They have cultivated a look that is at once impassive and appreciative. But they can be ruffled. German or German-trained jurors are the strictest of all.

At the Rubinstein Competition in Tel Aviv some years back, an American contestant got a e, big hand from the audience and, elated, forgot where he was. He sat down and played an encore. The German and Japanese judges (the Japanese was German-trained) rose from their " seats, outraged. They huffed and puffed and walked out. "It is not in the rules," the German Rubinstein was alive and was a juror at the competition named after him, there never was a dull moment. Rubinstein made his own rules. He not only spoke to the contestants, he also took them all to his heart and would even give master classes, attended by all, and analyze their playing.

All this during the course of the competiion! Nobody could hold down the irrepress-lible Rubinstein. It also was said that Rubin-juror from West Germany) and I, just for kicks, stein did not look kindly on jurors who disagreed with him. Not all competitions are big. A juror might go to a three- or four-day competition as a favor to the organizer, or because he might have heard about one or two of the competitors, or simply because he short break from routine.

One such event is the Greater Palm Beach Piano Competition in Florida. It has only six pianists, generally of very high quality. For those six pianists there are six jurors. Two years ago one of the pianists became ill and so there were more judges than pianists.

This year the contestants had to play a concerto with accompaniment on a second piano, and the winner would then play his concerto with orchestra. The accompanist provided by the competition turned out to be incompetent. The jurors demanded that the situation be corrected. Things moved fast. Anthony Manoli, a bright planist at Juilliard, was called. Yes, he could fly down and play the other accompaniments. Yes, he knew the scores. He came and on the same evening turned in a brilliant job.

One of the hardest jobs of a juror is to face pianists after they are eliminated and tell them why. In most competitions, pianists who do not make it can approach one of the judges and asking for an analysis of their playing. It is terribly difficult to tell a talented, dedicated young planist that he or she lacks personality and imagination. Most of us have worked out a routine. I generally mumble something about concentrating more on color and rhythmic flexibility, and less on structure. They look at me as though I'm crazy.

T HAS been said again and again that pianists today have better techniques than the great ones of the past, but that they are not trained as well musically. My experiences of the last five years suggest the opposite. They are beautifully trained musically—at least, by current standards of what constitutes musicianship - but nowhere near as technically accomplished. I have as yet to hear from any younger pianist a Rachmaninoff, Friedman, Hofmann or Lhevinne technique.

What they have in common, all of them, is an analytic approach to the music. Form is function. Very well, but that leads to a uniformity of style and approach. Some 25 years ago I complained that competitions were leading to a bland, impersonal style because contestants were playing for judges rather than for them-selves. In one respect I was wrong, It is not because they are playing for judges. It is be-cause that is today's international style. Indeed, judges at musical competitions say they they would just love to hear pianists with personality, charm, beautiful tonal production. And they mean it.

But I remain skeptical. For when a good, solid pianist comes up in the finals, he or she invariably gets the nod over the one who plays with intense personality. That's why the big competitions, like courtroom juries, have at least 12 jurors. Vox pop and all that. But when a juror becomes passionately involved with the aying of a young artist who approaches an ideal, and at the end finds himself outvoted by his peers, he secretly thinks that everybody else is crazy. Which is a normal reaction. Except that the thwarted juror knows that he and he alone is right

Harold C. Schonberg, the former chief music critic of The New York Times, is the author of "The Great Pianists" (Simon & Schuster). He wrote this for The Times.

New York by Robert Moses: A Look Back

by Paul Goldberger

EW YORK - It is astonishing, in this age in which building almost anything in any major city can mean months if not years of controversy and delay, to think about Robert Moses.

From the time he came to power in the 1920s until his retirement in 1968, Moses built bridges, tunnels, highways, parks, beaches, housing projects, power stations, cultural complexes and playgrounds in the New York area.

And he built them almost by fiat: At the peak of his power he held 12 New York city and New York state offices simultaneously, and he constructed essentially what be thought made sense.

As the city's parks commissioner, its construction coordinator, a member of its Planning Commission, and chairman of the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority, the State Power Commission, and the New York State Parks Council, among other agencies, Moses proposed his own projects and gave himself his own approvals.

He was not a total czar - there were officials above him - but in practice mayors and governors tended to defer to him; it was Robert Moses, and not they, who set the agenda. Only occasionally was Moses's vision of what should be built in New York thwarted

Moses was born 100 years ago. He died in 1981, well into the very un-Robert Moseslike era in which we now live - a time whose priorities have moved so far away from the concentration of vast power in a single official that it sometimes seems as if almost no one is making decisions about anything. The process by which New York and other major cities are built has shifted 180 degrees since Moses's reign — now, for example, community boards, which did not even exist in Moses's time, have substantial influence over both public and private construction in New York City. And they represent only the tip of the iceberg of a complicated approvals process that is slow at best, and is often delayed still further by litigation.

This is an age that tends to view nearly every large project with skepticism. It is no exaggeration to say that the balance of nower in development has moved dramatically away from those who build, whether they are public builders like Moses or private builders, and toward those who oppose building, or at least oppose the virtual carte blanche that Moses was known for.

HE centennial of Robert Moses's birth is an ideal moment to look not only at Moses himself but also at the evolution that the last generation has

Were we better off with the Moses' sys-tem? Was there, in fact, a Moses' system in the first place, or was it really Moses him-

The answer to this last question is surely the latter - as much as he was a master builder, Robert Moses was a master politician, and he knew the art of accruing power. He did much to make the system that, in turn, made his power possible: He drafted legislation setting up public authorities, which he then ran; he cajoled and schemed and pleaded with governors and legislators and financiers; he flattered the press. No one in his day had gone out looking for an emperor of public works. Moses filled a need that he himself, in a sense, had made. But back to the basic question: Were we better off with Robert Moses in charge? "In the 20th century the influence of Robert Moses on the cities of America was greater than that of any other single person," said Lewis Mumford, the architecture and social

And it was so: Moses was not a theoretician, and hanghtily disdained those planners who were, but his pragmatic, get-it-done-at-any-cost style nonetheless embraced a particular vision of what the city was to become.

Moses thrust great ribbons of concrete across an old and largely settled urban land-scape, altering it drastically, and his guiding hand made New York, known as a city of mass transit, also the United States's first city of the automobile age. But Moses's determination that the city should accommodate itself to the automo bile, rather than the other way around, is of course now one of the things that dates him the most, as the car has come to be seen as the enemy of urban vitality, not the savior of There was one great thing Robert Moses brought to New York, one message, and that was his unwavering commitment to the idea of the public realm. Moses believed in public places - in the idea of public parks, public beaches, public open space, public housing. In his later years he became obsessed with quantity and efficiency more than with quality of design, but in the years before World War II he brought forth a remarkable amount of public work of excellent, even distinguished, quality.

Jones Beach is a perfect example: Built in 1930, it is a people's palace beside the sea, an exquisite set of stone buildings designed to standards far in excess of the norm for public construction in its age or in our own.

Before Jones Beach, bathhouses were gen-erally shacks on the sand; Moses decided that he wanted enormous sandstone-andbrick structures, designed in a mix of Moorish, Gothic and 1930s modern, with a tower inspired by a Venetian campanile, rich mosaics, and elaborate, fanciful systems of signs and fountains.

The parkways Moses built were similar --the Northern and Southern State Parkways on Long Island were richly landscaped, curving roads whose designs would ultimately influence generations of parkway planners. As Jones Beach was a new model for what ure of his later work, should not blind us to the quality, even the grandeur, of his early projects.

walk of old-style beaches.

always been highhanded, became more arrogant still; he pushed through projects with an insistence that in today's climate seems almost impossible to believe, and the bulldoze-and-rebuild philosophy of urban re-

But Moses's arrogance, and the utter fail-

Today we have almost no sense of a public realm; planners cope, they do not dream on newal became his stock-in-trade.

a public beach might be, so were the early Moses parkways a new kind of public road, Moses's scale, and sometimes they seem not to dream at all. Now the same city and state government that underwrote Moses's imas different from the messy commercial strip mense public works are financially strapped, as Jones Beach was from the tawdry boardand they often look to private developers to build what meager public places and public amenities we are able to produce. It all changed in the years after World War II, when Moses's tactics, which had

Moses would have had no patience with the spirit of privatization that is afoot in the United States; he would surely have quite properly resented the forfeiture of public control that it represented.

For whatever else we can say of him, Moses was, in the end, an advocate of the idea of public vision. He may have contin-TO public official was more closely ually confused the public vision with his identified with the banal red-brick personal one, but that does not deny the towers of postwar public housing depth of his commitment to the possibilities than Moses, or with the insistence that highinherent in the public realm, to what a govways took priority over existing neighboremment determined to build well can do.

If power was too centralized under Robert Moses, as we mark the hundredth anniversary of his birth it is hard not to wonder if we have not paid a price for letting the pendulum swing so far the other way.

$ 1988 The New York Times

Just call your toll-free number below and tell the operator which subscription period you prefer. You may pay by credit card or we will invoice you or your company. If a toll-free number is not available in your country of residence or if you prefer to order by mail, just complete and mail the coupon below.

(Offer valid for new subscribers only.)

Country/Currency		TOLL-FREE TELEPHONE NUMBER	12 months (+52 free issues)	ONE-YEAR SAVINGS	6 months (+26 free issues)	3 months (+13 free issues)
Austrio 4	A. Sch.	0660 396	4,400	3,608	2,500	1,350
elgium 	B.Fr.	(02) 218 45 43*	11,000	7,200	6,000	3,300
unork	D.Kr.	0430 00 80	2,700	1,304	1,500	830
and	F,M.	(90) 60 30 30*	1,760	1,334	970	540
nce	F.F.	05-436 436	1,500	1,230	830	455
rmany	D.M.	0130 25 31	580	403	320	176
. Britain	3		135	83	74	41
reece ^{e4}	Dr.	691 02 42	23,500	23,820	13,250	7,300
land _	£lrl.		155	118_	85	47
y	Line		360,000	295,200	200,000	110,000
embourg	LFr.	49 49 60	71,000	7,200	5,000	3,300
herlands	R	06-022 08 15	600	492	340	185
rway	N.Kr.	(02) 41 34 89"	2,000	1,276	1,100	600
ugales	Esc	(01) 80 71 23*	26,000	26,780	14,300	7,900
21 40	Ptos.	(91) 401 29 00°	31,000	21,780	17,000	9,400
eden	S.Kr.	(08) 21 01 90*	2,000	1,276	1,100	600
itzerland	S.Fr.	046 05 68 00	455	455	255	141
t of Europe, I m. Fr. Afr., Mi			470	Varies	260	145
et of Afr. Gulf			620	by	340	190
ntral/Latin An			540	COURTY	295	160

i	Portugui ^{es}	Esc.)	(01) 80 71 23*	26,000]	26,780	14,300	7,750
1	Spain	Ptcs.	(91) 401 29 QQ*	31,000	21,780	17,000	9,400	9
	Sweden	Ş.Kr.	(08) 21 01 90*	2,000	1,276	1,100	600
	Switzerland	S.Fr.	046 05 68 00	455	455	255	141
	Rest of Europe, N. Afr form. Fr. Afr., Middle			470	Varies	260	145	46
	Rest of Afr., Gulf St., Asi	a 5		620	Ьу	340	190
	Central/Latin America	$		540	COURTY	295	160
	In the following countries, you will pay only the cast of a local call as a connecting charge. Belgium, Fartanet Norway, Portugal, Spain and Sweden. For all other listed toll-free numbers, the call is obsolutely free. Please ack your operator for details about hand delivery in these countries. Call this local number in Athens, (Not toll-free) ***** **** **** **** *** ***
	Condiespiry date
(Card account number.				23-12-	88
1	Vorme					* .
,	Address			_ City/Code				/ , , 🛰

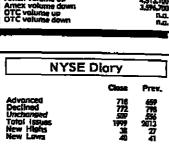

DIV. YIL PE 108: High Low Gust Chige

Dow Jones Bond Averages

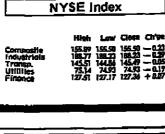

3,60a 7.9 ,18e 1.1 1.20 2.6 1.90 40 4.6 ,32a 5.1

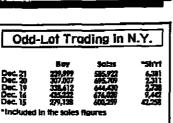

1.75 11.3 1.28 12.5

111/2074 111

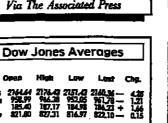

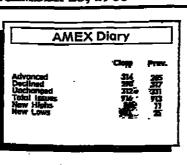

Market Sales

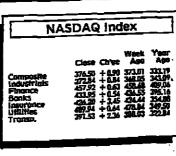

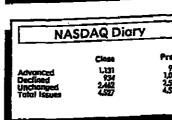

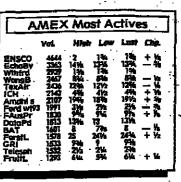

Standard & Poor's Index

Div. Yki, PE 100s High Low Quot, Chree

WALL STREET

AMEX Stock Index Law Clase Chas 300.57 299.44 300.33 + 0.42

PRO

The clear advantage

PHILIPS

de the nationwide prices up to the closing on Wall Street and do not reflect late trades els

NYSE Lower in Dull Trading

NEW YORK — Stock prices fell Thursday on the New York Stock Exchange in dull trading as year-end tax considerations and a persisting uneasiness about the outlook for the economy pushed many investors to the sidelines for the third consecutive day.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had eased 1.43 Wednesday, fell 4.28 to close at Declines led advances by about a 9-8 ratio.

Volume, dominated by stocks about to go ex-dividend, totaled 150.51 million shares, compared with 147.25 million traded on Wednes-Broader market indexes also declined. The NYSE composite index eased 0.23 to close at 155.50. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index fell 0.51 to 276.87. The price of an average share dropped 23 cents. Analysts attributed the dull nature of Thursday's trading activity to lack of meaningful economic news and tax-related selling before the end of the year. "There's nothing economic to give a reason for either a rally or a decline," said Gail Du-dack, a market analyst with S.G. Warburg.

Analysts said they expected little fallout from the announcement late Wednesday by Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. The investment banking house said it had reached an agreement with the U.S. attorney's office in which it will plead guilty to six felony counts and pay $650 million in penalties and fines in connection with Wall Street's broadest insider trading case to date. "Drexel's aunouncement will calm the waters a little bit in the equities market, but it will have more of a calming effect on the corporate bond market," Ms. Dudack said. She said the market appeared to be taking a pause from its year-end rally, which began in November. However, she expected it to resume its upward course soon.

.60 24 31 4.40 26 15

Div. Ykd. PE 1805 High Low Qual. Chiga

AT&T was the most active issue, 29%. The stock goes ex-dividend on Monday. The company said Thursday that it had agreed to acquire Eaton Financial, a leasing company based in Framingham, Massachusetts. Commonwealth Edison followed, up ¼ to 33.

The stock goes ex-dividend on Friday. Nynex, which also goes ex-dividend Friday, was third, off 1% to 67%. Among blue chips, IBM fell ½ to 122½, Woolworth rose ½ to 50, Union Carbide rose ¼ to 25%, Boeing rose ¾ to 59% and General Motors fell % to 85%. Dow Chemical, which goes ex-dividend Friday, fell % to 85% with heavy volume.

Among takeover-related issues, RJR Nabisco fell % to 90%, Prime Computer, ex-dividend, rose % to 17%, West Point-Pepperell rose % to 42% and Cummins Engine, which soared 6 points where the fell of the fell rose 1/4 to 581/4.

Sis. Clase 100s High Law Qual Chips

| 1.18 | 2.11 | 341 | 345 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 346 | 34

764 Conneil of the control of the co 20 3.1 9 20 3.1 9
20 3.1 9
20 3.1 19
122 92 23
123 123 124
1240 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7.4 111
120 7. 577111945 767477933 2392 41237113948 2264 242 2514 242 1257 13948 2514 1444 1469 522 244 242 2514 2514 1527 13948 2514 1444 1469 522 244 11,75 11.9 37 .16 12.15 231 10.3 134 11.4 132 23 19 .64 21 .68 20 10 .68 20 10 .68 20 10 .68 20 10 .68 21 12 .68 22 12 .78 24 12 .

22 40 40 1.52 5.6 13

1,47127,6 .32 1.0 6 1.30 15.1 216

H 120 J 120 82 21

5 HQ HIF 188 82
2 Hodson
2 Hod

10% 992 JHM of
12% 15% JP Ind
12% 15% JP Ind
12% 15% JP Ind
12% 16% Jockpot
25% 21% JR/ver of 46% 46% AFW JR/v of 15% 79 Jensey
15% 25% Jessen
15% 27% Jessen
15% 5% Jessen
15% Jessen

| 14/4 Lile | 1791 | 18/4 Lile | 18/4 L 100年代, 间144次线路的设施。 1914年11月11日,1916年

7年20年5日2日 1950年 1

27年前18年 1827年 1820年 182

19 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 Services

I share

I

SEA NASCO
1974 NEBD
19 n a community たこ 人 ママツ State of the state

2

Herald Eribune. BUSINESS/FINANCE

WALL STREET WATCH

Investors Await New Surge In Attempted Takeovers

By ANISE C. WALLACE

New York Times Service EW YORK - Investors are anticipating a new burst of takeover attempts by corporations and financial firms. "I think it's the calm before the next storm," said the mutual fund subsidiary of Shearson Lehman Hutton Inc., which invests more than $30 billion in stock and bond mutual

Mr. Kroll and many other professional investors on Wall Sfreet say that heavy takeover activity will resume at the beginning of January, much as it did at the beginning of this year. If the bidding frenzy resumes, arbitragers are sitting on a mountain of cash that could quickly be put to work in announced or rumored deals. In recent weeks, institutions, individuals and resume at the heavy bidding to just as a year ago.

Experts expect

beginning of January,

arbitrage firms have received almost $14 billion in cash from trading in takeover and stock buyback companies, Salomon Brothers said.

Armenian nationalis

Military Rule

ar political campaign at a ragedy. onblic attention focused on hquake, the arrests have id. Seven of the 11 counties pers are in custody, serving entences that family men

d friends predict will be d as long as it suits official mood in Yerevan has markedly since Septement the authorities briefly

ban on travel to the reput.

virtually nonstop, open-a-

I discussions that raged out.

e city's neoclassical open have ended. The square be e opera house is now night

ks and troops, who wented

throughout Armenia, biter

oward Azerbaijan is unaba aintained by a continue ay exodus of refugees.

atleman is at issue.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

MAGNIFICENT RIVE

Viore

E

AS ran one bec

CHI.

ಯಾಕ್ಷ್ಮಿ ನ್ಯಾಟ್ ಪ್ರಾಸ್ಥೆ ಪ್ರಾಸ್ತೆ of vests at nightfall.

oreign reporters.

This includes $170 million from the management-led buyout of Foodmaker Inc., $12.9 billion from the takeover of Kraft by Philip Morris Inc., $110 million from American Hoist & Derrick's takeover of Coast America and $403.8 million from the buyback of 20 million Pennwalt shares. So far, traders and arbitragers say, very little of this cash has been channeled back into the stock market. The arbitrage firms that have received their payments, for example, have been setting aside much of their cash in Treasury bills. Traders are so convinced that the buyout binge will continue that they are virtually ignoring the cries for reform in Washington. They say the legislators who have expressed concern about the size and financing of these buyouts will likely be unable or unwilling to take the measures necessary to slow the pace.

"I don't see any configuration of potential laws that you can pass to stop this," said Ernest G. Wiggins, portfolio manager of the Fidelity Value Fund.

"It's not going to stop and it's not going to go away," Mr. Kroll of SLH Asset Management said.

The expectations of many professional investors are so strong that they do not even profess worry about the winding up of the Drexel Burnham Lambert case. Many past buyouts have been financed with high-yield "junk bonds" distributed by Drexel. On Wednesday, Drexel agreed to plead guilty to six U.S. felony counts and to pay a $650 million to settle the biggest Wall Street securities fraud case on record.

RADERS cited the fact that the junk bond market barely reacted last summer when the Securities and Exchange Commission filed its long-awaited enforcement action against Drexel for insider trading.

While many agree that the buyouts are likely to continue, they disagree about the size of any future deals. Because of the furor raised by the size of the $25 billion RJR Nabisco deal, David N. Dreman, managing director of Dreman Value Management, argued that there would not be any more deals above $20 billion. "I don't think the bank lines of credit are open and that the junk bond market is big enough," he said. He predicted the next crop of deals would have market values of around $5 billion. But Mr. Kroll of SLH, for one, says the RJR Nabisco acquisi-tion by the leveraged buyout firm Kohlberg, Kravis, Roberts &

Co. opens the door for much larger buyouts. He predicts takeovers with market value of $40 billion or $50 billion. He compares the buyout phenomenon to the prices paid for New York real estate. Every so often, he said, people complain that prices cannot go any higher. But so far, prices of apartments have continued to climb

HUNTER AND PREY - U.S. Attorney Rudolph W. Ginliani and men targeted in his investigations on Wall Street. Clockwise, from above left: Ivan F. Boesky, pleaded guilty to securities fraud, serving three years in federal prison; Dennis B. Levine, pleaded guilty to securities fraud, released on parole in September after serving 18 months; Boyd L. Jefferies, pleaded guilty to stock manipulation, awaiting sentencing; and Michael R. Milken.

A Powerful Broom Sweeps Wall Street Giuliani: Zealous Prosecutor Makes a Name for Himself

By Scot J. Paltrow

Las Angeles Times Service
NEW YORK — The agreement by Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. to plead guilty to criminal charges is the latest episode in U.S. Attorney Rudolph W. Giuliani's personal crusade against flagrant cheating at the high-est levels of Wall Street.

In recent months, there has been what brokers and investment bankers view as a blizzard of indictments, including the first use of the draconian federal racketeering statute against securities companies. Wall Street's lawyers complain that the ambitious, publicity-hungry prosecutor uses vindictive tactics to get witnesses to cooperate and that he has applied criminal law to an area that had been left almost entirely to civil regulation by the Securities and Exchange Commis-

But Mr. Giuliani, 44, the U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York, which includes Manhattan, says that criminal prosecution is necessary as a deterrent. He defends his tactics, denying accusations by defense lawyers that he heaps on redundant criminal charges when his office indicts individuals who refused to cooperate with investigations. "The decisions we make are based on the merits of the case," he said. Drexel and the other accused Wall Street figures are simply one category among the many high-profile targets that New York's chief federal prosecutor has gone after since he took office five years ago.

Friends and colleagues describe him as a zealot among crime fighters. His targets have included high-level organized crime figures, corrupt New York City officials, congressmen, the Teamsters union, and Ferdinand E. Marcos, the former president of the Philip-pines, and his wife, Imelda. After what some say was a slow start, Mr.

Giuliani has turned the aggressive prosecution of Wall Street figures into a hallmark of his tenure as U.S. attorney. He expanded the office's securities fraud unit, which now includes 14 assistant prosecutors. The office has brought about 60 insider trading cases since Mr. Giuliani's first full year in office, compared with only 12 ever brought before in his district

Mr. Giuliani's office handled the plea agreements that led the Wall Street executive Ivan F. Boesky to cooperate with prosecutors in other investigations. That cooperation led directly to Wednesday's settlement agreement by Drexel.

Last year, in a related case, Boyd L. Jefferies, head of Jefferies & Co. in Los Angeles, pleaded guilty to stock manipulation charges. Among the other developments in the past six months are stock manipulation charges against GAF Corp. and its vice chairman, James T. Sherwin, whose trial began Wednesday; market manipulation charges against the stock speculator Salim B. Lewis; racketeering and other charges against Princeton-Newport Partners, a small investment con-cern that had extensive business dealings with Drexel; and the grand jury indictment Wednesday of Paul A. Bilzerian, the corporate raider and chairman of Singer Co.

Stanley Arkin, a defense lawyer and authority on white-collar criminal law who represents a number of those indicted by Mr. Giuliani, including Mr. Lewis, accuses the prosecutor of "cynical, malicious redundan-

See ZEALOT, Page 13

GEC of Britain, CGE of France In Joint Venture

LONDON — Compagnie Générale d'Electricité of France and General Electric Co. of Britain will merge their power engineering operations to create the largest such group in the European Communiwill become the world's largest with a revenue of $2.7 billion a year.

GEC said its Power Systems Group would combine with CGE's Alsthom subsidiary to form an engineering group with expected annual sales of more than £4 billion ($7 billion), net assets of £8 billion and 85,000 employees.

Each company will take a 50 percent share in setting up a new joint company, a statement issued in London and Paris said.

The scope of the joint company activities will include the development, production and marketing of equipment in power generation, electricity distribution and transmission, rail transport, industrial automation and related fields," the statement said. "The company will be the largest power engineering enterprise of the European Community," it added. It was not immediately clear what effect the new venture would have on GEC's pending £1.7 billion acquisition — along with Siemens AG of West Germany —of Plessey Co., the British telecommunications and electronics group.

The two deals would not necessarily be mutually exclusive, however, as the GEC-Siemens-Plessey link would focus on high technology, while the GEC-CGE link would focus on engineering.

The Plessey transaction, if completed, would give GEC a share of the European telecommunications market as well as make it a formidable supplier of electronic components and systems to the world's military contractors. For CGE, formerly a state-controlled group that was sold to private investors in May, the link with GEC would give it with a pan-European power engineering capability to match its pan-European approach to telecommunications. At the end of 1986, CGE took over the West European telecommunications business of ITT Corp. through the formation of a joint venture, Alcatel NV, in which it In their joint statement Thursday, the two companies said that in the production of power-generat-

In the area of transportation and distribution of energy, revenue is expected to reach $1.2 billion, and in railroad equipment, where Alsthom is already the world leader, it will reach $1.1 billion a year. Alsthom will also include its shippards as a subsidiary of the new company.

The new company's name, and the date of its formation, were not specified, but the announcements in Paris and London said that the president would be Jean-Pierre Desgeorges, the president of Alsthom, and that the vice president would be Robert Davidson, the current president of Power Sys-

More than half of the company's des will be outside Britain and France. The group's supervisory board will be composed equally of GEC and CGE representatives.

Alsthom, which is strong in Europe, Brazil, Mexico and Indonesia, primarily orients its exports to Southeast Asia, the Mediterranean basin and Latin America.

GEC has revenue of $3.42 billion. It has plants in India, South Africa and Australia, and is oriented toward the Commonwealth

In 1987, Alsthom's turnover reached $4.74 billion and profits of $74 million.

A quarter of GEC's sales, or about $833 million, involves the construction of power plants.

Although the new venture would form the largest power engineering group in the European Community, it would not necessarily be the largest in Europe.

For example, Asea Brown Boveri, the Swedish-Swiss engineering and electronics giant, posted sales of $8.5 billion in the first half of CGE posted group net profit of 1.83 billion francs ($305 million) in 1987, while GEC posted pretax profits of £708 million.

Currency Rates

	Cross R	ates							De	22 ء
•	Amsterdam Brussels(a) Frankfur) London (b) Milan New York (c) Paris Tekyo Zurich 1 ECU 1 SDR Closings in L	$ 2,003 37,1075 1,7742 1,7765 1,306,70 	2 3411 67,02 1199 2,353,90 1,795 to 10,918 24,91 2,491 0,498 0,744 70ky/0 and	D.M. 1.1289 20.94 	F.F. 0.2306 6.738 0.3729 18,877 215,67 4.054 20,64 8.2472 7.9942 8.1552 fixings i	1,304.50 6,4637 = 0.958 6,1147 = 1,530.30 1,737.30	Gldr. ————————————————————————————————————	B.F. 5387 * 4771 * 6687 35.134 37.17 0.1629 * 43259 * 43259 * 43594 50.0727	S.F. 1,381 24,846 1,1857 2,8925 871,29 1,495 4,108 61,31 — 1,7926 2,8137 losing ro	Yes 1,404 * 02943 1,423 * 224,365 10,483 * 124,55 * 4,55 * 4,55 * 1,2913 * 146,03 167,642 offer.
	Closings in London, Takyo and Zurich, fixings in other centers. New York closing rates. a: Commercial franc; b: To buy one pound; c: To buy one dallar; ": Units of 180; N.Q.: not quoted; N.A.: not available.
	Other D	ellar	Value	26						-
	Currency Argen, custral Austral, 5 Austra, 5chil, Belg, fin, fr. Brezil cruz, Camadian 5 Chinese yuan Danish lopae Egypt, pouad New York raft Par Ware	1,1744 12.46 39.38 704.31 1.1958 3.7221 6.853 2.3329	Malay, marked	ericke froc. long S rupee seloh li shek. i dinar* ring.*	2.706	Currency Mex. pess N. Zegism Nig. nairs Nex. larc Pert. esc Saudi riya Sing. S S. Kor. wa	2280, d $ 1. r	00 S. A 57 Sov 28 Sec 61 Swe 70 Tak 50 The 13 Ter 13 UAI	rency fr. road let ruble s. peseld d, krona wan $ 1 baht* kish Uro E dirbon ez. beliv	114,36 4.13 28,14 25,285 1768,56 1768,56
•	Eurrency Pound Sterlin Japanese yen Desische mar	9] 1	1,7921 1, 124.19 1; 1,7688 1,	7849 1 23.49 · · 1 7632 1	.7580	Currency Canadian Swiss from	dollar nc	38-day 1,1951 1,4936	1,1994	1,4832
	Sources: Indosusz Bank (Brussels); Banca Commerciale Italiana (Milan); Bancue Nationale de Paris (Paris); Bank di Takva (Tokva); IMF (SDR); BAH (dinar, rival, dirham); Gasbank truble). Other data from Reuters and AP.
	Interest Rates
	_								_

month month months months months months months	Doller 9 K-9 M Ph. 474 9 K-9 M Ph. 477 Marpon G	S N=5 % 5N=5V2 Juoranty (C	Swites Franc 4 WeS 476-5 476-5 476-5 antor, DM	Sterling 12%-13 12%-13 12 %-13 %- 12 %-13 %- 12 %-12 %- 5F, Possol (6) ST million min	FF, yen); i		74 7 %
				-	nn Bel

Key Money	Rates !	Dec. 22	Aslan De
United States	Close	Prev.	1 month
AIDISCOURT TOTA	61/2	65	2 months
Prime role	16%	1892	: 3 months
Federal funds	8 11/16	274	A months
Coin paper 90-179 days	1.27	6.77	1 year
Senseth Treesory bills	1.07	8.85
4-month Treasury bills		8.14	Source: Reute
2-month CD's	8.50	8.50	ł
3-month CD's	1.50	£50	i ——
Japan			l _
Discount rate	21/2	27/2	U.S. Mer
Cali maney	3 15/14	4.50	l .
2-month interiorik.	- 44	45	· ·
3-month interbent	49/16	4%	Merrill, Lynch,
	_		16-day average
West Germany			Telerate inter
Discount rute	31/2	-31/2	Source: Merri
Lembert rule	51/2	Str
Overnight rate	3%	41/2	I ~——
1-month interbank	5.46	5.55	1 4
3-month interbenk	5.45	5.55	(E
6-mouth Interbook	5.55	5.60]
Britoin
Bank base rate	13.00		i
Cell molthy	121/2	1214
. Amonth luterbook		13 1/14
month interbent	12 15/16	12 15/16	Hong Kong
•			Ports (12.5 kilk
France		•	Zurien
Intervention rate	7%	7%	London
Céli menty	8 9/16	84	New York
1-month brierbank	81/2	81/2
2-month interbuild	610	B 9/16	Luxembourg.
Salesoft National	0.0014	-	Ings; Hoog K

		D	e 22
	A.M.	P.M.	Cp,86
Hong Koag	41545	415.55	+ 1,00
Lunes in bourg	415.50	_	+ 1.00
Paris (124 kile)	414.62	434,53	+ 1,23
Zurien	41540	417.45	+240
London	415.60	417.25	+ 2,65
New York	_	41L00	+275
Luxembourg, Po ings; Hoos Kan clasing prices; I	re and .	Zurich ops	ning and

Gold

EVEN TO STAY WHERE YOU ARE, YOU HAVE TO MOVE.

Head office: 96-98 rue du Rbône, Geneva, tel. 022/37 2111 or 32 65 80. Branch offices: in Zurich, Babnhofstrasse 20. tel. 01/219 6111; in Lugano, Vla F. Soare 1, tel. 091/20 28 82; in London, 34 Grafton St., tel. (1) 491 22 11; in Nassau, Beaumont House, Bay Street. Liceembourg: Trade Development Bank (Luceembourg) S.A., 34, Avenue de la Porte-Neuve, tel. (352) 41893. In Asia, for private banking information, please contact American Express Bank Ltd. in Hong Kong and Singapore. In North America, for further information, please contact American Express Bank International in New York, Miami, Los Angeles, Beverty Hills, San Francisco and San Diego.

Unce you're on top, you discover that there's a lot to stay on top of. Events anywhere in the world can hit home, instantly. Today, just preserving success can take as much energy as achieving it. That's the business of TDB American Express Bank. What we offer, in addition to the celebrated Swiss banking environment, is a true investment culture. With our American Express affiliation, you'll have access to an entire world of investment opportunities, while enjoying the privacy and security of Switzerland. To find out what we can do for you, just call us. Or visit us the next time you're in Switzerland.

PRIVATE BANKING SOLUTIONS IN SWITZERLAND

TDBAMERICAN EXPRESS BANK

van een ministration van paramita king gemeen in het een tage.

TI, Hitachi Join In Developing a 16-Megabit Chip

By David E. Sanger

New York Times Service

TOKYO — Two of the world's largest makers of semiconductors, Texas Instruments Inc.

and Hitachi Lttd., said Thursday that they would jointly develop a next-generation memo-ry chip, the first such alliance in an industry that usually draws battle lines along national bor-

Company officials say the agreement was intended to share the enormous cost and enormous risk of developing a 16 million bit memocommercially available for three to four years. What makes the arrangement particularly un-usual is its timing: With the Japanese dominat-ing the memory chip market, American producers and the Pentagon are working to preserve the remaining U.S. chip-making technology. Most of those efforts, including Sematech, a most or those errors, incruming Sematech, a consortium designed to restore American talents in chip-making processes, exclude Japanese manufacturers. Texas Instruments is a member of the consortium, but officials here said they did not see a conflict of interest in said they did not see a contlict of interest in participating in such projects while at the same time collaborating with a Japanese competitor. "This is a first for American and Japanese companies in this field," said Kazno Kimbara, a member of Hitachi's board. "We both admire each other's technology, and we think this makes a lot of serve."

Analysts said that it was not immediately clear which company had the most to gain from the agreement; Both have the talent and the cash to fund development of the 16 megabit D-RAM, or dynamic random access memory, without outside help. By pooling their resources, however, they can afford to develop several alternative designs and select the best, officials from both companies said.

"It's a way of increasing the effectiveness of the investment," said Akira Ishikawa, president of Texas Instruments Japan Ltd. "It reduces the chances of a big delay" due to unforseen technical obstacles, he said.

But the program same likely to generate come.

But the move seems likely to generate some controversy in the industry and in Washington, where the wisdom of such joint efforts is a topic of considerable debate.

Those who favor such alliances generally argue that the United States has basically lost the battle for memory chips, and so the country's chip makers have little more to lose by teaming up with the Japanese to develop future generations of chips.

Those who oppose such alliances argue that they gradually undercut U.S. abilities to develop such technology without outside assistance. In time, they argue, such agreements create more dependency on Japan, not less.

Mr. Ishikawa said that Texas Instruments had discussed the risks of appearing to aid the Japanese industry with the joint development agreement, while competing with Japanese manufacturing technology in projects like Se-"We saw no particular conflict," he said.

"Sematech technology will not make its way to Hitachi."

So far, Texas Instruments has done fine on its own. The company operates a major semiconductor production plant in Japan, and it has replicated the facility in Dallas. More than a year ago, the company settled patent infringe-ment disputes with Hitachi on previous generament disputes with Flazini or previous generations of the chip technology.

In addition to TI, only Micron Technology and International Business Machines Corp. still produce DRAMs in the United States, and IBM uses almost all of its chips internally.
One other company, Motorola, is re-entering DRAM production. But it is licensing the chip there Technical Corp. the largest company.

design from Toshiba Corp., the largest commercial producer of 1 megabit memory chips, the Several companies, including Texas Instru-ments, Hitachi, Motorola, Toshiba and IBM, are already producing 4-megabit chips in small quantities. Toshiba has already announced the building of an experimental 16-megabit chip.

24e 4.0 1.76 12.4 32 7.1 20 4.4 1.20 29 1.5e .8 1.00 19 7.4 2.4

3% Rymer 74 Rymer pf1.17 14.6

44 25 11 78 72 12 188 47 4

1.40 12.7 11

5个创新的设备,这种企业,我们是一个人的企业,我们是一个人的企业,我们是一个人的企业,我们是一个人的企业,我们是一个人的企业,我们是一个人的企业,我们是一个人的企业,我们是一个人的企业,我们是一个人的

Feb May July Feb May July Feb May July Fev. 5 67.00 67.00 64.25 64.25 60.92 60.92 62.90 58.50 61. Sole Prev. Do CHEROSPE CO Dec. 22 50304 4.39% 4.25% 3.99 4.07% 11.737 424 352 197 405 FEE C (NYCSCE)
Its. conts per (b.)
112.44 Mor |
112.45 Mor |
114.00 Jul |
114.00 Sep M
114.00 Dec M
122.00 Mor |
122.00 Mor |
122.00 Mor |
122.00 Text |
122.00 Mor |
122.00 7 284h 286h; 283 7 291 291h; 288h; 293h; 294h; 291h; 273h; 279 274 2 278h; 278h; 278h; 2 278h; 278h; 278h; 201s; 8647 2.63% — 01% 2.69% — 00% 2.57% — 60% 2.75% + 0.0% 2.75% + 0.1% 2.75% + 0.1% Mar Jul Sep Dec Mar Priv. Day Open Int. 21,801 us to SUGARWORLD 11 (NYCSCE) 112,808 us - 2,98 Jon 9,25 14,39 7,44 Aur 11,11 12,64 2,97 May 10,86 13,36 4,46 Qct 10,32 13,36 14,36 Qct 10,32 13,36 Qct 10,32 5.53 5.79 6.48% 7.47% 7.25 6.63 6.63 6.63 6.64 7.00 Jon 7.96 Mar 8.14 May 8.23 Jul 8.23 Jul 8.13 Sep 7.57 Nov 7.20 Jan 7.32 Mar 7.32 Mar 7.32 Mar 7.32 Mar 7.32 Mar 7.32 7,924 8,05% 8,18% 8,22 8,10 7,43 7,247 7,25 7,40 - 10% - 10% - 10% - 10% + 10% 10.34 10.23 10.03 7.86 9.51 8.75 7.37 Est. 7.51 8.86 8.17 8.30 7.56 7.16 7.37 7.30 8.14 8.24 7.25 7.25 7.20 1.780 1125 Ator 1 1125 Ator 1 1132 Ator 1 1132 Ator 1 1175 Jul 1 1206 Sep 1 1240 Dec 1 1305 Ator 1 Ator 1 Ator 1 1305 Ator 1 1305 Ator 1 Mar Mar Mar Jul Aug Sep Oct Dec Prev. Doy Open Int. 35,877 off 553

ORANGE JUJICE (PYCE)

178.09 120.09 Jon 163.00 163.1

178.50 187.50 Jon 163.00 163.1

178.50 187.50 Moy 163.00 163.1

177.50 149.00 Moy 163.00 163.1

177.00 162.50 Jul 162.55 163.4

170.10 161.00 5ep 163.00 163.1

164.50 155.00 Moy 163.00 163.1

Jon Moy

Est. Soles 800 Prev. Soles 1,338

Prev. Doy Open Int. 8,470 off 56 251.00 252.00 252.00 244.50 201.50 214.50 214.50 214.50 212.70 -60 -60 +35 +350 50YBE 40,000 ft 32,000 ft 21.77 24.29 24.30 25.15 25.25 25.49 25.49 23,42 21,93 24,95 24,95 25,05 25,05 25,10 25,10 +20

U.S. Futures

Via The Associated Press

Seasan Seasan High Law

154,00 151,50 151,50 149,50 149,50

-1.10 -1.10 -1.00 -1.25 -1.17 -1.17 +30 +30

9.25 11.97 10.54 10.56 10.32 9.42 10.08 9.84

CATTLE (CM 0,000 lbs.- cert 75.40 65. 76.47 67. 75.20 64. 72.20 65. 72.00 62. 74.11 68. 74.20 62. 74.12 68. 74.13 68. 74.13 74.20 62. 73.90 75.30 75.30 70.30 70.35 71.35 +.10 -.15 -.13 +.20 -.10 Apr Jun Aug Sep Oct Dec 73.45 75.20 73.22 71.25 71.25 71.45 灩 70,35 71,12 PEEDER CATTLE (CM8 44,000 lbs.-cents per lb. 65,86 74,00 Jon 32,95 74,00 Akar 22,96 74,00 Akar 22,96 74,00 Akar 80,25 77,50 Akag 80,05 77,55 Sep 77,15 77,40 Oct 80,10 78,15 Nov Est. Solos 1,373 Prev. So Prev. Day Opgs Ind. 13,222 N151 88 85 150 83.40 82.70 81.40 81.25 77.40 77.40 80.25 77.40 80.25 81.00 81.00 81.15 77.60 77.60 77.95 HOGS (CME) 30,000 fbs.-cen 52,05 41, 51,65 42, 56,25 42, 56,00 42, 47,00 42, 47,00 42, 47,00 32, 815, Soles 32, Prev. Day Ope Cents | 41.99 40.93 40.93 40.93 40.93 40.93 40.93 40.93 10.9 Apr Apr Juli Aug Oct Dec 45.20 45.20 47.20 47.20 45.20 45.20 46.60 47.62 47.55 47.10 45.20 45.20 45.45

Mitsui and Iran Remain Deadlocked on Project

TOKYO — Mitsui & Co. has advised Iran that the Iran-Japan Petrochemical Co. project should be scrapped but Iran contends that it needs more time to decide the project's fate, according to Mitsui sources.

An Iranian mission left Japan on Thursday after failing to resolve the future of the troubled project.

Mitsui is the lead Japanese investor in the joint-venture project on Iran's Gulf Coast, which was 85 percent completed when the Iran-Iraq war broke out in September, 1980. The project was heavily bombed by Iraq during the war and Mitsui now considers it to be a total loss.

"We asked for their appreciation of our conclusion that friendly separation is the only way left for LIPC from our corporate point of view," Hiroshi Watada, president of Iran Chemical Development Co., said in a statement Iran Chemical Development is the Japanese partner in the project.

Discussions between Mitsui and Iran will continue next year, sources from both sides said. National Petrochemical Co., the Iranian said. National Petrochemical Co., the framan partner in joint venture, plans to send another mission to Japan in January, they said.

Mitsui told Iran that resumption of work on the complex was not financially justifiable, while Iran missted on further inspections of the plant. Asked when Mitsui would be able to settle the dispute, a spokesman, "The sooner, the better." the better.

64.70 64.70 64.70 64.70 73.15 73.70 77.45 77.500 Dec Jan Feb Mar May Jul Sep Dec ALUMA 49,000 II 115,00 84,50 104,00 104,00 104,00 100,50 12,50 194.80 194.80 194.90 194.90 192.90 97.90 94.90 94.90 94.90 Est. Soles Prev. Day Sil. VER (6 $100 troy o 1002.9 1082.9 45.0 96 611.5 612.8 623.5 634.5 634.5 634.8 634.8 672.0 616.9 621.8 626.8 637.2 647.9 658.5 678.2 689.5 711.4 721.5 Dec Jon Feb Mar Jul Sep Jon Mar Jul Sep Jon Mar Jon Sep ##E)

##E) 1707 07. 418.50 401.00 407.00 407.00 412.00 412.00 412.00 412.00 412.00 412.00 412.00 412.00 412.00 Dec Jon Feb Apr Aug Oct Dec Apr Aug Oct Au

Financial US T. Bill.LS (IMAN)

I million-pits of 100 pct.

93.63 91.26 Moor 92.07 92.19

92.48 91.79 Jun 92.01 92.19

92.11 91.81 Sep 92.00 92.10

92.11 91.81 Sep 92.00 92.01

92.40 91.75 Jun

Est. Soiles 1,860 Prev. Soiles 2,737

Prev. Day Open Int. 25.829 of 668

16 YR. TREASURY (CBT)

95.10 89.24 Moor 97.14 97.19

94 67-13 Sep 97.14 97.19

94 67-13 Sep Prev. Soiles 17.628

Prev. Day Open Int. 69.932 of 15.57

US TREASURY BONDS (CBT) 긐 Prev. Day Open Int. 8/32 on 1 of US TREASURY BONDS (CBT) (8pct-5100/800-pts & 23nds of 100 pc 95-10 7-28 Mar 88-20 94-4 73-11 Jun 98-8 193-47 72-25 Sep 88-2 92-22 72-16 Dec 88-34 1 88-31 72-1 Mar 88-14 1 88-31 77-1 Sep + XX + XX + XX + XX + XX + XX Mor Jun Sep Dec Mor Jun Sap 150,000 bc 187,60 187,00 188,10 188,40 188,60 185,20 185,00 Est, Sqle Prev. Do Jon Jon Mar May Jul Sep Nov Jort Prev. S cd. ft. 180.50 181.76 186.00 184.80 185.70 184.30 186.88 186.10 186.70 188.30 186.30 188.10 184.50 184.90 184.90 184.60 184.60 184.60 186.60 184.60 186.00 186.80 186.90 181,10 184,70 187,20 188,40 168,80 185,40 185,40 +.10 +.20 +.30 +.30 +.30 Prev. Day Open Int.

COTTON 2 (NYCE)
5,000 bis.-cenis per il
64,96 49,0 M
44,97 49,26 Ju
46,57 50,25 Cu
46,57 50 58,82 58,88 58,90 57,20 Man Dec Man Man + 13 + 18 + 16 + 16 2,000 gal 52,30 51,50 50,30 58,06 47,00 44,85 44,35 44,35 44,36 Est. Soles Jon Feb Mor Apr Mor Jul Sep Oct CRUDE OIL (NYME)
1,898 bbl - dollars per b 11.10 12.30 Fe
18.05 12.51 Mc
18.25 12.00 Ap
17.02 12.20 Mc
14.00 12.00 12.00 In 17.06 12.05 Jul
17.06 12.05 Jul
18.05 12.06 Se
18.05 12.06 Se
Est. Soits Se
Est. Soits Se
Frav. Octy Open (m. 18.00 Feb Feb Agr Apr Adry Jun Jun Sep Dec 16.25 15.90 15.63 15.34 15.35 15.36 15.36 15.36 14.52 14.06 15.82 15.71 15.44 15.49 15.38 15.38 SP COMP. INDEX (CALE) points and cents
788.50 253.90 Acr 280.55 281.25 279.90 280.95 —40
270.35 281.80 Jun 283.50 283.00 283.00 283.00 —35
287.80 271.50 Sep Prev. Sales 20.461
Prev. Day Open Int. 118,157 up 1.848 VALUE LINE (KCEPT)
coloris and cents
278.0 234.80 Acr 244.10 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 20.460 prev. Sales 10 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 10 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 10 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 10 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 245.76 Jun 246.25 247.30 249.50 249.40 +130
Est. Sales 246.80 prev. Sales 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 247.10 246.10 247.10 245.45 246.50 +70
290.00 246.70 246.10 247.10 246.50 246.50 +70
290.00 246.70 246.10 247.10 246.50 246.50 +70
290.00 246.70 246.10 247.10 246.50 246.50 +70
290.00 246.70 246.10 246.10 247.10 246.50 246.50 +70
290.00 246.70 246.10 246.10 247.10 246.50 246.50 +70
290.00 246.70 246.10 246.10 246.10 246.10 246.10 246.10 246.10 246.

+2 +3 +4

111111

B7-29 ### Dec ### B7-29 ### Dec ### B7-29 ### B7-21 ### B7-25 ### B7-24 ### B7-24 ### B7-24 ### B7-24 ### B7-25 ### B7-25

B pct.

Mor Jun

Sep Dec Mor Jun

90.73 90.73 90.54 90.54 90.53 90.44 90.44

92.77 92.12 91.92 91.76 91.42 91.40 91.31 91.96 90.95 90.95 Est. Soles Prev. Day 6 B Ref Polyte

Commodity Indexes 1,140.60 1,970.70 145.61 257.36 Moody's: base 100: Dec. 31, 1931. p-preliminary; f-final Reuters: base 100: Sep. 18, 1931. Dow Jones: base 100: Dec. 31, 1974.

To Our Readers Currency option prices were not available in this edition because of technical problems.

Spot

Dec. 22 Prev # 1.039 1.165 1.745 212.00 0.39 0.48 6.10 473.00 117.00 4,602.6 0.72

Dec. 22

8.33 8.65 8.95

Prev. Yield 8.38 8.62 8.95

London Metals Dividends France Fund Inc Fat Fd Strl. Cr Dis 2495.00 2505.00 2410.00 2415.00 Bottek Carp Bontars Tr NY Bontars Tr NY Brooktyn Unden G s Carolina Per & Leht Carolina Per & Leht Carolina Per & Caroli Glottelter (PH) Jefferson Bickles Montan Power Co Not! Banc of Carms, Not! Service Indus NIPSCO Industries Puerto Rican Cent Ryland Group SOCOODS - 1022 1-16 1-25 2-1 2-1 1-31 1-31 1-31 1-12 2-16 2-15 ic ton 406.00 408.05 404.06 406.05 345.00 378.00 378.00 377.00 HITIAL NICKEL Deliers P Seet Ferword Pro-Med Casified Rebit Life Insur A Reibit Life Insur B Revas Tops. Signer Bankina Souffweld Gas Souffweld Gas Souffweld Gas Souffweld Gas Souffweld Gas Souffweld Gas Stane & Webster Termoleton Val Fnd Topps Co United Kaden Fund Weisfield's Inc Wywnan-Gardon Co Wyman-Gardon Co Wyman-Gardon Co Co Consulted Kaden Fund Weisfield's Inc Wywnan-Gardon Co Consulted Kaden Fund Consulted Kaden Fund Weisfield's Inc Wywnan-Gardon Co Consulted Kaden Fund Consulted Research STOCK London STOCK-SPLIT Commodities Exchange Bancars — 5-for-4 lefferson Bankshares — 4-for-3 SUSPENDED Paris Commodities

Comp Alliance Financial Alliance Find Corp Amer Precision Amer Tel & Tel Co AVX Corp Azlec Még Banda McGlickin Cot Bangar Hydro-Elec. Q 25 1-26 12-31 Q 25 1-36 12-37 Q 16 1-16 1-12 Q 26 2-13 12-38 Q 16 2-13 1-2-31 Q 16 2-13 12-31 Q 27 1-26 12-31 SUGAF Frenci Mor Moy Aug Oct Dec Mor Est. S&P 100 Index Options

COCOA French Dec Mar Mary Jly Sep Dec Mar

Commodities Totaly 1.94 1.17 1.722 213,00 0.395 0.50 6.13 473,90 113,08 4.4069 0.75 US.Treasuries OHer 8.05 8.75 8.75 8.27 To Our Readers

Dec. 22

12% = =

00Ci p 1,720 1,700 1,680 N,T, N.T. N.T. 1,700 1,680 N.T. N.T. N.T. N.T. 1,718 1,498 1,698 1,660 1,650 1,725 1,716 1,716 1,670 1,670 1,670 1,670 2,257

> N.T. 1,165 N.T. N.T. N.T. N.T. 1,250 1,160 1,170 1,160 1,150 1,165 1,185

N.T. N.T. N.T. N.T. N.T. N.T.

Deutsche mark futures option prices were not available for this! edition because of transmission de lays. Eaton Financial Corp.

Being Sold to AT&T

NEW YORK — American Tele-phone & Telegraph Co. said Thurs-day that it would acquire Eaton Financial Corp., an equipment leasing company, for about $71 million in stock. Eaton leases office and business equipment, usually items priced at $500 to $50,000.

Certain offerings of securities, lineacial services or interests in real catale published in this newspaper are not authorized in certain principetons in which the International Iderald Tribune is distributed, including the United States of America, and do not constitute offerings of securities, services or interests in these purisdictions. The International Herald Telbune assumes no responsibility whatspower for any adver-

Dec Mor May Jul Sep Dec Mor

Jan Feb Mar Apr Mar Jul Aug Sep Volu Source Charan

FHE DREXEL DEAL: In the end, a painful understanding that it was better to snitch than to fight

His Firm Casts Milken Adrift

Euilty Pleas Could Scuttle Junk-Bond Chief's Defenses

By Steve Coll and David A. Vise Washington Post Service
WASHINGTON — For the past several weeks, as directors of Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. sought to fend off federal charges, they agomized over the question of what mor-al, legal and financial obligations they had to Michael R. Millorn, the cutive most responsible for the fam's dramatic growth.

In the end, in a bid to save the firm, they agreed to a settlement with federal prosecutors that required Drexel to admit that it committed some of the same crimes with which Mr. Milken is likely to be charged, sources said rmenian nationalist

Military Rule

r political campaign at a agedy. ublic attention focused on quake, the arrests have 1. Seven of the 11 commi-ers are in custody, serving intences that family men-friends predict will be as long as it suits official nood in Yerevan has markedly since Septement the authorities briefly

an on travel to the repub

irtually nonstop, open ar discussions that raged on city's neoclassical open ave ended. The square be opera house is now ringel

s and troops, who wear but throughout Armenia, bitter.

ward Azerbaijan is unaba-intained by a continuing

v exodus of refugees.

deman is at issue.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

MAGNIFICENT RIVER VE

Pengari one-bendan on tab for man burn of Southern states. From burn of Southern states. From man of Southern states. From man of Southern states. In Commence to the part of the North Southern and the Commence of The Southern Commence Commence of The Southern Commence Commence of The Southern Commence of The Southern Commence Commence Commence Commence Commence Commence Commence Commen

BOCA RATON, ROBBA D P.
Sector Townson ? buffer, or some control No ser
Sector No. 3 and No. 36
Sector No. 3 and No. 3
Sector No.

NEW YORK CITY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY

REAL ESTATE
WANTED/EXCHANG

Perfect Corporate Pediolog

E

. 154

HED

5 5 70 5 EAST

vests at nightfall

reign reporters.

After two years of adamantly de-fending the head of its high-yield bond department, then, the firm is likely to admit in open court that it believes it has no adequate defense stainst allegations of stock manipulation, tax violations and other securities fraud

. Whether he is found guilty of the fraud charges filed earlier this year by the Securities and Exchange ommission, is indicted on felony charges the government seems close to filing, or is exonerated, as he has always claimed he will be, Mr. Milken has cast a long shadow over one of the more remarkable eras in American economic history. By extolling the rewards of high-yield, or junk, bonds over their risks, he came to be the father of a $175 billion market. In the process, his firm raised billions of dollars in capital for young companies and helped fuel the takeover boom with deals financed by junk bonds. Negotiations with the government came to a climax this week, when Drexel first rejected on Monday but then accepted on Wednesday an offer from prosecutors.

By 4 P.M. on Wednesday, led by its chief executive, Frederick H. Joseph, the directors had made their choice. Prosecutors in the office of U.S. Attorney Rudolph W. Ginliani were told that Drexel would agree to plead guilty to six felonies and would pay an unprecedented $650 million in penalties and forfeited profit.

By doing so, Drexel would admit

BRUSSELS — The European Commission agreed Thursday to corporate takeover rules that would require full bids once an entity has acquired a third of a company and that would make it difficult for corporations to use certain "poison-pill" takeover defenses against shareholders in takeovers. They narrow the differences in national practices before the creation of a its stake in a target company's vot-

The rules would also prevent a company from issuing stock after a formal takeover offer for it had been made, unless shareholders specifisingle EC market after 1992.

ing stock above one third.

mum standards des

The proposed rules by the com-

BUSINESS ROUNDUP

Overruling Mr. Milken's defenders, Drexel's board agreed to plead guilty to crimes with which he is likely to be charged.

it participated in one of the biggest securities frauds on record. The directors' turnabout followed intense negotiations and emotional debate, according to sources close to the firm. Even at the end, the division on the board was dramatic: The final vote was 16 to 6 in favor of settlement, according to sources. The vote was a major shift from the board's position on Monday afternoon, when it decided to reject a settlement even if it meant that a racketeering indictment might be filed the next day. Two major issues that were the subject of negotiations between Monday and Wednesday were the Mr. Milken has vowed to fight specific crimes Drexel would admit to having committed and what as- court and has not entered into any surances could be given to individ- settlement discu ual employees who might become Giuliani's office.

targets of future criminal prosecutions, sources said.
Mr. Giuliani's office had recently threatened to indict a number of Drexel employees who had not re-ceived formal notices that they were the targets of investigations. By Wednesday, Drexel execu-tives felt they had assurances that fined to those people who had al-ready received so-called target letters, indicating that criminal charges were likely against them.

Among those employees likely to be indicted — and whose cases will be affected by Drexel's decision to plead guilty — is Mr. Milken. The Drexel executives who opposed a settlement with prosecutors argued that a settlement would be a be-trayal of the man who put Drexel on the map

Some of those questions of Drex-el's obligations to Mr. Milken were pressed most vehemently by the executives in the firm's Beverly Hills junk bond department.

Mr. Milken flew from Beverly Hills to New York Wednesday and met with his lawyers, sources said. Earlier, Mr. Joseph spoke by telephone with the junk bond chief to the government's allegations in

The talks between Drexel and federal prosecutors began at Frederick H. Joseph,

Drexel chief executive.

least a mouth ago. From the beginning, the government de-manded that Drexel plead guilty to committing a number of seri-ous securities law violations and

As negotiations continued

over the financial penalty and other terms, the government's strongest weapon loomed stronger than ever: If Drexel did not agree to settle, prosecutors said they would file racketeering

The government would then be allowed to seize Drexel's property and earnings even if they were not related to any

On Dec. 12, a conference call charges against it.

New York Times Service NEW YORK — The days

cipals believed an indictment. not a settlement, was imminent. Indeed, at a Christmas party on Monday for the firm's corpo rate finance department, em ployees were elated to hear Frederick H. Joseph, Drexel's chief executive, insist that the firm had

But Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Joseph received a telephone call from Rudolph W. Giuliani, the U.S. attorney in Manhattan, telling him that if the firm did not settle, it would be indicted the next day. That night, less than 24 hours after the jubilation at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel party, a somber Mr. Joseph entered Mr. Giuliani's office to discuss the terms of an agreement that could bring the most publicized criminal investigation in recent Wall Street was placed to Mr. Joseph by em-ployees at Drexel's office in Bevhistory to a partial close. erly Hills, California, where the high-yield bond unit is located.

According to people familiar with the call, the employees were trying to persuade Mr. Joseph

The hard bargaining that led to Wednesday's settlement be-gan in earnest on Dec. 13, when the government made a settle-ment offer to Drexel's 22-mem-

Drexel's board members were said to rankle at the language that they were being told to ac-cept in the agreement, as well as by requirements that they cooperate against some employees and clients in the government's continued investigation.

The firm brought a counterproposal the next day that was quickly rejected. On Thursday, John Carroll, the assistant U.S. attorney in charge of the case, came back with an offer that was essentially the same as the gov-ernment's offer two days earlier.

Early on Monday, Drexel presented the government with its position; the settlement was onerous and Drexel would not accept it.

The situation took a radical turn on Tuesday, when Mr. Joseph received an ultimatum from Mr. Giuliani: If the firm did not settle within 24 hours, it would be indicted on charges that included racketeering.

On Wednesday, the board approved a settlement. The vote was 16 to 6, with Mr. Joseph voting against it.

ZEALOT: Giuliani Sweeps Street

(Continued from first finance page) cy" in some indictments. The one against Mr. Lewis, for example, contains 22 counts, carrying a possible maximum sentence of 110 years in prison and nearly $50 mil-lion in fines, for what Mr. Arkin says boils down to a single allegedly illegal act.

Some criticism of Mr. Ginliani also stems from his persistent presence in the news. He holds frequent news conferences — sometimes two or three a week. He held one Wednesday to announce the Drexel settlement, and issued a statement on Mr. Bilzerian. Lawyers and law professors who give Mr. Giuliani high marks as a prose-cutor question whether he has demeaned his office by cultivating

"Unfortunately, Rudy is one of these guys who just can't resist a microphone," says Richard H. Uviller, a law professor at Columbia University who otherwise praises Mr. Giuliani's record. "His predecessors were in the press, but not as often and not in the same way,"

Mr. Giuliani is widely expected to leave office sometime next year. Earlier this year, he acknowledged that he was thinking about seeking the Republican nomination to run against Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan, the New York Democrat. Mr. Giuliani never declared his candidacy, however.

Now, he is talked about as a possible mayoral candidate.

Mr. Giuliani became U.S. attorney in 1983, giving up his post as the third-ranking official at the De-partment of Justice in Washington. He had supervised the depart-ment's criminal division and was one of the chief architects of the Reagan administration's strategy for lighting drug trafficking.

Before he went to Washington,

Mr. Giuliani had been an assistant federal prosecutor in New York, handling New York City police corruption cases, and later was a partner in the law firm of Patterson, Belknap, Webb & Tyler. He is married to Donna Hanover, a television journalist. Mr. Giuliani dismisses accusations that he is publicity hungry. He says he goes out of his way to keep journalists informed of proseterms serves as a deterrent to crime.

however, assert that Mr. Giuliani's desire to make examples of accused Wall Street cheaters has led him at times unfairly to use intimidating

In February 1987, for example. in an insider trading case related to the Boesky investigation, federal marshals arrested three high-level officials at big Wall Street investment companies. At Kidder, Pea-body & Co., federal marshals took the unusual step in a white-collar crime case of arresting the compa-ny's head of arbitrage inside the office, frisking him and leading him out in handcuffs. In the same case, an official of Merrill Lynch & Co. spent a night in jail.

Months later, however, Mr. Giuliani's prosecutors had to withdraw the indictment of the three officials, conceding that the government wasn't prepared to go to trial with the evidence it had.

The case is still under investigation, although the three Wall Street figures deny any wrongdoing.

Mr. Giuliani also has been ac-cused of unfair use of the federal racketeering law known as RICO, for Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act. Last August, he used it against five partners of Princeton-Newport partners, a small investment company that had done business with Drexel and allegedly set up transactions to create phony tax losses.

Mr. Giuliani sought the coopera-tion of Princeton-Newport in the Drexel case. The company refused, and Mr. Giuliani's office filed the indictment. It was the first time that RICO had been invoked against a securities company.

The law, enacted by Congress to fight organized crime, carries se-vere financial penalties and long

Defense lawyers in the case, who deny that the accused violated any criminal laws, contend that Mr. Giuliani used RICO in an attempt to bludgeon their clients into cooperating with the government, something the U.S. attorney denies.

But Mr. Uviller, the Columbia law professor, said: "As far as bludgeoning is concerned, that's the name of the game. If you're going to make white-collar corrupcutions because press coverage of tion cases, you've got to turn someconvictions, fines and lengthy jail body. And the key to that is pres-

A Bitter Pill for Defiant Employees

By Kurt Eichenwald

leading up to the record $650 million agreement by Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. to settle pending charges of violations in securities law were frustrating and bitter for the firm's leaders, who had undergone the uncertainty of two years of government investigation.

Almost until the end, the prin-done nothing wrong and de-scribe how the settlement talks had broken down.

amount of financial transactions has multi-same prosecutor who imprisons leading un-derworld figures, bringing a sophisticated firm like Drexel to its knees has been humbling for the industry.

salaries have been complaining indignantly for more than a year that the government was employing vicious tactics in its investigation -such as handcuffing suspects or using

That is the toughest notion for Wall Street to accept Clearly, another unsettling aspect to the scandal has been the fact that it has revolved those are standard practices in dealing with around the boom in corporate mergers and

It has been a wildly profitable side to the 1980s on Wall Street. Nearly all of the guilty leas obtained in the scandal have involved frauds that related to takeovers.

"When this thing moved to Boesky, the whole manner of the investigation changed," said Ira Lee Sorkin, the former head of the Securities and Exchange Commission's New York office and a former prosecutor.

BNP Mortgages

Mortgages for expatriates resident in the UK

* 100%, interest only

*Fast, personalised service Phone Rosemary Yoko

01-380 5214

BNP Mortgages Limited is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Banque Nationale de Paris, one of the world's largest international banks.

DREXEL: Not Just a Wall Street Firm, but a Way of Doing Business, Is Being Scrutinized Prosecutors have responded by saying that

Santander

The Spanish bank, now the largest single stockholder in Royal

Bank of Scotland, bought the shares from the Kuwait Investment

Office, the London-based investment arm of Kuwait's government

Royal Bank has a 0.5 percent stake in Banco Santander and will soon raise the holding to 2.5 per-cent, Royal's chief executive,

Charles Winter, said. The bank has no current plans to go beyond that

Two months ago Royal Bank and Banco Santander announced a commercial cooperation plan that included an agreement to obtain the other's consent to any changes in each bank's shareholding.

The deal originally allowed the banks to hold equity stakes of up to 2.5 percent in each other and provided for Royal Bank to acquire 50 percent of Banco Santander's West German and Belgian subsidiaries.

Bank of Scotland Group is delighted with the progress which has been achieved in developing the alliance with Banco Santander

Group since it was announced in

"The Royal Bank Group, there fore, welcomes the prospect of Banco Santander being its largest

Banco Santander's chairman

Emilio Botin, said the stake in-Community as trade barriers are crease reflected the mutual commitment as independent banks to support each other in the European

Mr. Winter said, "The Royal

(Continued from page 1)

really fit to monitor its own activities? Has the culture of Wall Street been im-bued with a spirit that encourages its sharper players to take advantage of the financial

 Has deregulation, which led to an explosion of innovation in the financial markets over the past decade, gone too far, or permitted more graft? • Has the takeover craze of the 1980s, which altered the shape of corporate America, been inherently unfair or manipulative? In the short term, the most pressing questions are those on Wall Street's tradition of self-policing and the trend toward deregulation. Those issues are bound to become the cally authorized such an action. tably in the case of leveraged buyouts.

the offer and the position of the target company's managers on the takeovers in their home markets.

The commission also decided

Thursday to examine industry subsidies in a move to free the bloc's car market of all internal barriers

The panel said it would introduce a plan on Jan. I requiring its approval of any subsidies for motor vehicle projects worth more than 12 million European currency units

Macmillan said Kohlberg, Kra-vis was unable to arrange financ-ing, but the investment firm said it ended the plan to buy four subsidiaries for $400 million because of restrictions that Maxwell Commu-

"KKR suspended moving ahead with this deal because Maxwell and

.Macmillan had imposed a certain structure on this deal and a special requirement to complete the deal

by year-end because of tax reasons, and that couldn't be done," a

Kohlberg, Kravis is seeking to fi-nance a record $25 billion takeover of RJR Nabisco Inc., but a source close to the firm said that had no nication placed on the deal.

after 1992, Reuters reported.

■ EC Car Subsidy Review

proposed acquisition.

EC Rules Would Curb Poison Pills

Even if they had previously approved an increase in capital, shareholders would have to do so again placed 12 million newly issued shares of its stock with friendly investors last year in a defense against a hostile bid by the Italian financier Carlo de Benedetti. But detti informed it of his plans but before he filed a formal offer with Another feature of the rules

mation would have to be made available to representatives of employees as well as to shareholders.

A bidder would also have to explain the future debt position envisaged for the target company, no-

Maxwell Selling Print Unit for £300 Million

Belgian regulators.

Société Générale de Belgique SA

after a formal bid had been ma

subject of congressional hearings and per-Some experts feel, in fact, that such action

"While the industry has always prided itself on its ability to self-police. I've never thought it did such a good job at it, even before this," said James Van Horne, a professor of finance at Stanford University's business school. "An industry cannot police

He added, echoing a view held more quiet-ly by many senior Wall Street figures, that what is new in the insider trading scandal is that people are getting caught.

"I think a lot of this was going on before," Mr. Van Horne said. "It's just that it's been magnified so much now because the size and

Each bid would require a properties that included the terms of the Royal Bank roposed acquisition.

A spokesman said the commisScotland Group PLC said Thurs-sion would study the problem of day that Banco Santander of Spain companies from outside the community making bids for EC con-stake in the group, raising its hold-cerns when their domestic laws ef- ing to 9.99 percent. Royal Bank fectively prevented hostile welcomed the development.

plied so dramatically." The scandal has also exploded a myth long cherished by Wall Street - that it was such a complex, difficult business that it could not be policed by the same agencies that watched other industries. The sight of Rudolph W. Giuliani, the Investment bankers with million-dollar

Has 9.9% of Herald International Cribums common criminals.

Now Printed in New York For Same Day Service in Key American Cities.

To subscribe call us toll-free in the U.S.: 1-800-882 2884.

In New York, call: 212-752 3890. Or write: International Herald Tribune, 850 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022. Or Telex: 427175. Or Fax: 212-755 8785.

December 23, 1988

Dresdner (South East Asia) Limited

A$ 75,000,000

unconditionally and irrevocably guaranteed by Aktiengesellschaft

Issue Price: 1011/4%

BUDAPEST - The West German publishing group Axel Springer Verlag AG set up a joint venture in Hungary on Thursday, it was announced at a news conference.

The other parties involved are the Ferenczy publishing house of Munich, the Hungar-volved in some advertising. The Hungarian and West German sides each hold 50 percent of the venture. Negotiations began months ago, but in August, Springer denied that it would set up a weekly newspaper in Hungary.

consolidation in MCC's balance had terminated an agreement to buy several subsidiaries of the pubsheet," he said. lishing concern, Reuters reported

LONDON - Robert Maxwell BPCC comprises 40 operating companies and businesses employsaid Thursday that he was selling his British printing interests for up to £300 million ($540 million) to ing 7,100 people. It had pretax profit of £29.4 million in 1987 on help pay for his recent purchase of revenue of £290.6 million.

mission, the European Communi-its act would have been permissible ty's executive body, specify mini-under the new rules because it is-

The regulations, which must be would require a bidder to clearly approved by the 12 EC member state its intentions for a target com-countries, oblige a bidder to launch pany, particularly with regard to a full public offer if it wants to raise assets and work force. Such informed to diolec

BPCC is being sold to Bucks-mere Ltd., formed by senior BPCC He said the management buyout of BPCC, Britain's largest commer-rial printer, would free financial management and a syndicate of in-stitutional investors, for an initial and management resources to help his Maxwell Communication Corp. cash payment of £265 million. Finance for the buyout is being focus on publishing and information businesses.

Mr. Maxwell announced in No-raised and arranged by a British group including the Electra Can-dover fund, Standard Chartered vember that he planned to sell off some businesses after his break-PLC and 3-I PLC. Maxwell said it would retain autumn with the purchase of Mac-millan for $2.6 billion and Dun & Bradstreet Inc.'s Official Airlines Guide unit for $750 million. properties valued by the directors at £30.4 million. It also will retain certain printing businesses, formerly operated as part of BPCC. "The proceeds of the sale will be KKR Ends Maxwell Deal used to reduce our borrowings and thus will form an important step towards Macmillan's and OAG's

Kohlberg, Kravis, Roberts & Co.

Connection to the termination.

Route Will Go to Continental, Court Insists

and American Airlines. Hal Paris, a spokesman for the White Knight in View, William Collins Says

LONDON — William Collins PLC, the British publisher, said Thursday that it had received an approach about a possible friendly takeover bid to counter an unwel-come offer from Rupert Murdoch's News International PLC.

route sometime next year. The airline, a subsidiary of Texas

A United spokesman in Chicago said the decision was based on "what amounts to a legal technicality" and an appeal was possible.

United has been flying the route since 1986 when it purchased Pan American World Airways' Pacific division, but the Department of Transportation approved the pur-chase on the condition that the route be dealt with in a separate Air Lines also fly nonstop between Algemene Bank Nederland N.V.

Bank für Gemeinwirtschaft

Barclays de Zoete Wedd

NDC Merchant Bank Ltd.

Westdeutsche Landesbank

Berliner Bank He said the airline would begin planning to institute service on the

Hambros Bank

Girozentrale

Creditanstalt-Bankverein

proceeding. Northwest Airlines and Japan

14% Bearer Bonds of 1988/1992

Dresdner Bank

Baden-Württembergische Bank

Banque Internationale à Luxembourg

Bayerische Hypotheken- und Wechsel-Bank

Commerzbank

Deutsche Girozentrale

Hessische Landesbank Girozentrale -

Westpac Banking Corporation

Bank Brussel Lambert N.V.

Banque pour l'Europe S.A. Europa Bank AG

Bayerische Landesbank Girozentrale

Credit Suisse First Boston Genossenschaftliche Zentralbank

National Australia Bank

Union Bank of Switzerland (Securities)

Wood Gundy Inc.

Springer Sets Hungary Deal

through in the U.S. market last house of Munich, the Hungarian Credit Bank, and the Hungarian publisher Reform.

The joint venture will be called Axel Springer Budapest. It will publish various reviews, books and other printed material and be insolved in some advertising

WASHINGTON - A federal appeals court has ordered the Transportation Department to award the Seattle-Tokyo air route to Continental Airlines in the latest round of a two-year battle among three of the largest U.S. airlines over the lucrative route. In November, the department decided to ignore an earlier appeals court decision and award the route to United Airlines. The U.S. Court of Appeals, in a decision late Tuesday, again ruled that the department had violated deadlines in awarding the route and had overstepped its authority in giving the route to United.

The court said the department had made a "thinly disguised attempt to circumvent the decision of The court found in September that Continental should receive the route, but the department decided to once again review the case. At various times in the past two years, administrative law judges and department officials have awarded Department of Transportation, the route to Continental, United said the department had no imme-The Associated Press spokesman said.

The route generates more than $100 million in revenue annually.

The Associated Press

Collins did not identify the party that had approached it. It said an offer might be made "at a level appreciably above the level of the News International offers." News International's bid values Collins at £293 million ($530 million). News International controls 41.7 percent of Collins's ordinary shares and 10 percent of nonvoting shares.

diate comment on the order. Art Kent, a Continental spokes man in Houston, said his airline was "delighted" with the ruling.

Air Corp., has said previously it would offer one-way Seattle-Tokyo fares as low as $299.

This information appears as a matter of record only

Dresdner Bank

- Deutsche Kommunalbank -

Standard Chartered Merchant Bank Asia

AG, Vienna

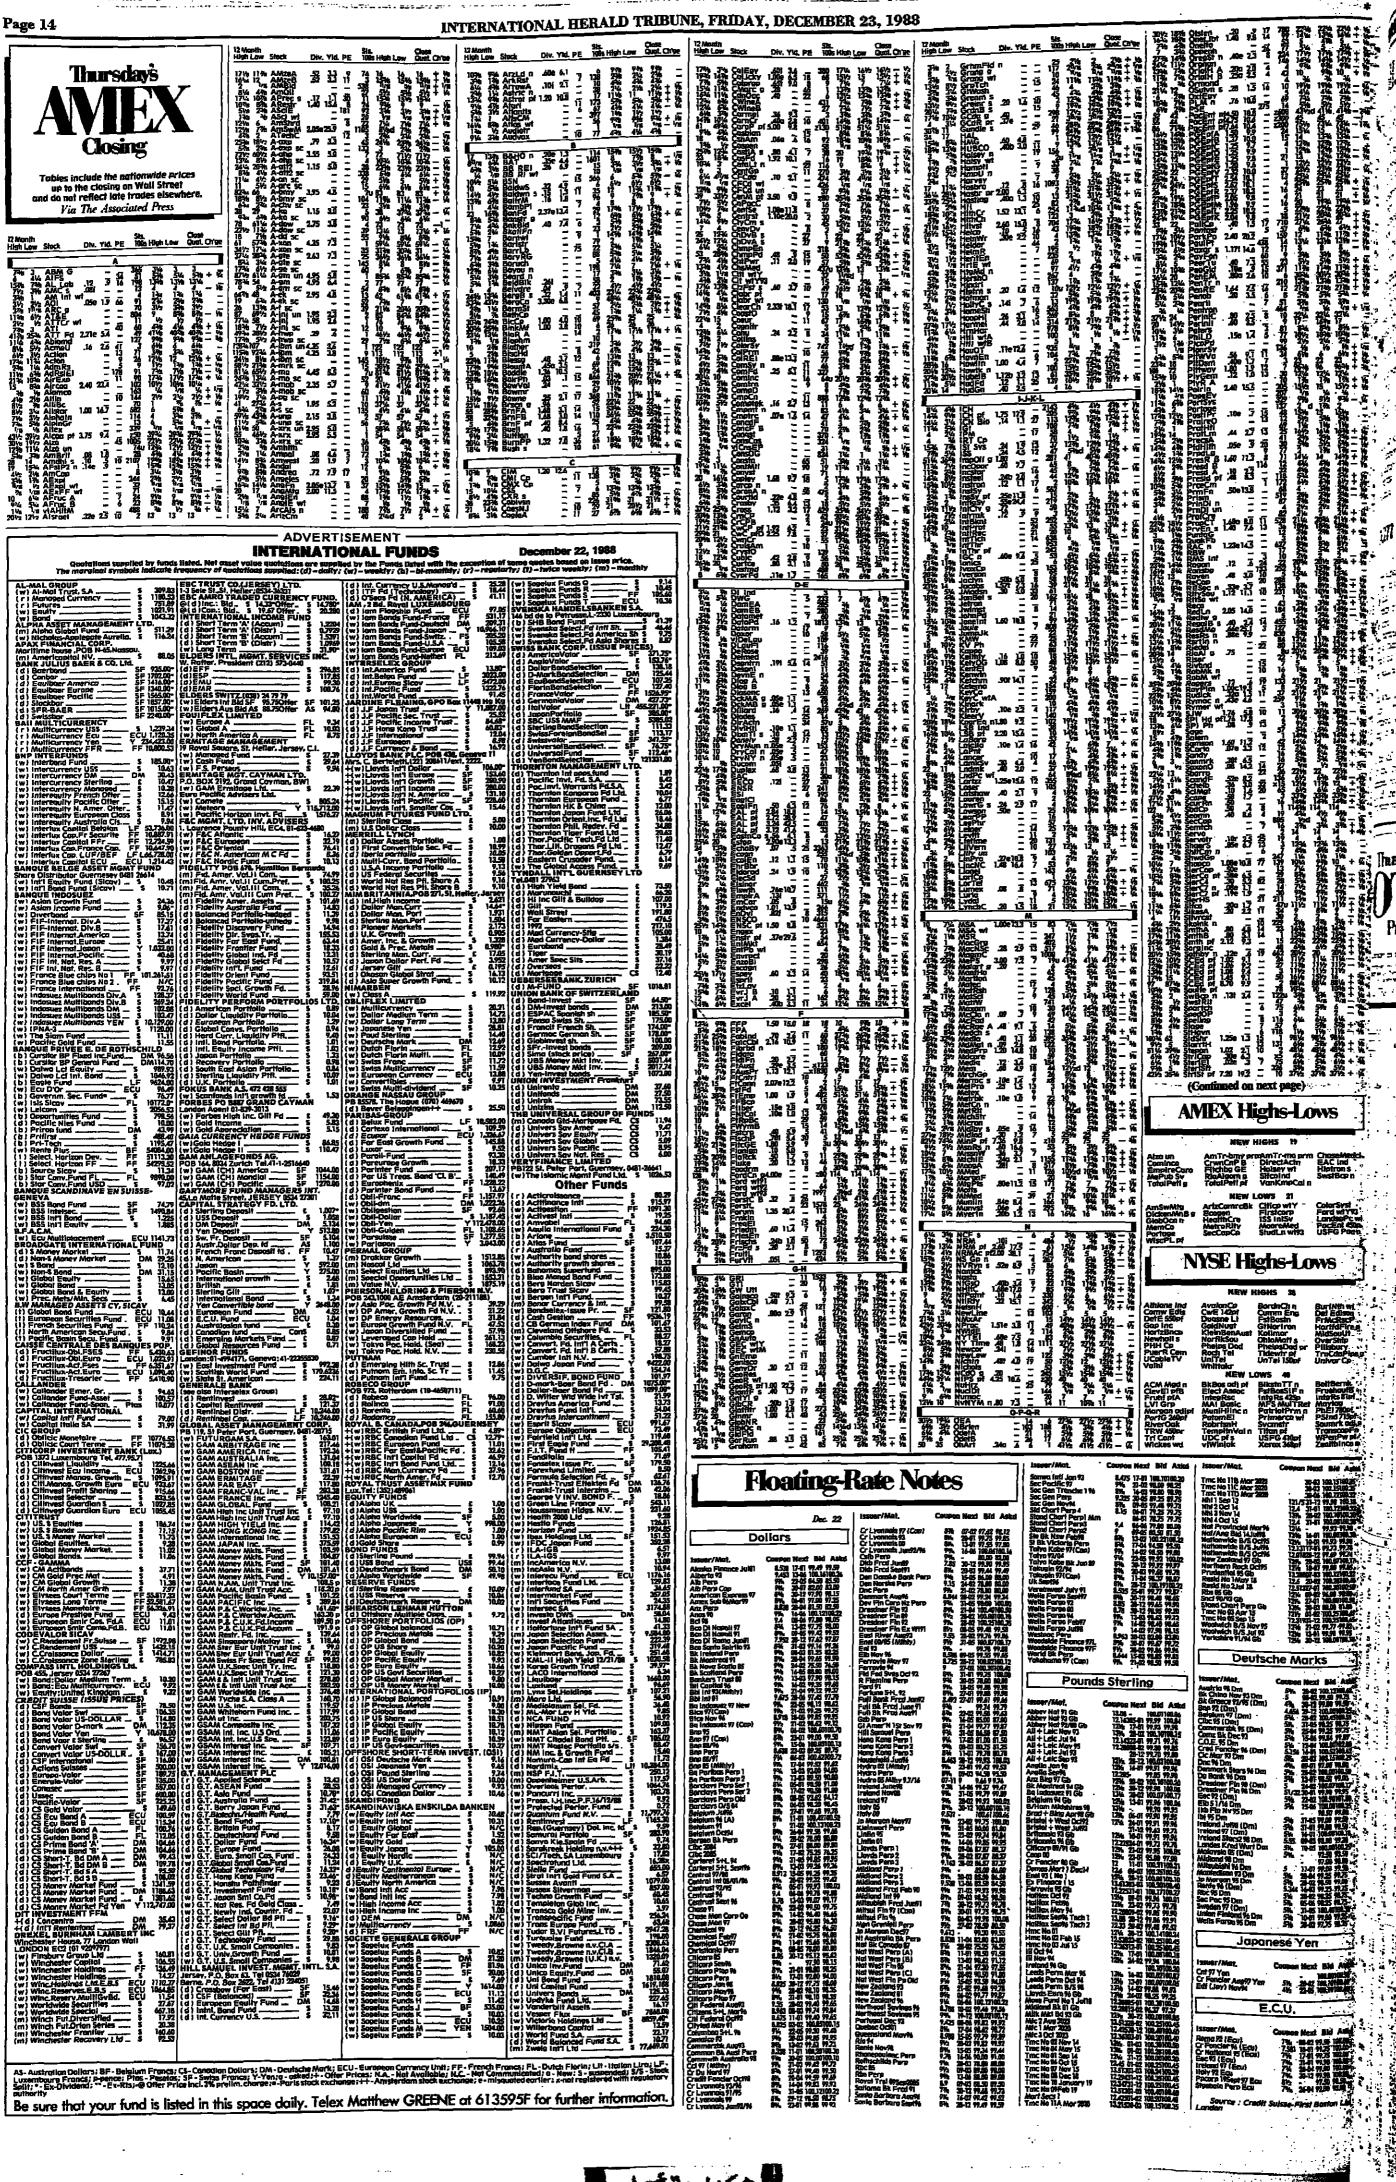

Reaching

More Than a Third of a Million Regulerin 104 Countre

TN PAES DENCE DENCE

11.05

Around

وه كذا من القصل

THE CLE

CURRENCY MARKETS

Dollar Finishes Firmer in New York

NEW YORK — The dollar edged higher in New York on Thursday in thin trading marked by the wholesale exit of market players before the holiday.

"It was extremely quiet with very few customers," said Samuel Lek, managing director of Bear, Steams & Co. in New York. "Nobody was even trying to push the market given the thin level of activity."

} 强

Se 1.4

0 153

12 E

50e 133

The dollar ended at 1.7738 Deutsche marks, up from 1.7710 DM at Wednesday's close, and at 124.65 yea, up from 124.60 a day earlier. The British pound was lower, finishing at $1.7985, compared with $1.8055 on Wednesday.

The dollar closed at 1.4950 Swiss francs, down from the close Wednesday of 1.4961, and at 6.0560 French francs, compared

The dollar took little notice of London Dollar Rates

moderate decline in goods orders.

There's no real substance to the market at all," said a European bank dealer. "People have just been hanging around, killing time."

Dealers said the only important feature of the market this week would be the British trade figures for November, Economists are generally expecting the data to show a current account deficit of around £1.5 billion, down slightly from October's record £2.43 billion short-

"If the figure is well out of line

before Christmas Eve.

Earlier in London the dollar closed at 1.7735 DM, up from 1.7698 DM at Wednesday's close, and at 124.65 yen, up from 124.45 a day carlier.

The pound weakened, finishing at $1.7985, compared with from $1.8073 on Wednesday. The dollar closed at 1.4965 Swiss francs, up from the close Wednesday of 1.4930, and at 6.0550 French francs, compared with 6.0450. With only a few banks still en-gaged in interbank trading, the dol-lar showed no clear direction, they added. One dealer said Chicago futures traders were thought to still be car-rying long dollar positions and their activities to support the dollar would have an impact on the cash market on Friday. However, dealers said if there was any reason for the dollar's the U.S. Commerce Department the pound could jump around quite steadiness in the thin and dull marreport that durable goods orders a bit in this thin market," one dealers seed in November.

Most economists had forecast a there would be anything more than was any reason to the thin and dull marreport that durable goods orders a bit in this thin market, one dealers in the thin and dull marreport that durable goods orders a bit in this thin market, one dealers in the thin and dull marreport that durable goods orders a bit in this thin market, one dealers in the thin and dull marreport that durable goods orders a bit in this thin market, one dealers in the thin and dull marreport that durable goods orders a bit in this thin market, one dealers in the thin and dull marreport that durable goods orders a bit in this thin market, one dealers in the thin and dull marreport that durable goods orders a bit in this thin market, one dealers in the thin and dull marreport that durable goods orders a bit in this thin market, one dealers in the thin and dull marreport that durable goods orders a bit in this thin market, one dealers in the thin and dull marreport that durable goods orders a bit in this thin market, one dealers in the point of the poi

Weak Military Orders Hold Durable Goods Rise to 0.1%

Compiled by Our Staff From Dupatches

WASHINGTON — New orders for durable goods rose 0.1 percent in November, but excluding the volatile military category, they rose a sharp 1.8 percent, the U.S. Commerce Department said

The department said that total durable goods orders edged up to $122.89 billion last month, but the overall figure was held back by a sharp 17.6 percent drop in military orders. The rise followed a revised 2.9 percent increase in overall orders in October, which had previously been reported as a 2.4 percent advance.

Excluding the military decline, total orders would have risen by 1.8 percent after a 0.2 percent increase in October. It was the best showing since a 5.2 percent surge in nonmilitary orders in August. "The manufacturing sector, which has been the driving force of the expansion, continues to have life," said Robert Dederick, chief economist for Northern Trust Co. of Chicago. "We'll close the year on a rising note and enter 1989 with the same." Lawrence Chimerine, chief economist for the WEFA Group of conomic forecasters in Bala Cynwyd, Pennsylvania, agreed think it's consistent with an economy that's still doing fairly well, still driven by capital goods and exports," he said.

Throughout this year, almost half of total economic growth has been powered by a boom in U.S. export sales as U.S. manufacturers benefited from a weaker dollar.

For November, the government said that much of the strength in durable goods — items expected to last at least three years — came from an 8.1 percent rise in demand for electrical machinery, which climbed to $20.5 billion.

Bank Gift to Sudan Could Set Trend Midland Gives Up Nearly Worthless Paper for UN Project

LONDON — An agreement un-der which Britain's fourth biggest commercial bank is donating all of its Sudanese debt to a United Nations relief agency could herald a wave of swaps to reduce Third World debt, according to analysts and aid officials.

The world's poorest nations are United States overwhelmed by foreign obliga-tions and have little hope of obtain-ing new loans for desperately needed investment for development lander the agreement with Mid-land Bank PLC, the Sudanese gov-ernment will exchange the debt, with a face value of $800,000, for local currency, which is to be used for such investment.

The money will finance a United Nations Children's Fund development program in Sudan's droughtstricken central Kordofan area. Through its contribution to one of the world's poorest countries, Midland made a public gesture of goodwill while at the same time esting itself of nearly worthless aside provisions from its profit "This is significant because Midland is the first bank in Britain, and one of the first in the world, to be willing to donate debt," said David Kline, president of the Fund for Private Assistance in International Development, which is based in the Midland's deal is the first outright donation of debt to finance development, but it is similar to environment-related gifts such as the July 1987 deal designed to protect a rain forest in Bolivia.

Under that agreement, Citicorp bought $650,000 of Bolivian debt at an 85 percent discount with funds provided by a private donor. The paper was then returned through an intermediary to the Bolivian government, which undertook in return to preserve 3.7 million acres (1.5 million hectares) of forest as a nature reserve. Banks have previously used debt swaps to exchange loans for equity in developing countries' enterprises, discount, which both the bank but Midland's innovative donation UNICEF declined to disclose.

paper for which it had already set could inspire a bost of new conver-aside provisions from its profit. could inspire a bost of new conver-sions. These would finance development in nations without equity markets and too poor to repay their debt, analysts said. "Sudanese debt is almost impossible to collect," said Mr. Kline, whose organization acts as intermediary in nonprofit aid plans. Sudan, which has $12 billion of foreign debt, is $1 billion in arrears to the International Monetary Fund, more than any other nation. In 1986, the IMF declared it ineligible for new credits. "What else can you do with Su-danese debt?" asked William Vincent, an analyst at Salomon Brothers Inc., commenting on the transaction.

Sudan's paper is hardly ever traded in the secondary market for Third World debt, and dealers asdollar.

Midland's loan will be redeemed by the Sudanese government at a discount, which both the bank and

Japan Quietly Seeking Ways to Force Cut in Huge U.S. Budget Deficit

TOKYO — Japan is so used to being assailed by the United States and its trading partners that it has a word for it -

But now some Japanese officials are talking about turning the tables and put-ting pressure of their own on the United States to force a cut in its budget deficit. "We need gaiatsu for the U.S.," one

Fed up with what they see as the United States's failure to reduce the deficit as quickly as promised, some officials here are quietly looking for ways to force the pace

· Because of the still dominant size of the U.S. economy and the importance of the dollar, "disciplined economic managem in the U.S. is all the more important to keep the world economy on a stable path," said Masaru Yoshitomi, director-general of Japan's Economic Planning Agency.

"Whether Japan as the largest creditor nation can and should use its position as leverage for imposing discipline on the debtor nation is yet another difficult chal-lenge," the senior official told a monetary conference in Washington.

While an outright attack is unlikely, Japan could adopt a more forceful approach in talks with the United States, diplomats

Japanese officials for the most part rejected the idea of following the example of the United States by using the threat of a lower dollar to force changes in economic policy abroad.

Washington successfully employed that weapon in 1986 and 1987 to press Japan would hurt their economies.

enjoying its benefits, mainly in the form of ic structure will take time. lower inflation, economists said.

In contrast, the U.S. now has little to them," he said. gain from a weaker currency — its exports are already booming — and more to lose in the shape of higher inflation, they said. Japanese officials expressed fears that a rigger a currency collapse that would ben-"A steady appreciation doesn't matter very much," one Finance Ministry official said. "But if it's a rapid appreciation, the policy of "talking down" the dollar would effect could be quite serious." Another ministry official said the dollar was too vulnerable to depreciation to adopt such a risky strategy.

Japan would not be as impatient as Wash-bond and stock prices, forcing the United But now both countries have learned to ington has been in the past because it live with a weak U.S. currency and are recognizes that changing the U.S. econom-

They bashed us, but we won't bash

But that has not stopped some Japanese officials from almost wishing for a drop in the U.S. stock prices that would force Washington into taking action on the budget deficit.

It took Black Monday - the worldwide collapse in stock prices in October 1987 -to goad the United States into bashing out a credible deficit-reduction plan, several

One official offered the following scecombat quickening global inflation sets off ing to one senior official.

A senior Bank of Japan official said a managed decline in the dollar and U.S. Other officials, taking a less radical approach, continue to argue that the United States issue bonds denominated in foreign

That would help impose financial discipline on the United States because Washington could not reflate away that debt by printing more money, an option it has with U.S. dollar bonds.

Reports that Kentucky is considering issuing yen bonds has fanned speculation the federal government might follow suit. Right now, if non-U.S. central banks buy dollars they are stuck with them. But if they could swap them for SDRs, they could diversify their reserves away from dollars. nario: a rise in Japanese interest rates to something Japan would like to do, accord-

Poland Foresees Arrears

WARSAW - Poland will be unable to repay all the interest due in 1989 on its foreign debt of $37.9 billion, the first deputy prime minister, Ireneusz Sekula, said on Thursday. Mr. Sekula said in the Sejm, the legislature, that Poland was due to pay more than $3 billion in interest next year but that the hard-currency trade surplus would provide only about $1 billion. "As a result, the unpaid interest will increase our debt," he said. "The foreign debt is choking us."

The government spokesman, Jerzy Urban, said on Tuesday that Poland's foreign debt was $37.9 billion at the end of November while the hard-currency trade surplus reached $1,083 billion —lower than

In July, Poland reached a $9 billion rescheduling agreemen covering almost 95 percent of its long- and medium-term debt to Western commercial banks.

In November, the World Bank made its first loan to Poland, indicating tentative approval of the country's economic reforms. These include efforts to spur export growth, encourage market forces and attract foreign investors.

Thursday's

mplied by the AP, consists of the 1,000 of securities in terms of dollar volue. Via The Associated Press

Sis. Net Div. Yki. PE 100s High Law 4 P.H. Chae

NEW HIGHS 19 Friends GE Moises MI Realizant Strong GE Vernamed in Vernamed in NEW LOWS 21 Aniscomment Fried General Fried Gener THE PARTY OF THE P 《是这种是一种,我们是一个人,我们是一个人,我们是一个人,我们是一个人,他们是一个人,他们是一个人,他们也是一个人,他们是一个人,他们也是一个人,他们也是一个人, Colorisa Ford with Landsoft Portfolia USFG for 1SE Highs-Lons NEW HIGHS

AVIDATION

AVIDATION

CHE HOST

CHE HOST

CHECH HOST

CHECH

CHECH HOST

CHECH

CHECH Bareach a Bareach a Bareach a Bareach a Falsasa
Gather iran
Conswant s Falsasa
Falsasa
Lows 40

Sinstitut
Falsasa
Lows 40

Sinstitut
Falsasa
Falsasa Burisher Del Biss Friedskin Musika Musika Predision Friedskin Friedskin

TEMET MATERIAL TO THE MET TO THE A A TOTAL A STREET AND A STREET THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY O Deutsche Morks

TO SERVICE THE PROPERTY OF THE

and West Germany to boost demand be-Sis.
Div. Yid. PE 100s High: Low 4 P.A.C. Chype

Fig. 25 Section in the control of th

The state of the s THE REPORT OF THE PROPERTY OF Ski. Nat 12 Month

Dhv. Ykii. PE 100s High Low 4 P.M. Ch'se High Low Stack

THE STATE OF THE S

1.90 .28 .80 2.48 .48

Sis.
Div. Yid. PE 180s High Low 4 P.M. Chies

CONTROL OF THE REAL PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY O MANY A SEE BY A VENUE OF THE PARTY OF THE PA KATTA DERECHE VERTEN GESTELLE VERTEN VER

TOTAL THE STATE OF .05e · 3 1.73e 27

いる のでは、 できないのでは、 できないのできない。 できないのできない。 できないのできないのできないのできないのできない。 これのできないのできないのできない。 これのできないのできない。 これのできないのできない。

FOR THE STATE OF T U-V

1.60 5.1 15 25) 40 40 91 1021 102 17 71 128 90 16 450 31¼ 97% 124 10 35000

STATE OF STA SECTION SECTIONS OF SECTION SECTIONS OF SECTION SECTIO

THE STATE OF THE PROPERTY OF T COURSE NEW BY

Teamer Mod.

Section Report of the section of the s

FX Highs-Lows

BOOKS

A WRITER'S AMERICA: Landscape in Literature

By Alfred Kazin. 240 pages. $24.95. Alfred A. Knopf, 201 East 50th Street, New York, N.Y.

Reviewed by William Howarth

A LFRED KAZIN is a rare figure these days, an intellectual in love with America and willing to fling that song across the spacious skies, purple mountain's majesties and fruited plains that we tend to forget are still really out there, beyond the urban gridlock and deadboited doors where most citizens now unaccount-

Kazin makes no apologies for his passion, an attitude that will strike some readers as either oblivious or obstinate about the national future. His book sweeps back and forth over the American continent, seeking through its writers some message about the land itself, one that explains why generations of explorers and travelers have produced a chronically rootless and restless race that is nonetheless "haunted by a sense of place."

nonetheless "haunted by a sense of place."

Thomas Jefferson had that feeling, seated high atop his Virginia mountain in a Palladian estate, urging Lewis and Clark to journey west and bring back news of the continent's splendor. Emerson and Thorean felt it in Concord, Massachusetts, a town of sleepy, pastoral beauty that launched two revolutions, political and cultural. Whitman, Twain, James, Faulkner — in these and dozens of other American writers, Kazin finds a persistent absorption with place, not as a background for stories and ideas, but as the place, not as a background for stories and ideas, but as the very body from whence they sprang.

Although this story is familiar to Americans, it also bears repeating to successive generations. As a people they have always had a strongly felt, if dimly understood, hunger for "Nature," tending either to exploit or preserve it as a material resource. In either case, they have missed what many of their artists have seen: that rocks, trees and clouds also nourish the spirit, presenting in outward, visible form the needs and doubts that roll them deep inside. Hence Melville voyaged out to the open sea, where "meditation and water are wedded for ever," ("Moby-Dick") and Steinbeck drove down U.S. Route 66, "the mother road, the road of flight."

Wandering is an American pastime, change Americans' most enduring trait. Yet landscape is fixed, one of the few traditions they cannot spurn. In Kazin's view, "landscape" comprises not just farm and forest, the rolling hills or tidal coasts, but also wasteland, the negative space of swamp and battlefield; and settlement - great homes at Saratoga and Newport, the soaring towers of New York, Chicago and Los Angeles. This broad definition favors his urban background, which often inspires a gutsy, reminiscent prose:

"A New Yorker seeing Chicago for the first time at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in 1943, when Chicago was turning out sailors as Detroit turned out tanks, was a excited by the city on the lake, the city of terrible winters, and its indigenous American force, as another writer might have been by Paris. A wild energy poured in from Lake Michigan, from the sailors pummeling each other to keep warm, from the stiffly silent Black recruits. It all brought home the street corner savagery of the gangs in James T. Farrell's 'Studs Loni-gan,' the unleashed power of Black resentment in Richard Wright's 'Native Son.' "

Too much of this, and you might feel trapped on a cross-country bus with a bookish seatmate, but Kazin knows how to make the scenes and texts serve one another. His account is an "essay" in the traditional sense, a trial or experiment that develops theme and variations in a loose, meditative manner. With him we wander in time, branching out from a particular locus, say, Plum Island off the north shore of Massachusetts, through a skein of references to Proust, Samuel Sewall, Whitman, Frost, Melville, and the Finnish Eddas.

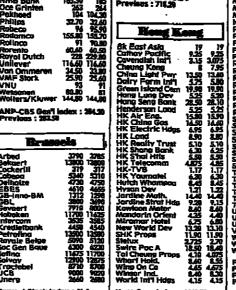

To give this journey a form, he builds each chapter around principal figures and sites, moving east to west along a course that leads from Jefferson to Robinson Jeffers, brooding about the republic on their separate coasts. At times the effect is of a quick grand tour, whistle-stopping through the Major Writers anthology, but when Kazin pauses for longer visits, as with Thoreau, the author and environment become subtly matched.

So broad and readable a text deserves a better form of publication. While the numerous images — photographs, drawings, and paintings — are well selected and arranged, many prints have a muddy, murky cast, and only the lamest of captions. Type is set in a small font with a long measure, probably to leave more space for pictures. The resulting book is a hybrid, not clearly destined for either the desk or coffee table. That seems regrettable, in view of the urgent concluding question Walt Whitman poses his fellow American: "But where is what I started for so long ago? And why is it yet

William Howarth, author of "The Book of Concord" and "Traveling the Trans-Canada," teaches American literature at Princeton University. He wrote this for The Wash-

World Stock Markets Via Agence France Presse Closing prices in local currencies, Dec. 22

Hung Seng Index : 2642,73

AECI Alfech Anglo / Borios Biyyoo Buffels GF8A

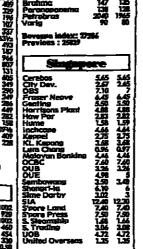

362367.59
38499 3849
484 489
481 57.59
244 285.20
244 285.20
244 285.20
244 285.20
244 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 285.20
245 2

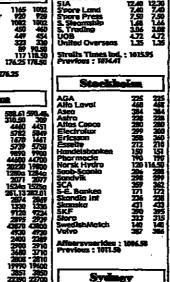

Genéral ladex : 276.25 Previous : 277.35

Banco Cor Bastogi Cipahotei: CIR Cred Itai Eridonio Fiat Generoli

Guinness Gus Hansan Hawker IÇI Joguer Lands Se Legal and Lloyds St Lanthe

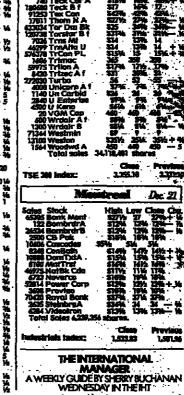

loarse trend ladex : +1,78% revious : +0,19%

Magna A Maign H 2 Maristone Maristone Mark Res

THE RESERVE

EBOARD

NES

Sidnetsu Chem
Suntitione Bonk
Sumilianto Chem
Sumilianto Chem
Sumilianto Chem
Sumilianto Metal
Talsel Corp
Tolssia Marine
Tolsel Corp
Tolssia Marine
Tolsel Corp
Tolssia Marine
Tolsyo Marine
Tolsyo Marine
Tolsyo Blace Pwf
Toppoa Printing

Dec. 22

Dec. 21

High Low 2 P.M. Che.

Teresto

stocks via AP

1421.96

By Alan Truscott

easy for the declarer.

THE diagramed deal from the

1 Conata Invitational, played Nov. 3-6, in Malmo, Sweden, illustrated an important aspect of a well-known argument: What should be the opening lead with three small cards? The most popular choice for American experts nowadays is the low card,

and in this case that would make life

In practice, Magnus Lindkvist led the club six against four hearts. His partner, Bjorn Fallenius, won and continued with two more high clubs, hoping that his partner would score a trump trick. This happened, but not quite in the way he expected.

- ACROSS 1 More's the pity! 5 Praline
- component 10 —— morgana 14 Bombay bigwig 15 Bouquet
- 17 Almost 20 Circle measure 21 Magistrate in 16 Monumental

- ancient Rome 22 Lawyer's thing 23 Laughed like a
- 25 First name of a Wharton man 28 Palette color 29 Hellkites 31 Needlefish
- 32 Bedstaff 36 La's lead-in 37 He arouses a
- woman's fury 40 O'Neill monogram 41 Egyptian king
- 43 Egg: Comb. 44 Ending with лог Of SQU - throat
- 48 Actress Spacek 49 Coal miners Kruger,
- Transvaal leader 53 Zones taking his rest": Wolfe
- 58 How a cookie crumbles, with
- 61 Novel or sermon ending 62 Clean or
- Seton, "My 34 Mellows Theodosia author 64 Woodland
- creature 65 One of the 12 tribes of Israel 66 Grating sound
- DOWN 1 Nickname of a famous Greek
- 2 Catch a carp 3 Oppositionist 4 Resembling part of Africa
- 5 Builfighters 6 Part of Q.E.D. 7 Tackle a
- problem 8 "An -Tragedy"

South ruffed with the heart ten and found to his dismay that West now had to score a trump trick together with the diamond ace for down one.

BRIDGE

This might well have occured if East-West had been using traditional top-of-nothing leads. But the truth was slightly stranger. East-West were using the low lead, but Lindkvist decided to confuse the issue by leading high. He thus confused his partner into a third round, which was the only hope for the defense, and he confused South into making the fatal, but understandable, play of ruffling with the heart ten.

SOUTH ♥AKQ10432 011075 ♣75 East 3 4 Pass

WEATHER

DENNIS THE MENACE

BASSO WEARY RITUAL MASCOT His clothes tell you a lot about this—

BLONDIE

HERE'S THE PE CHRISTMAS PR

BEETLE BAILEY

OVER TWO

BILLION

*s*erved

YOU CAN'T

HAVE SERVED

THAT MANY

PEOPLE

12 Kind of page or role 13 Felt pity for

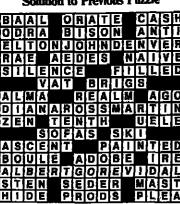

9 Collar

10 Tributaries

11 Hardy's *

- 18 Corrects a text 19 Network in one's body
- (forsook) 25 Newts 26 item kicked by some motorists
- 27 The cops, to hoods 30 Orchestrate a Deal"
- 35 Loyalist of '76 38 Intimidates, In a
- 39 Soak in again 42 "It --- than you think" 45 Resembling 47 Rinehart book
- 49 Aped a crow 50 Take the podium 51 Philippine invasion point:
- 52 Judge's 55 Stud stake 56 O'Neill's daughter
- 57 B.&O., C.&O. elc. queen
- 59 Alfonso XIII's 60 Blockhead

Solution to Previous Puzzle

PEANUTS ANOTHER CHRISTMAS PLAY, AND I HAVE TO BE A SHEEP AGAIN.

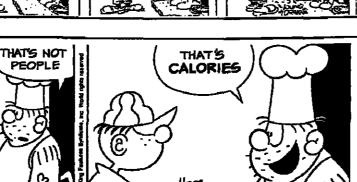

THE GREATEST ONE BOOK I

ONLY SAID HE

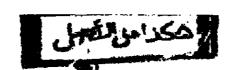

w Policies 4

Thursday to re-electic verdict on political third term after being ation Front, the only 4 per cent backing he ed on the turnout and press as a referendum

d Possible

has indicated that it

id to Nicaragua if the contra rebels, accord-sday that he was told at President Mikhail S.

l arms for the contras

Baker 3d, as saying that new Central American

d walk "hand in hand"

mb Wounds

itically injured when he a West Bank firebomb ilitary spokesman said Palestinians as sporadic rab hospital officials and of Israelis killed in the of the West Bank and died. The soldier, David spital for transplants to ars in India

e launched a nationwide

who disappeared recently

e trying to find him," said Thursday. The police said a first secretary at the t of the mission, saying he scriptions of the man had ns a Soviet bloc nation to 1985, a Russian diplomat

ad flew out of India, later a Soviet scholar bolted a ok refuge at the Australian

e to Collapse

s coalition government was five years of civil war in the l largest coalition partner in hdi, said it was quitting the ed by Mr. Mahdi. The party been fighting governmen

ine and several other natural ople in the south and forced

Pact in China

Li Peng and visiting Prime aviation agreement and two at the two said marked a new air links between Beijing and id technology, and a program

ier over which they clashed in to the visit, the first to Chine

l Travel Curbs restrictions on overseas trans

they actied. Travel had bee rency. The government bega

s current account surplus gre idence which Menerally Fund.

that the look to

Warrish and will die

They are saving they intend it

Service Annual 2008 of that services are an arranged to the services of the se great tribress.

Deput Bore en Marient les tes tests - approve an amount

M. C. Marian States

years early this year.

14 billion

उद्यास्त्रते १७ १०मा ३ *५३५०*०

DATE

ected by the legislature.

TOSS the country.

ity of Jericho.

o the West.

ly damaged from smoke

frve-year term.

SPORTS

Parity Pete's Party-Poopers Have Ruined the Playoffs

WASHINGTON -- Curse you, Parity Pete. Curse you for finally getting your schedule-making henchmen in the National Football League to succeed in arranging the noxious balance you've been striving for: a league overflowing with ordinariness and mediocrity. Guise you for 10 teams with either 10-6 or 9-7 records. (And of the three that finished 12-4, records. (And of the three that finished 12-4, Chicago has six gimme wins each season, playing in that silly, pathetic division, while both Bulfalo and Cincinnati were coughing at the wire.) Curse you for bleeding the good teams. Jy. Who's your most valuable player in this season of the bland leading the bland? Mine is Mile Divis's conditional.

Mike Ditka's cardiologist. So we come to the playoffs without a clear favorite, no strong team to root for or against. This is one of the arguments against parity: It waters down the whole product so far that, after your home team is eliminated, you couldn't care less about what happens.

For decades, baseball's New York Yankees gave millions of fans throughout the American League a team to hate with all their might. Who in his right mind is going to write a musical titled "Damn Seahawks"? Parity scheduling has discombobulated the NFL Nobody knows anymore who's good and who isn't. Heaven knows how much harder it's going to be next season when Oklahoma and Texas A&M officially join the league, but there's no sense worrying about them yet.

So, you handicapping fools, let's do it.
No. 1: Indoor teams cannot win two games in a row outdoors. This is not the National Greenhouse Hydroponics League. Therefore, we can eliminate Minnesota, Seattle and Houston from winning the Super Bowl.

No. 2: True warm weather teams can't win one game outdoors in cold weather. L.A.'s fine, the sun shine's most the time, and the feeling is laid back. Palm trees grow and rents are low, and don't look now but the Rams are on their way back. (They'll lose, I said.)

No. 3: Other than Chuck Noll, no coach whose last name has four letters has ever won the Super Bowl. Hello and goodbye to Buffalo, Philadelphia and Seattle (again). No. 3A: No team VANTAGE POINT/Tony Kornheiser

For decades, baseball's New York Yankees gave millions of fans a team to hate. Who in his right mind is going to write a musical titled "Damn Seahawks"?

Bowl. So long Rams. Bills, Seahawks (yet again). That leaves us with the Final Four: San Francisco and Chicago in the NFC, Cleveland and Cincinnati in the AFC.

(A brief interlude before we go back to the serious business of picking a Super Bowl champion. You may have read that parts of the Super Bowl are going to be broadcast in 3-D. I assume those of you who were foolish enough to allow your mothers to throw in the garbage the red and green glasses that came inside your Superman comics 30 years ago will have to acquire new ones. What I want to know is, if the Bears are in the Super Bowl, what in the name of Orson Welles is "The Fridge" going to look like in 3-D? He already looks like he's in 3-D. With these glasses, he'll weigh 750 pounds. He'll be in 4-D! Let me warn you, if your seat is 5-D. you're going to have to move or "The Fridge" will be in your lap.)

Thank you, now back to the picks. Some of you may want a better reason than the length of Mary Levy's name to eliminate the Bills. Here it is: They have no Mo. They lost three of their last four games, and one of them was to Tampa Bay. This is not the way you want to come into the playoffs, lashed to the hood. The Oilers find themselves in similar posture: They've lost two of their last three games, including last Sun-day's to the Browns in Cleveland. Guess who, and guess where, the Oilers are playing Satur-day? Some team must be worse on the road than the Oilers, but only John Candy and Steve Martin come to mind.

San Francisco lost its final game, too, but some suspect the 49ers did so deliberately: "lay down like dogs" is how Dr. Phil Simms, DVM put it. Chicago approaches the playoffs ginger-ly, losing two of its last three, and beating comatose Detroit by one thin point. Two years in a row the Bears have been booted from the playoffs at home. This time they're without Richard Dent; Jim McMahon, who is convinced the Bears' trainer is a bozo, is on the bench, and Ditka's former footstool, Mike Tomczak, has emerged as Lancelot. Go figure. Minnesota, Cincinnati and Cleveland lost their next-to-last games, hurting their claims to Mo. The Vikings are 5-1 in their last six, but lost outdoors in Green Bay, and somewhere along the way they'll have to play in Chicago or Philadelphia.

Where'd Mo go? The Eagles won six of their

Washlast seven, and should have beaten the Washington Redskins. But Philly has walkabouts not to mention the NFC's worst defense. The Seahawks won their last two, but who cares? They're 12th in the AFC in both offense and defense, making them somewhat of a long shot, like from here to the moon. The Rams won their last three, but lost the previous four. That'll

The Browns can play in the cold and on the road, and they'll have to, since the schedule sends them to Buffalo (8-0 at home) and Cincinnati (8-0, too). But the Browns are the one AFC team with significant playoff experience, and Bernie Kosar and Don Strock need to get and bernie Rosar and Don Strock need to get back to Miami to replenish their tans.

If the Vikings beat the Rams, the NFC gets the game everybody wants to see: Chicago versus Philadelphia. Ryan can ask, "Mike, how's your pacemaker?" and Ditka can say, "Buddy, have another pork chop." That match-up gives the 49ers the opportunity to avenge last year's upset by the Vikings. The 49ers then would have to go by the Vikings. The 49ers then would have to go into cold weather, where they usually fail in the playoffs. But even with Parity Pete and The Party Poopers conspiring to drag them down,

Wilson Is One Angry Viking

'What's Going On Here Stinks'

EDEN PRAIRIE, Minnesota — - Wade Wilson figures that, for Wilson said.

NFC's leading passer into the Pro and threw an interception, al-Bowl even though he started only nine games. His coach, Jerry Burns, says Wilson is his No. 1 quarter-back. Yet Wilson suffered the em-barrassment Monday night of, be-game against the Los Angeles Rams. Burns says Wilson will start. Did Burns think his quarterback's pride might be more important than "changing the rhythm of the passing game" against the Bears?

Metrodome, being yanked out of the touchdown passes, and still led by 21-17 when Wilson was pulled in ence," Burns said. "I'm going to have one of them that's not happy." At this stage of the season, though, Kramer's happiness doesn't figure to be a factor.

healthy and happy.

s another matter. "In my mind, that was a real

Wilson said of his most re- He says he wants to play and he got

Wilson also has been pained by the intensity of the team's offensive coordinator, Bob Schnelker, who spent much of Monday night's game screaming at him. Finally, Wilson just began walking away. Even Burns said he's "concerned

Don Strock, 38, left, discussed the offense with Bernie Kosar at the Browns' practice Wednesday.

"It's a very emotional game," he said. "Schnelker's an emotional guy. Sometimes he's got to be care-ful and curb his emotions so he doesn't affect how people play."

Still, Burns said, Wilson shouldn't be "thin-skinned" because "there's nothing personal involved." Wilson, however, is taking personally.

terbacks, and certainly the lowestpaid Pro Bowl quarterback in years. He had to carry a clipboard when Kramer was a Pro Bowl player and he had to listen to third-stringer Rich Gannon being called the team's quarterback of the future. He game before reclaiming his job when Kramer fizzled. But the benching Monday night bothered Wilson the most.

had to put up with a quarterback controversy throughout this preseason even though he had led the Vikings to a great 1987 season. Then he had to accept a benching after just one regular-season

"They told the whole country

they didn't have confidence in me,

The Browns' Strock: Wildest Wild Card

By Gerald Eskenazi

New York Times Service NEW YORK - Three months ago, Don Strock was a retired athete approaching his 38th birthday, getting a tan, playing golf and gladhanding people at a country club outside of Miami. This week, he was been as far removed from that palmy setting as possible; throwing footballs in Be-rea, Ohio, as the Cleveland Browns prepared to face the Houston Oilers in the American Football Conference wild-card game.

Strock has been playing so well for the Browns under emergency conditions that he may even start Saturday. If he does, he would be the fourth-oldest quarterback ever to start a National Football League playoff game. It would be his first post-season start. But Strock's Cinderella story may not reach its conclusion because of other news out of the Cleveland camp: Bernie Kosar is back in uniform and practicing.

That doesn't mean that Kosar will start. He worked out with the second team Wednesday and a final decision may not be made on who will start until Kosar is examined by team doctors again Friday. Kosar missed Sunday's final reg-ular-season game, against the Oilers, because of a knee sprain.

Strock started and led the Browns to a second-half comeback victory. The Browns' owner, Art Modell, described Strock as "the most unflappable quarterback I've ever seen, and that includes Bernie." Strock's first 15 seasons were spent with the Miami Dolphins, and in all those years he started this season with the Browns after down with injuries. His record has been impressive. He has completed 60.4 percent of his passes for the Browns, thrown for five touchdowns while giving up four interceptions and is averaging better than eight yards a throw. With the Dolphins, he was a 56.4 percent passer with 39 touchdowns and 37 interceptions. In a legendary backup performance, he entered a 1982 playoff game with the Dolphins trailing the another Hall of Fame ca San Diego Chargers by 24-0. He passed for more than 400 yards and team lose by a field goal in overtime.

Orized everything the Browns do.

Hasn't it been difficult to accept the perennial backup role and be the good soldier? 'I played with Bob Griese, who's going to the Hall of Fame, and I played with Dan Marino, who's headed for the Hall of Fame,"

Strock said Wednesday by telephone. That seemingly answered the question. Even when he saw his most sustained action, in the years between Griese and Marino, he was twinned are in the AFC. Of the top 10 passwith David Woodley. They became known as Woodstrock.

Dolphins' contract offer. He rewas a sort of official greeter for the club. and assisted the golf pro.

the Seahawks — all AFC teams.
The AFC's Dolphins led in passclub, and assisted the golf pro.

Strock's holdout followed the ing but the Redskins, the Rams, the Pride, though, led to Strock's ad-amant refusal this year to take the of the NFC were second and third. tired and took the post of sports the Oilers, the Colts, the Steelers, the Bills, the Jets, the Patriots and for the backup role with Strock. But when the Dolphins refused to pay Strock the same salary as Jaworski, Strock simply quit.

Marino was distressed. Strock not only had a hand in Miami's play calling, but was the godfather of Marino's son. There were reports out of the Dolphins that Marino disagreed with the offensive philosophy of David Shula, the assistant coach to his father, Don.

Don Shula, asked this season whether there was friction between Marino and his son, bristled and said he would not respond to what he called "rumors." On the other hand, the Browns needed a quarterback after Kosar and Danielson were hurt.

Kosar injured his elbow in the season opener. In the Browns' second game, the New York Jets knocked Danielson out with a broken ankle. That left the American Conference champions of the previous two seasons with only Mike Pagel as an experienced quarterback.

They went shopping for another, and brought back Strock.
"We had a 'hit' list at every position of who might be available, and he was No. 1 at quarterback," recalled Modell. "But we didn't even know if he were interested."

The Browns tracked him down at 3 o'clock on a Tuesday morning. When they did, Strock told Modell and the Browns' football operations director, Ernie Accorsi, to "talk to my agent." So they got his agent, Jerry Kapstein, on the telephone as part of a conference call.

"By the time we finished introducing ourselves on the conference call," Modell said, "it sounded like only 20 games. He has started twice a board meeting: 'Mr. Accorsi, this this season with the Browns after is Mr. Strock. Mr. Kapstein, this is being picked up after Kosar and his backup, Gary Danielson, went got on the phone and I said to Strock, 'Is that your secretary?' and he said, 'No, my wife.' " It is believed that Strock finally got his $460,000. And when Pagel had a shoulder separated four games later, Strock was the quarterback.

He started his first game in five years, a victory over the Philadelphia Eagles, but then went back to the bench until it was time to re-

Strock now may take over for another Hall of Fame candidate. Briefly, as usual. But this time he will have the plays written on a four touchdowns, only to have his wristband, because he hasn't mem-

Passers, Runners

Washington Post Service WASHINGTON — The most shocking statistical revelation of the season is that the NFC is no longer a predominantly running conference and the AFC is no longer a predominantly passing conference. Of the NFL's top 10 rushing teams, eight ing teams, seven are in the NFC. The Bengals led the league in

But the top 10 was rounded out by

Dolphins' signing of another long-in-the-tooth quarterback, Ron the Cowboys and the 49ers of the

ESCORTS & GUIDES

BEAUTIFUL ITALIAN Connection Landon Escort Service. Telephone: 01-924 3767.

/.

Wade Wilson: Benched again.

Höflehner Wins Cup Downhill Race dropped 969 meters (1,058 yards), Pirmin Zurbriggen of Switzerland was Zurbriggen won the combination competition, the slalom part of which was won Wednesday by specialist Armin Bittner of West Germany.

country," U.S. District Judge James Foreman said in sentencing Lanier, 34, on charges he helped spearhead a drug operation that brought more than 600,000 pounds (272,000 kilograms) of marijuana into the United

Wayne Fontes, the NFL Detroit Lions' interim coach for the final five games of this season, was given a three-year contract Thursday. (AP)

The men's World Cop giant statom canceled Dec. 17 at Kranjska Gora, Yugoslavia, because of a lack of snow will be raced Jan. 10 in Kirchberg.

The Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Boston Celtics, 115-114, m an NBA

West Texas State's basketball program was put on three years proba-

7 Thursday by the NCAA and barred from 1988-89 postseason play for recruiting violations and paying players. (AP)

Arie van Eijden was fired Thursday as director of Ajax Amsterdam as inquiries continued into a tax fraud scandal at the soccer team. (AFP)

■ Boxing announcer Hugh Maley on former heavyweight champion game Wednesday night for their first victory at Boston Garden since Oct.

second in 2:02.04, with Leonhard Stock of Austria third in 2:03.14.

Indy Star Lanier Gets Life Sentence

SIDELINES

States from Colombia.

For the Record

13. 1977 — or 11 seasons and 24 games.

fore a national television audience and in front of a sellout crowd in the

the last two seasons, he has been teased, twisted and "Tommied" by the Minnesota Vikings.

game against the Chicago Bears.

The Vikings led by 21-3 at half-time, with Wilson throwing two What's going on here stinks,"

His quarterbacking skills are refavor of Tommy Kramer, Kramer spected by his peers, who voted the completed just one of seven passes though the Vikings won, 28-27, thanks to the defense. They had clinched a playoff berth before the game and, with the victory, earned home-field advantage in Monday's NFC wild-card

ST. ANTON, Austria (AP) — Helmut Höflehner of Austria, who laced 69th in last season's World Cup standings, conquered a dangerous with whill course Thursday for his second victory this season. He was timed in 2 minutes, 02.03 seconds down the fast course that "That doesn't make any differ-

The Vikings probably wouldn't have made the playoffs without Wilson, whose .615 winning per-centage in the NFL makes Kramer's .481 look positively puny. BENTON, Illinois (AP) — Randy Lanier, the Indianapolis 500 rookie of the year in 1986, was sentenced Wednesday to life in prison without parole for his part in a multimillion-dollar drug smuggling operation.

"You have caused a lot of heartache, and ruined a lot of lives in this They figure to have a shot at making the Super Bowl only if Wilson is

He has his health. His happiness game's not going to be a blowout. Sooner or later, Burnsie's got to let me prove my mettle under fire." Now, he said, "he goes and opens the whole can of worms back up." Burns has suggested that the media and fans have kept the Vikings' about the sideline situation."

quarterback controversy going. But the media didn't pull a winning quarterback out of the game against the Bears, and the fans surely didn't. In fact, when Kramer trotted onto the field with 1:02 left in the third quarter, he was booed.

Did Wilson feel badly about that?
"Hell, no, I didn't feel sorry for him," Wilson said. "He began campaigning for playing time last week.

At about $250,000, he is one of the said. "Sure, I'm upset. Wouldn't the NFL's lowest-paid starting quar-

e 157.7 yards a game with Roge

The worst: Houston at 3-5.

The Oilers do not need to be reminded of how they have played outside Houston this season. They need look no further than last Sunday's loss in Cleveland, where they will meet the Browns on Saturday in a rematch in the American Conference wild-card game. This season.

Houston has lost road games to four playoff teams: Cleveland, Se-ball. The Eagles have plus-18. Only two playoff teams have made more turnovers than they have gained, the Browns and the Buffalo Bills

Place-kicking — Buffalo's Scott Norwood leads the league in points

Some Numbers Count More Than Others in NFL

By Thomas George

New York Times Service NEW YORK - The measuring stick for making the National Football League's playoffs emphasizes two numbers: victories and losses. But for the 10 teams that have qualified, there are other crucial figures. Some have taken the low road, ents into a winning formula en most games are decided. route to Super Bowl XXIII.

give eye-opening clues to the coning. The San Francisco 49ers aver- Francisco and Los Angeles at 6-2. enders chances. Rushing offense - The best: the Cincinnati Bengals, averaging 169.4 yards a game. The worst: the Cleveland Browns at 98.4 yards. A team's ability to run the football affects all elements of a game because, in most cases, it is the relying on bruising running games, safest way to travel and allows a others have taken the high road of team to maintain possession. A big-play passing, and others still strong running game opens nearly have ridden this far on growling all facets of a team's offense. And it defenses and special-team play. means a team is winning the battle But all hope to mesh these ingrediat the line of scrimmage, where The tough running combination

The following numbers are the of James Brooks and Ickey Woods ones coaches scrutinize most, and has kept the Bengals' offense flow-

Turgeon (15); Dehlen (15), Ogradnick (4). Shatson goal: Buffalo (an Yonblesbrouck) 14-8-12—34; New York (an Puppa) 11-10-6—27.

Pinsburgh 2 2 1—6
Toronto 1 0 0—1
Colley (12), Errey 2 (15), Lemieux 3 (36):

Morels (12). Shots on goal: Pittsburgh Ion Wregget) 7-8-6-21; Toronfo (on Pietrangelo)

Craig as workhorse. The Houston Oilers, averaging 140.6 yards, feature another dynamic duo, Mike Rozier and Alonzo Highsmith. Rushing defense - The best: the Chicago Bears, allowing 82.9 yards a game. The worst: the Seattle Seahawks at 142.9 yards a game. The Seahawks are giving up more yards rushing than they are gaining. and that puts more pressure on quarterback Dave Krieg, Coach Chuck Knox knows there is little chance his team can win four consecutive games and claim the Super Bowl title if this trend continues.

> gained 122 yards Monday night. les Rams with 56. The worst: Seat-won the National Conference East to win. The Philadelphia Eagles jas of the Oilers have the longest ranked last leaguewide in total defield goals, each with kicks of 52 fense late in the season, but still yards. Cofer has the most attempts (minus-1).

an extra point in 33 kicks, and is 32 of 37 in field goals attempts. and most misses (27 of 38), and allowing fewer points (3)9) than Kevin Butler of the Bears has the Jaworski, for $460,000. The 37- NFC were in the top 10 along with fewest attempts and fewest misses year-old Jaworski was to compete the Broncos and the Browns.

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED (Continued from Back Page) ESCORTS & GUIDES

ESCORTS & GUIDES ESCORTS & GUIDES GENEVA * MELODIE * ESCORT SERVICE, Tel: 022/461158 AMSTERDAM APOLLO CLUB Escort Service, Tel: (020766176 from prs. 76, Apoliolaan Amsterdam, MAYFAIR CLUB ESCORT SERVICE from 5pm ROTTERDAM (0)10-4254155 SORSTICATS INT. ESCORTS Tet 01 486 6205 ARISTOCATS

London Escart Service 3 Shoutdram Street, London W1 All major Credit Cords Accepted Tel: 01-258 0090 [3 LINES] 12 noon - mdnight PRESTIGE NEW YORK ESCORT SERVICE [212] 688-2512

CHELSEA ESCORT SERVICE.
51 Beouchomp Place, London 5W3.
Tel: 01-584 6513/2749 (4-12pm)  ZURICH **

Tet 01 / 473 51 24.

MILAN EXCLUSIVE

Multimegual Escort Service. Tet (39-2)

8691-479.

 P. I.K. K. J. S. W. E. D. I. S. H. "

HIGH CLASS ESCORT SERVICE.

Telephone... 599 8015 LONDON

 HAMBURG Escort Service FACONOMINATION ESCORT Service. Open seven days a week Multilingual Teldii 723 4666

ZURICH - KIM

(03) 358-7322

""MUNICH + 91 23 14""

ESCORT AND GUIDE AGENCY. The Friendly Service.

Franch VIP Escort Service. Tek London (01) 580 5022 Vienna young escort service 833371 AMSTERDAM JASMIN Exort Service, Tel: 020-333033. The best in town. Credit cords accepted. AMSTERDAM 2000 Exort Service. All credit cords accepted, Telephone: 03.20 - 911030 or 06 - 52130912 LONDON MODEL Escort Service, Tel: 01 286 7303. LONDON MARILYN

Conferental lady escort service. Tel:
01-386 7677. BELLA ESCORTS Central London and Heathrow. Credit cards accepted. Tel: 01 581 5642.

In: 01 391 3942.

""" LONDON " UNIQUE """ and selective VP Excert Service.
Telephone, London 01-235 4238

ZURICH "" ROYAL " ZURICH ""

""" ROYAL " Service ***

""" Par Secort " Service ***

""" AMSTEPDAM RESIDANCE Excert AMSTERDAM BERNADETTE ESCORT Service. Number One. Telephone. (0) 20-327799 or (0) 20-362833.

George Foreman: "Some lighters telegraph their punches. Ol' George has resorted to carrier pigeons." (LAT) avel abroad regardless of an e of 30 years for overseas mins • Coach Pat Riley of the Los Angeles Lakers, on the NBA's three referees; "The new favorite expression around the league is, 'It's not my d will be issued pussports good ne milion South Koreans 22

SCOREBOARD

BASKETBALL countries are also to be related country to recognize Scoul at NBA Standings out should inform authoritis been installed at Singapore EASTERN CONFERENCE make direct dual calls to the make direct directand charge major credit cards and charge . Liberia and Guinea medings Thursday providing for the or begin operations June 1. (47) Central Division
17 5 .773 —
18 6 .790 — 16 9 .440 2½
13 10 .565 4½
5 18 .217 121 Atlanta Chicogo WESTERN CONFERENCE a government there made per ! 15 8 452 15 9 425 15 9 425 14 11 560 7 14 304 1 21 045 the its guerrule or ponents Vir Crocker said he could be. an production as to what the production of the states would recognize the old Martin Boundarin Portland the blocking as membership.

Which Bank and the luming But he said the same may angulari to make years with a street That's another term as Stille World Cup

ARM'S DOWNHILL

(A) 51. Anhan on Ariberts. Austria)

1. Helmul Hoolishner, Austria, 2:02.03

2. Pirmin Zurbriggen, Switzerland, 2:02.

1. Leonhard Stock, Austria, 2:03.14

4. Marc Girardelli, Luxemboura, 2:03.22

5. Alctoel Mair, Italy, 2:03.26

Beter Wirmberger, Austria, 2:03.55 or property for Educations month particular any least to the month of the second and the seco OVERALL STANDINGS

MEN'S DOWNHILL

1. Zurbrissen. 122
2. Girardelli. 92
3. Armin Bitiner, West Germany. 69
4. Hoellehner. 42
5. Alberto Tomba, Ilaly. 52
6. Hubert Strok, Austria, 51
7. Wessmiter. 50 Consider the second of the sec

Received and received the received and received the received and received the received and received the received and received and received the received and received the received and received and received the recei

WEDNESDAY'S RESULTS WEONESDAY'S RESULTS
Milwaukee 28 27 26 JI—112
Charlotte 28 27 26 JI—112
Charlotte 31-21 6-7 32, Sikma 13-18 2-7 25;
Tripucka 10-24 10-11 30, Curry 6-13 1-1 13, Rebounds; Milwaukee 50 (Sikma 1a), Charlotte 48 (Rambis 8), Assists: Milwaukee 31 (Pressey 7), Charlotte 25 (Tripucka 8).
Utah 27 25 21 25—98
Washington 18 27 17 23—62
K Majione 13-25 12 13 24 Ruitee 24 10 1-25 27

7-93-3 18: Long 7-11 9-13 23. Edwards 5-11 5-6 14. Rebounds: Scattle 50 (McDaniel 13), Miarni 37 (Thomoson, Scikaly, Gray 5). Assists: Seattle Socramento 27 23 24 23—167 Son Antonio 23 24 38 21—125 G.Anderson 7-11 3-6 17, W.Anderson 7-12 2-2 16; Pressiev 11-21 4-5 26, K.Smith 7-13 1-2 16, Rebounda; Socramento 37 (Petersen 8), Son Antonio SS (Robertson 9), Assists: Socramen-to 22 (Berry 6), San Antonio 31 (Robertson 8).

Syrocuse 94, W. Michigan 71 Duke 94, Wake Fored 88 Louisville 75, E. Kentucky 40 Peoperdine 85, Marshall 69 Virolala 99, Col-irvine 89, OT Routhon Comer 31 Mistory CT Virginia VI, Col-Polite By, C1 Bowling Green 73, Wright St. 56 Clevetond St. 84, Toledo 77 Marquette 66, Morgan St. 69 Michigan 121, Youngstown St. 72 Minnesota 91, Defroil 69 Missouri 114, Southern U. % Arkonsos 97, Texas Southern 79

Buffale 2 2 1—6 N.Y. Roopers 1 9 1—2 Sheppard (10), Bodger 2 (5), Hartman (4), TRANSITION

MIN ESOTA—Signed Mike Cook, pitcher, to one-year contract. Did not offer contract to John Christensen, auffleider.

QAKLAND—Signed Rick Honeyout, pitcher, to one-year contract. Did not after contracts to Sieve Onliveres and Matt Yours, pitchers, SEATTLE—Did not offer contract to Reg Scurry, pitcher. TEXAS—Agreed to terms with Ed Vonde

Berg, plicher, on one-year contract.
National League
HOUSTON—Agreed to terms with Bob Forsch, plicher, and Alex Trevina, catcher, on one-year contracts. Did not offer contract to Buddy Bell, third boseman. LOS ANGELES—Did not eiter contract to Donny Heep, first baseman, $T. LOUIS-Agreed to terms with Frank DiPing, elicher, an one-year contract; did not giter contracts to Bob Horner, first boseman,

National Football League
CINCINNATI—Signed Jim Rourke, affenive lineman, Put Scott Fulhage, punier, on niured reserve. NEW ENGLAND—Sold it will not renew HOCKEY

COLLEGE assistant basketball coach. CINCINNATI—Named Charles F. Yaylor

INTERNATIONAL ESCORT SERVICE

Portman Escort Agency

attle, Cincinnati and Philadelphia. The Bears and Bengals are at home throughout the playoffs. The Rams likely won't be intimidated in Minnesota in their NFC wildcard game Monday; they have beaten the 49ers, the New York

The Minnesota Vikings, allow-Giants and the New Orleans Saints ing 100.1 yards a game, had not in road games. allowed an opponent to rush for Take-aways, giveaways — The 100 yards in 32 consecutive games best: Minnesota at plus-23. The before Neal Anderson of the Bears worst: Cleveland at minus-2. The Vikings' defense has swiped Sacks — The best: the Los Ange-23 more turnovers than the offense has made, and that is winning foot-

As important as sacks are quarterback "hurries." which often result in turnovers. A tenacious pass rush is a terrific boost. Only the Seahawks, the Vikings and the Browns have fewer than 38 sacks.

Points allowed — The best: Chi-scored, with 129; he has not missed cago, with 215. The worst: Houston, which has allowed 365. It figures that the fewer points a team allows the better its chances Cofer of the 49ers and Tony Zende-

Road record - The best: San (15 of 19).

ESCORTS & GUIDES

Head office in New York 330 W 56 St NYC 10019 212-765-7896 212-765-7754 MAJOR CREDIT CARDS AND CHECKS ACCEPTED

67 Chiltern Street London Wi Tek 486 3724 ox 486 1158 All major credit cords accepted LONDON

LONDON

KENSINGTON ESCORT SERVICE 10A Kersington Church St, W8 TBL: 937 9136 or 937 9133

MERCEDES VIJP ESCORT AGENCY 4 PM TILL MIDNIGHT - 7 DAYS MAJOR CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED TELLOMPOON (01) 235 0069

REGENCY WORDCLASS ESCORT SERVICE LONDON & NEW YORK Tel 212-838-8027 USA

LONDON BELGRAVIA

ZURICH SUSAN ESCORT SERVICE, TEL: 01/44 24 73

ord gade service. Tel-Geneva:

(22/ 35 68 73.

KITTI  LONDON* ESCORT

* LONDON* ESCORT

* Afternoon until 9 evening, ****

* Escort

* London* Escort

* London* Escort

* London* London* London* London* London London Londo

· ·---

WORLD CUP QUALIFYING
European Group 6
Spain del. Northern Ireland. 40
INTERNATIONAL FRIE
110iv def. Scotland. 20 Tennessee 77, Son Diego St. 75 Rebal Roundup Nev.-Las Vegas BE, Rhade (sland i Texas A&M 73. Cent. Michigan 57

Dollos 22 27 31 27 12—129
New Jersey 24 24 33 27 14—122
Hinson 11-1a 2-3 24, B.Williams 10-21 4-5 24,
Morris 6-11 5-6 18; Aguirre 11-23-2-3 26, Harner
10-15 3-5 23, Blackman 9-27 5-6 27 Toroley 6-14 7-9 22, Rebounds; Dollos 53 (Tarpley 14), New Jersey 50 (B.Williams 11), Assists: Dollos 21 (Harner 10), New Jersey 26 (Conner 9).
Southle 25 24 25 32—189
Miami 22 13 19 36—101
McDonlet 10-21 3-4 23, Elfis 6-14-22 18, Throoft McDoniel 10-21 3-4 23, Ellis 8-14 2-2 18. Threatt

Selected College Scores

Arkonsos 97, Texas Southern 79
Kansos Bi, Texas Tech 80
Texas-El Paso 69, Miss. Valley St. 56
Bolse St. 65, Akron 62
Brisham Young 74, Utah St. 72
Idaha 99, E. Oregan 53
UCLA 76, California 59
TOURNAMENTS
Mailday Road Cossic

Holidzy Bowl Classic

HOCKEY NHL Standings

WEDNESDAY'S RESULTS

2 2 6-4
2 9 1-3 Boston 2 2 2 4-4
Hartford 2 9 1-3
Carler 2 (2), Neely (10), Burridge (10):
Francis (12), Ferrare (15), Martin (e), Shots on soal: Baston (on Sidarklewicz) 9-12-4-25:
Hartford (on Maog) 6-7-9-22.

BASEBALL

Mentreal
Couringil (7), McPhee (12), Nosium (15).
Shrudland 2 (5), C.Lemleux (18): Goulet (13).
Sakic (17), Poddubry 2 (22). Shots on goal:
Quebec (on Hoyward) 14-3-13-30: Montreal
(on Moson. Gosselin) 12-14-6-32.
New Jersey
1 2 2 9-5
Winnipes
2 6 3 0-3
Elynuik (12), HawerChuk (14). Steen 2 (6).
Gillien (4): MacLean 2 (25), Johnson (9).
Sundstrom (15), Korn (7). Sbots on goal: New Jersey (on Reddick) 11-10-51-27; Winnipes (on Burko) 16-6-17-0-41.
Washington
0 3 1-4 Christian (15), Ridley (21), Hatcher (8),

Christian (15), Ridler (21), Marcher (8), Miller (8): Murroy (8), Soverd (14), Larmet (17). Shets on soci: Washinston (an Belfour) 6:12-9-29; Chicago (an Peelers) 5:10-9-24. Vancouver 9: 1:0-1 Edmenton 9: 1:0-1 Sutter (7), Sondiak (8): McCletiand (3). Shots on soci: Vancouver (an Fuhr) 5-6:10-23; Edmanton (an Gambia) 10-13-5-28. Mannesoto Gretzky (26), Nicholis (37), Ret Grezzy (28), Nicrolis (27), Neuman (27), Taylor (15), Tonelli 2 (16), DeGroy (6), Cross-mon (7), Hebscheld 2 (8), Bellows (13), Ciccor-elli 2 (16), Gener (18), Shats on qual; Minneso-te (on Healy, Fitzpatrick) 13-6-17—36; Los Angeles (on Cosey, Myllys) 7-10-10—77.

FOOTBALL
Concollen Football League
CALGARY—Signed Butter Costen, running sack; Gabriel Johnson and Craig Richardson, receivers, and Ian James, linebacker.

Mational Hackey League
DETROIT—Recalled Som SI, Laurent, BROCKPORT STATE-Named Bill Bowe

OBSERVER

The Christian Tradition

By Russell Baker

N EW YORK — As an heir to the Christian tradition, I am naturally surprised to find that Jews are now arguing passionately about who is a Jew and who isn't. I always thought this kind of dispute was peculiarly and distinctly a Christian exercise. One of the many burdens of the person professing Christianity has always been the odium likely to be heaped upon him by fellow Christians quick to smell out, denounce and punish fraud, hypocrisy and general unworthiness among those who assert the faith.

In ruder days, disputes about what constituted a fully qualified Christian often led to sordid quarrels in which the disputants tortured, burned and hanged each other in the conviction that torture, burning and hanging were Christian things to do and to suffer.

By contrast, the Israeli political dispute about who is a Jew seems like tame stuff. Israel's Orthodox rabbis who want a government that will read a lot of people out of the faith would be dismissed as lightweights in the zeal division by oldtime Christians.

They propose no auto-da-fe, nor even a few turns on the bastinado for those who don't conform to the Orthodox view of the faith. They are content to confine themselves to the blackball, as it were.

As an heir to the Christian tradition. I find little in this that is startling, except that Jews should want to do it. It is such a Christian thing to do. Not that I have ever done it, of course. Not out loud. To be sure, I have often said to myself that soand-so "is no Christian," and admitted, but only to myself, that I despised him for going to church and pretending to listen attentively to the preacher's sermon when anyone with half a brain could see there wasn't an ounce of Christian love in the scoundrel's icy heart.

Yes, when thinking such thoughts, I am always aware that I am lapsing momentarily from Christian duty to love a neighbor. П

Yet, I wonder, is mine truly a serious lapse? After all, I don't want to see the wretched hypocrite burned at the stake, as my Christian forebears might have.

As an heir to the Christian tradition, I was for a long time prepared would read another Christian out of the faith because of a disagreement about transubstantiation. This created a profound crisis when my own dear mother left the church where she had worshiped for years because she was outraged by a new minister's theories about Communion.

At that time I considered myself just about the most Christian person I had ever known, and I thought that whatever was supposed to be happening during Communion was a thing of such artistic beauty that it was un-Christian to mar it by quarreling about what it meant.

But could I quietly, silently, pri-vately, in the solitude of my own mind, say, "My mother, like most of the rest of the people I have encountered in this world, is not truly a Christian"? Could I use the blackball and read her out of the faith? In the end I forgave her.

A typical Christian situation occurred recently when allegations of sexual misconduct against certain evangelistic preachers raised the question: Should a Christian forgive his preacher as readily as he forgives his mother?

One of the sadder aspects of the so-called Christian nature is its tendency to be borrified by the discovery that clergymen are troubled by the same unseemly passions that torment all other me

Every generation, since eternity probably, rediscovers that priest-hood bestows no remission of hist, yet people who profess to Christianity never fail to be as shocked and astounded as though hearing the news for the first time. In the recent scandals, some of the harshest, most un-Christian criticism of the embarrassed parsons has come from their fellows of the cloth.

The true Christian, loath to read others out of the faith, would forgive the fallen evangelists, I concluded, and did so.

After all, if a true Christian could forgive his mother for fussing about transubstantiation, he could certainly forgive a few preachers for suc-cumbing to a little lust. What true Christian hasn't succumbed to a little lust now and then?

Do Jews really want to ask themselves such questions?

New York Times Service

Steel Clouds Over L.A. — Or Something

By Jay Mathews

Washington Post Service
T OS ANGELES — In the first blush of inspiration, it was conceived as a simple yet unfor-gettable tribute to Los Angeles as the new gateway to America something to rival, perhaps even exceed, the grace and grandeur of the Statue of Liberty.

Then the ambitious idea fell into the hands of a governmentappointed committee and a group of young architects drawn toward the avant-garde, with results that must be seen to be believed.

Nikolas Patsaouras, the Greek immigrant electrical engineer who has led the gateway effort, said the blue ribbon panel appointed by Mayor Tom Bradley quickly decided it did not want "a static edifice, a monument in the conventional sense, that would fit in cities like Rome, Paris or Athens.

And so, with the help of a panel of judges that included several architects and George Takei, the "Star Trek" actor, the committee searched for the unconventional among 150 designs submitted for the project, which is expected to cost $40 million.

A four-block-long dollar bill and multistory baseball glove were quickly discarded. A large, transparent bird dropping an egg on Los Angeles Street received a longer look. But what finally caught the judges' fancy, in an announcement this month that inspired cheers and chuckles throughout Southern California, was a colossal jumble of girders, movie screens, museums and walkways, a low-shing erector-set fantasy arching over a four-block section of the Hollywood Freeway, connecting the city's birthplace on Olvera Street with the Civic Center and Little Tokyo.

Its young creators, Egyptian-born Hani Rashid, 30, and Canadian-born Lise Anne Couture, 29, call it "Steel Clouds." Their literature struggles to put its meaning into words:

To CONSTRUCT clouds, to construct the heavens -- that is the task at hand. The steel clouds will occupy the invisible space above the FREEway. The cacophonic world of the automobile RECONCILED with the symphonic raptures of culture. Theaters and libraries are the god houses. People of all origins will occupy these rooms, these people are the MONUMENT, not symbols nor illusionary technol-

A model of "Steel Clouds," a proposed monument to be erected over a freeway in Los Angeles.

A City Council member. Gloria Molina, had a more succinct initial impression: "It looks like a freeway that just blew up." There have been other, equally unkind characterizations; after the Big One," "The Insect That Ate Hollywood." All of these Patsaouras shrugs off with the good humor and single-minded optimism of a man who managed to raise $2.5 million for Governor Michael Dukakis's presidential campaign.

"The Eiffel Tower was not initially accepted," he said. "The pyramid tower in San Francisco - the reaction was really bad at the outset, but now it defines the San Francisco skyline." From the beginning, nearly all parties involved thought a monu-way would provide the perfect West Coast counterpoint to the famous lady standing in Upper New York Bay. The largest group of American immigrants now comes into Los

EMPLOYMENT

EXECUTIVE POSITIONS AVAILABLE

NEEDED IMMEDIATELY

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE

INTERNATIONAL

required by 4 stor De Luce Hotel os guest licen officer & receptionist. No procedured experience required but the variety graduation would be at activating. Please reply to Mr. Peter N. Procuring, The Berkster Hotel, London. Tel (1-629-7474.

EMPLOYMENT

GENERAL POSITIONS

JOURNALISTS FREELANCE, Field, high society, VIP's, personness in business

SECRETARIAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

millionaines, capital, leavey are and trovel, the rich and form ment in the airspace above a free-

Angeles rather than New York, and they are most often in trucks, cars and buses, not ships.

But there have been initial difficulties in adjusting to the Los Angeles scene. The West Coast Gateway's first handouts described the stretch of U.S. Route 101 to be surmounted by the monument as the Santa Ana Freeway, when according to the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) and most Angelenos it is actually a piece of the Hollywood Freeway. Some natives quarreled with a bald statement in an initial prospectus that "public parking the surrounding area is adequate." The Caltrans spokesman Thomas Knox said the department has yet to decide whether the gateway might prove an unsafe distraction for the 200,000 automobiles that plow through that section of central Los Angeles each day.

The architects could not be blamed for designing a structure that fails to match the soaring qualities of the Washington Monument or the Gateway Arch in St.

of Peace and Unity" and a pair of aquariums with sea life from the

AUTOS TAX FREE

TRASCO GERMANY. Murcedas Burz ermorad cors & stratched limposines from stock. Stendosson 38, D-2820 Bressen, The 246624, Foxe 421630205. Tel: [0] 421 633044.

AUTO SERVICES

Pacific and the Atlantic, respec-The mayor's committee insisted on so many museums, galler-Bradley has promised no public ies, theaters and other accountefunds will be used in its construcments that anything that artists from Spain, Norway, Finland, France, Britain and Greece

as well as the United States.

praised the "Steel Clouds" because it "not only relates well to the movement of cars in the freeway but also produces forms that qualities of movement, energy and innovation for which Los Angeles is uniquely celebrated."

encapsulate and give form to the

The design includes a number of stopping places for visitors touring the monument — for instance, an air-conditioned "Museum of Time" honoring U.S. history, a computerized genealogy

two or three restaurants, a "Park archive, an immigration museum

CLASSIFIED

AUTO SHIPPING

BOATS/YACHTS

CHARTER A YACHT IN GREECE din

from largest fleet owners. Volet Yorks, fir Bood, Ambler, PA 19022 USA. Tel. (279 641-0423, Fore 275) 641-1746. In Gruece: 22. A. Then-istoldenus, Firosess. Tel. 45:29:571, Fore 41.37:805

HOTELS

FRANCE

PARIS HOTELS

CENTRE VILLE MATIGNON ***
(Rd Point Chox Bysnes - Av Matigon)

CENTRE VILLE ETOILE ***

Tel (1) 42.25.73.01 or 43.80.56.18 Fran (1) 47.54.93.43. Teles 208968F.

ISRAEL

IN THE CITY OF KINGS
One King is the forcette.
The 4-for choice of guests seeks service. A velocating paradeant stoff, All craemines, including conference recens, Just of leve many stroll from the Cell City.
Molin us your bose in Jerusoleen

GREAT BRITAIN

£56 PER NIGHT/SUITE

Komington, sylves sleeping up to 4. Privacy 6. comfort, doily maid service, private tel., litthmente. 1et 07 244 8409. Fax 07 323 6455. Th: 25541. 5,5mperors Gote, London SW7 4841

PHILIPPINES

ADMURAL HOTEL, Roses Shel, Mentio. Tel. 5210711 Th: 74240488 ADHOTEL PM. Offex 5222018. First class 110 rooms facing Mentic Bay.

TTALY

ROME, HOTEL VICTORIA ***

tion, and not a dime has been attempted to rise more than two raised so far, but "Steel Clouds" or three stories would have coladmirers argue that its multicul-tural charms will eventually win lansed of its own weight, spoiling the mood and somewhat aggramany converts. vating the aiready perpetual Route 101 traffic jam. "The sheer boldness of this project is sustained under close The 13-member jury, which in-cluded architects, designers and inspection not only by the integri> also through the poetic force of the images, metaphors and sensu-al experiences that it offers to the visitor," the jury said. Some critics see the winning entry as one more sign of the current passion for an architectural movement called "deconty of its strategic decisions but structivism," which, to a degree, celebrates chaos. Patsaomas said he and the architects reject that label, preferring to view the "Steel Clouds" as merely "contemporary," with an eve to the next century. "Any time one tries to tell the future, the first reaction is often animosity and dislike." Patsaouras said. "It takes time for all of us to understand."

PEOPLE

Australian Alan Bond Was Buyer of 'Irises'

The Australian multi-millionaire Alsn Bond revealed on Thursday that he was the purchaser of Vincent van Gogh's "Irises" for $53.9 million last year. The 50-year-old magnate acquired the work at a Sotheby's New York auction but waited until his penthouse office in Perth was completed before reveal-Perth was completed ing it. The van Gogh takes pride of place in the 51st floor office, which has panoramic views over the city from which Bond has built a world wide natural-resources, brewing media and real-estate empire.

The Orchestre de Paris will hold a concert on Friday at the Salle Pleyel in Paris for the benefit of the forming will be the orchestra's missical director. Dondal Banachas sical director. Daniel Barenhoize, as well as Charles Aznavour, Teresa Berganza, Patrice Chereau, Brighte Engerer, Siegfried Jerusalem Jean-Piere Rampal, Isaac Stern and Yuri Bashmet, who is coming specially from Moscow.

The Swiss author Friedrich Diarenanatt, 67, will bequeath his entire literary estate to Switzerland. Swiss government spokesman said that the estate will include all his manuscripts, as well as many of his paintings. The manuscripts are to be kept in a future "Anchive of Swiss Literature" that would also include parts of the estates of winers Hermann Hesse and Rainer Maria Rifke.

Prince Charles will return to a sin slope in Switzerland where he cacaned death last March in an avalanche that killed a close friend, according to Buckingham Palace The British royal heir's wife, Disna, will not accompany him because she has engagements in England a palace spokeswoman said. The prince's visit to Klosters in late -February and March will follow a trip to the United States.

A French court on Thursday gave the singer Sacha Distel 2 onemonth suspended iail sentence and banned him from driving for six months for his role in a car accident in 1985 in which actress Chamba Nobel was seriously injured. Distel was also fined 3,000 French france (about $500) after he was found guilty of dangerous driving and causing injury.

177

TODAY'S INTERNATIONAL REAL ESTATE MARKETPLACE

Appears on page 6

PERSONAL MESSAGES THANK YOU ST. JUDE, P.K. ANNOUNCEMENTS TO OUR READERS VISITING FROM THE U.S.A. THE HT IS NOW AVAILABLE IN MANY U.S. CITIES ON DATE

OF ISSUE

in the U.S.A., call TOUL FREE 1-800-882-2884 in New York , call (212) 752-3890 or write ternational Herald Tribune 830 Third Avenue New York, N.Y. 10022 Teless 427 175 Fox: [212] 735-8785

STOP SMCKENG, STOP DESKRING, lose weight. Regenerate & rejuvenche of a very exclusive private useful chris: in West Germany, 45 std., from Zurich airport. Fluctus wires or phones. Christiano Cleis, Mersenchwardeski.
32, D-7822 St. Biosen. 107/672/48010. 32 D-7822 Sr. Interests pays of Improve your French in a Dordogne cholesus. 7-day intensive residential courses with French perfections. Some places all markets. Tel. CLEL in French MOVING MARTINI TECHNOTRANS - NICE / CANNES, Tak 93.39.43.44. Oversecs Moving - Storage - Packing - Air/Sea Shipping, Car/Baggage, Clearance.

DIAMONDS

DIAMONDS

LONDON TRIP? Best seats. Phonton, Les Mis, Cais, Starlight ell isdest available Bost - 10pm on 01 328 1594 ALL BEST SEATS Phontom, Les Mis, cil sport, pop and theatre Tell UK (1) 493 0407 or Fax (1) 629 0417.

ANNOUNCEMENTS THE LONDON CONNECTION - La Mis, Phonton, all theatre - tickets for all events. Call UK 01 439 1763.

GENERAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

EMPLOYMENT

MOVING

1992 - NOW !

interdean

INTERNATIONAL MOVERS FOR A PREE ESTIMATE CALL

PARIS (1) 39569000

GLOBAL INTERNATIONAL

International Business Message Center

BUSINESS SERVICES

Your office in Geneva

Fine diamonds in any price range of lawest wholesale prices direct from Antwerp center of the diamond world. Full gascardes, For free list write MOACHEM GOLDHENTERN DIAMAMTER/DISK BYRA Established 1978 Pelicontratod 62, B-2018 Antwerp Belgium - Tel. (22 3 234 07 51 The 71779 of b. Telefrox 32.3/231.38.87 A7 fine Diamond Club Heart of Antwerp Diamond Industry

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

"Cercle Magique" clip 34.000 FF. - (25.500 FF. export price) bague 21.100 FF. (15.825 FF. export price)

FINANCIAL SERVICES

BODYGUARDS h zervice ex guitan tocas quiumte podygodici e us icurity service ex British forces perso I. Close Protection Specialists Ltd. Te UK 0836 528060 TLX 35363 CPS G LONDON ADDRESS BOND STRE Mail, Phone, Fax, Telex, Confere room, Call 01-499-9192, Tx 262690, QUALITY CAR AND DRIVER For hire business or lebure in London, Phone 0836-247275.

ADDRESS near Champs Bysees Isince 1957), 5 rue d'Artois, 8 Paris, Moil, phone, offices, Tel-4704. Th: 6/2504. Fox 4256 2835

MINERVE SEBS for AMERICAN FIRMS in PARIS.
English, Belgion, Dutch or Germon se-returies, knowledge of French re-quired, English shorthand, Bilinguol televisis. Write or phone: 138 Avenue Victor Hugo, 75116 Paris, France. Tel. (1) 47 27 61 69.

OFFICE SERVICES

*CALYWOOD: DREET Participation in 2 feature films, Academy and Europ Award winning staff, Investment 100% seared (U.S.AAA Bond) for detail call Mr. Douglas, 818 789-4131 107 PCT. Fase 818-789-7118 principals only

SWISS FUTURE PRODUCTION STUDIO Additional capital guaranteed investment available in the amount of 2500 units at a cost of 110,000 Swiss Francs per unit. If interested, the decoding is 25 March 1999.

Carlett MEDIACAST S.A.

CH-1887 CHATEAUX D'ORX Switzerland Tel. [41] 29 45 696

Face [41] 29 46 176

DOMESTIC POSITIONS WANTED NGUSH NANNES & mothers' helps Nash Agency, 53 Cherch Rd, Hove Susses UK. Lumnoed for 29 years. Tel: [403] 711462 AUTOS TAX FREE TRANSCO ropean and lopanese males compet wy prized. Pro RHD or US Speci. Ask for our multi-color military.

LOW COST FLIGHTS P1000 F1000 F1500 F1500 F1575 F1795 F1450 F1450 F1550 F3295 F3295 F3295 F3295 F3290 F3390 F1450 EDUCATIONAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE JAPANESE TEACHING PERSONNEL lapanese boording school with boys and girls from age 10-18 situated in the United Kingdom urgarity seek teaching personnel. Essential requirements include mather tangue Japanese and Japanese teaching qualifications. Please reply to Box 3066, LH.T., 63 Long Acre, London, W.C2E 93H

ond more destinations — Discount on 1st 8 business closs Rates subject to modifications Restrictions may apply Tel: (1) 40, 13, 92, 92, 8, 42, 91, 46, 9 6 rus Pierre Lescot, 75001 Paris Metro — REZ Charlete Las Halles (Lic. 1,75,111)_and also

ACCESS IN LONDON Aldreych Hosse, 71-91 Aldreych, London WCZ. Tek (1) 404 44 66 ik now by phone with credit o

WCRIDWIDE FLIGHTI USA coysime, $160, west coost; $269. APP, 103 rue La Boesie, Paris 8th (a few yords from Ch. Bysses), Tel. (1) #2.89.10.81. HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL DRESCOLL HOUSE HOTEL 200 and rooms, $100 per week, portfol board Apply 172 New Kent Rood, London SEI 4YT. Tel. 01 703 4175.

HOTELS

FRANCE NICE, HOTEL LA MALMAISON,  NN Best Western, 48 Bid Victor Hogo, 06000 Nice. Tel. 93 87 42 56. Teles: 470410F. 46 rooms, ell conferts. Color TV by scaleline (USA, UK, W. Germany, Hoty), noor fin soo. 1st class restourers, conference rooms.

moderate rotes, restources, central apposite Villa Borghese park, garage 16t 6-473931, 1x 10212, Fax 6799319 ROME - SOLE AL PANTHEON * Charming, historical building. Tel: 6-678041. Index 65402. HOTEL D'INGHEITERRA. Vio Bocco d' Leone 14, Romo, Tel: 67-21.61 - Teleo. 614552 - Fran 67-21.61. Reaching More Than a Third of a Million Readersin 164 Countries Around the World

LEGAL SERVICES J.S. LAWYER - EXECUTIVI IMMIGRATION, Fronk T.Holland, 292

Brior Pork, Saite 810; Houstot, 77042, Tel. (713) 789-0904, Cer Son not implied. FRIENDSHIP EIROPEAN/USA introductions. nice people. Continental Club. 251111, San Francisco, CA 94728.

Page 17 FOR MORE CLASSIFIEDS THE DIPLOMAT HOTE 2 CHESHAM STREET BEIGRAVIA, LONDON SWIX 8DT. TBL: 01-225 1544 TBLEX 926679 DIPLNIT G FAX: 01-235 1544

In Exclusive Belgravia, within walking distance of Harrods. Provides unsurpossed poportunity for super accommodation and full English breakfast at exceptional value. Single: £49.95 + VAT Double/Twin: £64.95 + VAT

Extra Single: £19.95 + VAT

£11 + VAT

Charles

-05 K

· un ·

2 _ ; . .

A. S d Diezel

den lac The Digited in

Thent case

TOO IT ISSUED Page

10 mm mm

The Day to

Page 2

Page 2

Sech Case

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL

AVIATION

LEGAL SERVICES

HOTELS Live the life of a lord at Ireland's two legendary

(092) 46003 (061) 71144 THE BLANDFORD HOTEL 80 CHILTERN STREET BAKER STREET

TEL: 01-486 3103 TLX: 262594 Blands FAX: 014872786 Fully refurbished, ideally located comfortable London Hotel. Full English breakfast, TV, coffee/tea mak-ers, hairdryers, direct dial phones complimentary newspapers. Single Room £39.95 + VAT Twin Room £49.95 + VAT One minute Baker Street, Madam Tussauds

LONDON W1

FOUR SEASONS HOTEL 173 Gloucester Place London NW1 6DX Tel.: 01-723 9471 Telex: 263849 SEASON G A seasonal break in Landon's West End at any time of year. Small, comfortable bad & breakfast hatel with private facilities. from £36 + VAT from £46 + VAT

Extra Person

FLIGHTS AIR ENGIADINA Ti pity: New from Geneva St-Moritz every Monday, Wasineeday, Si Sunday from 17.12.86 28.3 Dep. 14 h 55 - Asr. 15.18

WORLD STOCKS IN REVIEW

IN THE IHT EVERY MONDAY A CONCISE OVERVIEW OF TRADING ON MAJOR WORLD STOCK MARKETS DURING THE PREVIOUS WEEK AND A LOOK AT LIKELY DEVELOPMENTS AHEAD. ESSENTIAL READING FOR INVESTORS AND PROFESSIONALS WORLDWIDE

Van Cleef & Arpels. PARIS 22, Place Vendôme, Tel: 42 61 58 58 - GENEVE 31, Rue du Rhône, Tel: 28 81 66 "la boutique" Imprime par Offprint, 73 rue de l'Evangile, 75018 Paris.

"It is the signature that counts.